LINES DRAWN FOR EPOCHAL BATTLE OVER DARWINISM

Judge Orders Trial in July After Grand Jury Votes Indictment Under New Tennessee Law

BY PHILIP KINSLEY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DAYTON (Tenn.) May 25.—In this green theater of the Cumberland Ridge, where once a mighty battle was fought over the principle of human slavery, new lines were drawn today for a historic struggle this summer between the old-time religion of the hills and the new scientific liberalism of the colleges.

Most solemnly, earnestly and formally, thirteen of Tennessee's pure and undefiled Anglo-Saxon citizenry, in grand jury assembled, voted unanimously and promptly this morning to present a true bill against young John Thomas Scopes, Dayton High School teacher, who dared to implant in the minds of his pupils the theory of evolution.

It is to be a battle among the clouds that obscure the origin and destiny of the human race.

The thunder of the new law is coming from the neighborhood of Lookout Mountain instead of Sinai.

The presentment of the grand jury, made up chiefly of grim and aged farmers, is as follows:

"That John Thomas Scopes, heretofore on the twenty-fourth day of April, 1925, did unlawfully and willfully teach in the public schools of Rhea county, Tennessee, which said public schools are supported in part and wholly by the public school fund of the State, a certain theory and theories that deny the story of the divine creation as taught in the Bible and did teach instead thereof, that man has descended from a lower order of animal, he, the said John Thomas Scopes being at the time and prior thereto a teacher in the public schools of Rhea county, Tennessee, aforesaid, against the peace and dignity of the State."

This was signed by A. T. Stuart, Attorney-General, who presented the evidence to the grand jury and was returned in the court of Judge John T. Raulston, who congratulated them upon their action.

TRIAL IN JULY

A special term of court was then set for the trial, which is to begin July 10 in Dayton.

Scopes, a modest, sensitive young man, passionately sincere in his conviction that the antievolution law is a form of mental slavery, was not in court, but was found later under the maples of the town square where the farmers' mules were hitched, center of an admiring throng. He was nervous but undaunted.

"I am ready to go through with it," he said, and started to explain his theory that Darwinian evolution is not incompatible with the idea of an ever-present, loving father of the universe.

But his counsel, John Randolph Neal of Knoxville, who was dismissed from the University of Ten-

JAPAN FEELS NEW SHOCK

Terror Reigns in Stricken Area

Heavy After-Quake Throws Populace Into Panic; No Damage Reported

Dead in Saturday's Disaster Now Estimated at 500; No Outside Aid Asked

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, May 26.—A heavy after-quake is reported to have occurred at 1:21 this morning at Osaka, Kyoto, Fukuchiyama and Kinosaki, the region so severely shaken Saturday morning. The clocks in Osaka and Kyoto were stopped and the populace badly frightened. Apparently there was no casualties and no damage was done.

The Emperor and Empress have personally contributed $7,500 yen toward the relief of the sufferers and many other contributions are coming in.

Reconstruction is reported already under way, while relief work is continuing satisfactorily. The government is expected to revoke the taxes due from the sufferers.

The Foreign Office has received many messages of condolence from abroad. The American Embassy has received numerous cables from the United States offering contributions, if necessary.

RED CROSS REPORTS DEATH TOTAL IS 500

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—D. H. Blake, chairman of the Tokio chapter of the Red Cross, has advised the Washington headquarters of the organization that latest reports from the earthquake zone place the dead at about 500 and the injured at approximately 1000. Mr. Blake stated that no outside assistance was needed.

ACCOUNTING OF FATALITIES IMPOSSIBLE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TOKIO, May 25.—There is no accurate accounting as yet of the fatalities of the earthquake and incidental fires which wrought death and havoc in Hyogo Province. Estimates of the dead run from 250 to 500 and of the injured from 1000 to 2000. From 10,000 to 15,000 are homeless.

Villages on the beautiful Japanese coast within a twenty-mile area of Kinosaki are mostly in ruins. Few buildings remain undamaged; these are being used as hospitals and morgues. Many people are missing, which accounts for the widely varying reports of the number of dead. It is believed that a number of the missing will return.

Many families hitherto prosperous are now completely ruined. The total of the losses is difficult to estimate, but probably 100,000,000 yen—less than $50,000,000—will cover it. The insurance companies are protected by an earthquake clause as they were in 1923.

Near-by cities are sending relief. The Emperor and Prince Regent have given out orders for relief. Communications are partially restored.

Kinosaki is a famous hot springs resort. It was filled with guests on vacation over the week-end, of whom a large number were enjoying the baths at the moment of the earthquake. It is now discovered that the hot spring has completely stopped.

CABLE REPORTS QUAKE TOLL AS 800

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—A cablegram received today by the Japanese Consul-General states that the probable number of dead and wounded from the earthquake in Japan is 800. Toyo-Oka, with 2000 families; Kinosaki, with 700, and Kumihama, with 500, are the principal towns that suffered, the message says. Toyo-Oka and Kinosaki were said to have been destroyed mainly by fire.

No further anxiety for the stricken region is felt, according to the cablegram. Railway communications were established the day after the quake, it says and relief work is proceeding satisfactorily.

JULY 4 TO BE DEFENSE DAY

War Department Yields to President's Wishes as to Time for National Muster

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The second national defense test will be conducted July 4. President Coolidge today rejected the War Department proposal that they must be held on Armistice Day, November 11, suggesting Independence Day "as being a more appropriate day."

Preparations were begun to comply with the President's preference despite the shortness of time remaining in which to arrange the demonstration.

Acceptance of the earlier date calls for extraordinary efforts to speed up the test machinery so that the muster will show the maximum results possible, and the preparation of plans and instructions already is under way.

In his letter to Acting Secretary Davis, the President did not explain his reasor for rejecting the Armistice Day suggestion, saying merely, "I do not approve your proposal that it be held on Armistice Day."

The President's action opened the question whether the need for a test this year justified an effort to prepare for it by July 4. Mr. Davis and his military advisers have felt that such a limited period for preparation would be insufficient for laying the ground work for a test as complete as it was intended to conduct if the Armistice Day date had been approved, but they decided immediately that the educational value of the demonstration in promoting public understanding of the new military policy which requires nation-wide civilian co-operation warranted efforts to hold a creditable muster July 4.

Incidentally, the President's suggestion of the July 4 date and its acceptance at the War Department will result in the test being held on the fifty-third anniversary of his birthday. The original muster last year was first planned as a mark of special honor to Gen. Pershing and was scheduled for September 13, his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary, and the date of his retirement from active service. By his direction, however, the date was changed to September 12, the anniversary of the Battle of St. Mihiel.

RIFFS BRING FRENCH CRISIS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 26.—The heavy losses suffered by the Riffians at the hands of the French and the reorganization of the French army of 50,000 under Gen. Daugen are looked upon here as indicating the seriousness of the situation in Morocco.

In the military angle is the political controversy going on with regard to Morocco. The truce declared today, when the Chamber decided to postpone until Wednesday discussion of credits for the campaign in the protectorate, is only temporary, for it is considered highly improbable that the Socialists and Communists will abandon their opposition to appropriations for carrying on the war.

Gen. Daugen has withdrawn his army to the southern side of the Ouergha River, abandoning five posts that were almost continually surrounded by the tribesmen and could be supplied with food only by airplane or after difficult and probably costly drives to clear out the Riffians who swept back as soon as the French again retired.

This new policy leaves more forces available for the real fighting, which is expected to be renewed soon, since the Riffians are reported to be continuing their concentrations. The French likewise are getting heavy reinforcements through Casa Blanca. It is pointed out that the withdrawal of the French to the Ouergha line coincides with the agitation of the Socialists over the Moroccan campaign and is interpreted by some

Daughter Dead on Stove; Shock Fatal to Father

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Awakened by the barking of a pet dog in his apartment in Greenwich Village, John Angus Kerr, retired business man, today found the body of his daughter, Mrs. Madeline Secec, lying across a gas stove, the jets of which were wide open. Shocked by the sight, Kerr dropped dead from heart disease.

Alexander Secec, the woman's husband, also awakened by the dog, found the bodies and turned off the gas. It is believed that Mrs. Secec fainted while preparing breakfast.

False Cuban Seals Printed in St. Louis Total Quarter Million in Value

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Confessions that they printed $250,000 worth of counterfeit Cuban revenue stamps seized in New Orleans Saturday were made today, police announced, by John A. Bowlman, lithographer, and Max Enger, proprietor of a printing establishment here.

Secret service operatives declared they had seized a stone bearing the counterfeit impression of the stamps in the shop of Bowlman, who has been in the lithographing business in St. Louis for forty years.

The arrests of Bowlman and Enger grew out of that of Charles E. Doran of Sacramento, Cal., who was taken into custody Saturday as he was boarding a vessel at New Orleans for Havana with the stamps in his possession. He told the officers they had been printed in St. Louis and named the men he said he hired to do the work.

Bowlman, officers said, admitted receiving $20 from Doran for the use of his plant, and Enger admitted receiving $100 for doing the work.

Doran said he was to deliver the stamps to a man in Cuba known to him only by his first name.

What does the emerald signify?

The beautiful green emerald is the birthstone of May and in the language of precious gems it betokens success in love. Many virtues were ascribed to it by the the ancients. When worn, it was held to be a protection against evil spirits and was reputed to have great medicinal value.

While May has its emeralds, the month is synonymous also with the custom followed by many families of selecting a new home. EXPLORER THINKS POLAR PLANE BAND STILL ALIVE

MacMillan Expresses Belief That Silence on Fourth Day is No Indication of Death

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Me.) May 25.—There is no reason for believing as yet that Roald Amundsen is lost simply because he has not been heard from, declared Lieutenant-Commander Donald D. MacMillan, the Arctic explorer, today. According to MacMillan the discoverer of the South Pole still has a good chance of coming through in safety, although it may be weeks and even months before he may be heard from.

MacMillan said that if conditions in the vicinity of the North Pole were unfavorable for making observations, or, in other words, the weather was cloudy, then Amundsen would undoubtedly want to remain until he could get the position of the sun. If he found land on his journey he might be delaying his return to explore it to some extent.

If Amundsen is not heard from by the time the MacMillan expedition leaves Wiscasset on June 20, and if there is still no news from him by the time the expedition reaches the Arctic region, then MacMillan's first object will be to go to the relief of the South Pole discoverer. Amundsen's plans, according to published reports, MacMillan declared today, were in case of accident to retreat toward Cape Columbia. Here MacMillan deposited a cache of food at Ward Hunt Island, Cape Columbia, on the Peary North Pole expedition in 1909. This is 413 miles from the North Pole.

If Amundsen finds the cache it will give him a two weeks' supply of food with which he could continue his trip to Fort Couger, at Lady Franklin Bay, ninety miles away. The old buildings of the Greeley expedition still remain there, and here Amundsen will find an ample supply of food in the shape of musk oxen, ducks and other animals and birds.

WATCHERS AT BASE ARE DISHEARTENED

By James R. Wharton
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

KINGS BAY, (Spitzbergen) May 26 (By radio from steamer Fram.) The fourth full day passed this afternoon without news from the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar expedition, and fears of disaster became more pronounced among the watchers at Spitzbergen. We were still trying to be optimistic here at the expedition's base, and our hopes continued to burn brightly, but even the most strong-hearted among us had to admit forebodings of some serious mishap to the six adventurers whose secret was still hidden in the frozen north.

The hourly suspense grew very trying today, with the completion of the fourth daily cycle. Probably the peak of anticipation was reached this afternoon with our meteorological reports indicating a rapidly rising storm area around the pole.

NEW YORK, May 25.—What has become of the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar flyers? They started under excellent flying conditions last Thursday afternoon, and it is altogether unlikely that they failed to reach the pole. Once there, they would almost certainly have a look into the edge, at least, of the blank spaces between the pole and Alaska. This is probably the explanation of their delayed return. With rival expeditions planning to find new land there,

RELIEF FOR MIDWEST

Disastrous Cold Spell Ends

Heavy Losses to Field Crops Faced as Mercury Slowly Climbs

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 25. — Temperatures began to rise slowly today over the large area hit by unprecedented cold weather Saturday and Sunday, and farmers and gardeners are taking stock of the damage by frost, wind, sleet and cold weather.

The loss will be very heavy. The field crops of all kinds were seriously damaged. Corn and potato vines are blackened by frost. The tomato crop all over Northern Illinois and Indiana, Southern Wisconsin and Michigan has suffered an estimated 90 per cent loss.

Flash reports that large areas in the corn belt will have to be replanted at this late date, caused a flurry on the board of trade and December corn advanced 8 cents a bushel in less than an hour. May corn was up 3 cents. December wheat advanced 4 3-8 cents. September wheat jumped up more than 6 cents.

CHICAGO ESCAPES

Chicago missed the killing frost that worked havoc in vegetation and crops in the northern part of the State and in adjacent States, a stiff breeze off the lake preventing the settling of frost. Downstate points reported temperatures of 30 degrees.

Missouri reported ice formations in the fields where the corn is one to two inches above ground. Similar conditions were reported from points in Eastern Iowa, and it is feared the damage to corn has been very serious.

Scientific farmers, however, say similar conditions prevailed in 1895 when corn, blackened and leveled by high, chill winds, did better than that which was replanted.

Two deaths, the result of the frigid weather, have been reported in Chicago. One was a negro, who perished Saturday night, and today Hugh McKillop, 35 years of age, was found chilled to death in a doorway. He had imbibed freely of moonshine and when he sat down to rest, the frigidity soon killed him.

REDS TO ATTACK RUMANIA

Terrific Offensive Planned Before Summer; Million Men to Be Hurled Against Bessarabia

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 25.—Soviet Russia has decided to launch a terrific offensive against Rumania before midsummer. This was the reason that Leon Trotzky, former War Minister, was called to Moscow and he will either command the army in the field or become War Minister.

The first Russian objective will be to seize Bessarabia, the second will be to establish a soviet republic in Bucharest, the third to establish a soviet republic in Sofia and Briond; the Red general staff has vague hopes that the Greek and Jugo-Slav governments will be seriously weakened or overthrown.

IDEAL MOMENT

As Rumania and Poland have a defensive alliance against Russia, the soviet government plans to hold Poland in check by establishing a soviet republic in Polish Galicia with Lemborg as the capital. The soviets consider, apart from the pressing Russian international situation, that an ideal time has come for a Balkan adventure because of the internal trouble in Rumania and Bulgaria. Furthermore the French are becoming involved in Morocco, the English position in Mosul is being menaced by 250,000 Turkish troops and parts of Greece and Jugo-Slavia are seething with revolt.

Another reason is that the Bolsheviki want to establish a strong soviet republic in Bulgaria, which is the keypoint to the Balkans, before the communist organization there is completely wiped out. Further, the roads to South Rus-nessee two years ago for a similar liberal teaching, stopped him and led him down the street.

The jurors hitched up and started back home.

"Young whippersnapper—ought to be hanged on the spot," one juror was overheard to remark.

The main idea of the prosecution is that Scopes was undermining the faith of children in the Bible.

BRYAN VS. DARROW

William Jennings Bryan, who is idolized in these parts, and Clarence Darrow, who is known only to the intelligentsia who meet in the drug store, are to face each other across the lawyer's tables, on this and other propositions involved.

The plans of the defense indicate that millions of words will be spilled on this subject. The most eminent scientists and theologians are to be called to this little city to present their views on the history of the so-called human race.

Fundamentalist and modernist are to fight it out here.

The character of the prosecution was purged of all friendliness and frame-up aspect today when George W. Rappleyea, manager of a mine here, who was the official prosecutor, withdrew from this role to make way for Prof. Walter White, county superintendent of schools. Rappleyea is a liberal thinker and started this case on the theory that the best way to get rid of an obnoxious law is to enforce it. As the tiny flame grew to forest-fire proportions he could not see himself in the attitude of conferring with Mr. Byran as prosecutor and withdrew with the consent of the Attorney-General for Mr. White, who is a fundamentalist and sincere advocate of the antievolution law.

It was hard to realize that this was the age of science as the stage was arranged this morning for this proceeding.

STUDENTS UNCONVINCED

The old red-brick Courthouse was the center of the activities. Among the early arrivals were a half-dozen school students who were to be witnesses against the criminal, Scopes. Interviews among these elicited little information on the subject of evolution. Scopes's teachings did not seep through far enough to hurt them. They did not know the meaning of "anthropoid ape," their supposed cousin.

"I believe in part of evolution, but I don't know about this monkey business," said one boy.

At last it was elicited from them that Scopes had told them he believed in the theory of evolution and, in order to arouse their flagging interest, had led them to the library and pointed out "Tarzan of the Apes." This was the crime established in the jury room.

The courtroom is a bare white structure about large enough for the lawyers and newspaper reporters who will attend this trial. There are four stoves in the room, their bases encrusted with the tobacco juice of the ages. The electric lights seem out of place.

OPENED WITH PRAYER

Judge Raulston decided to open this very special session in court with prayer and called in Rev. H. G. Byrd of the Methodist Church, North.

The defense table was vacant. At the State's table sat Atty.-Gen. Stuart, and Special Assistants S. K. Hicks, Herbert Hicks, Gordon McKenzie and Wallace Haggard, all young men.

The Attorney General had a Bible at his table and two other books. These were the textbooks which Scopes was accused of having used. They were: "A Civic Biology," by George William Hunter, Ph. D., of Knox College, Illinois, and "General Science," by Lewis Elhuff, A. M. (Yale,) teacher in the George Washington High School, Pittsburgh, with passages on the evolution theory marked.

This formed part of the evidence. Judge Raulston's attitude on the situation was expressed as follows:

"It has always been and is now, one of the greatest passions of my life, to ascertain the truth about all matters, especially matters relative to God, and man's proper relation to Him, but I'm not so much exercised over the question as to whence man cometh as I am as to whither he goeth.

"I'm not so much concerned about the origin of my body as I am to the destiny of my soul."

NO WOMEN PRESENT

The jurors, according to Tennessee custom, were ranged in chairs in front of the judge, facing the audience. There was not a woman in the courtroom. Evidently the day of women has not arrived here.

In his instruction to the jurors, Judge Raulston said:

"Since the act involved in this investigation provides that it shall be unlawful to teach any theory that denies the creation of man as taught in the Bible, it is proper that I call your attention to the account of man's creation as taught in the Bible, and it is found in the first chapter of Genesis."

Then the judge read the story that every man present had learned at his mother's knee.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," down to "and God saw everything that He had made, and behold, it was very good, and the evening and the morning were the sixth day."

The jurors looked as though they were in church. They proceeded to go to their jury room and vote a true bill by way of saying "amen" to the sermon.

"As to the law involved, the court adds:

"The vital question now involved for your consideration is: 'Has this statute been violated by the accused teaching a theory in the public schools of Rhea county that denies the theory of the divine creation of man as taught in the Bible? And if such an offense has been committed was it committed since the passage of this act, and prior to this inquiry?'

"If you find that the statute has been thus violated, you should indict the guilty party promptly.

"You are to bear in mind that in this investigation you are not interested to inquire into the policy or wisdom of this legislation."

The jurors retired at 10:20 o'clock and were back at 11:30 with their findings. Both sides at once went into conference in preparation for the trial. They are somewhat staggered by the immensity of the problems presented.

What is evolution?

Scientific men must answer.

What is the correct interpretation of the first chapter of Genesis.

A dozen learned men are to be called upon to answer that. Judge Raulston is inclined to give the lawyers full latitude.

The State prosecutor tonight gave out a statement denying that the prosecution was a mock affair, conceived in a desire for publicity.

neither Amundsen nor anyone else could resist the temptation to go further.

If Amundsen has found land and has alighted on it, he may return by air after a short exploration of this or, with his airplanes wrecked, he may wait, living off the resources of the new land, until the sea ice is once more firm. What route he would then take southward would depend upon his position, and it is idle to speculate on that. Even if three or four months pass before word of Amundsen reaches us, there will be no need to suppose he has perished. Witness the remarkable journey of Nansen after he left the Fram for his polar dash.

SOUTHLAND MEN PLAN TO RUSH AID

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, May 25. — Hans Nansen of the First National Bank of San Diego, a nephew of the noted explorer, Fritjof Nansen, announced here today that he was raising the funds to finance an expedition for the relief of Amundsen and was certain his plans would be a success.

Nansen said that he was in communication with Haakon N. Hammer, an associate of Amundsen in previous Polar ventures, who now is recuperating from eye trouble at Los Angeles, and that he had assured Hammer he was virtually certain of raising funds to finance the latter's program to go to Amundsen's assistance if the explorer is not located within the next twenty-four hours.

MANY ENTERING FOR PAGEANT OF KIDDIES

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

OCEAN PARK, May 25. — Announcement was made by Mrs. Earl Fraser that many entries have been received in the annual kiddiers' floral parade here June 28. Floats in the parade must be kept in the miniature class, and mounted on small kiddie cars and scooters. A division for kiddies representing different flowers, where it will be necessary for them to walk, also has been made.

The success attendant on this affair in former years has made it necessary to lengthen the line of march, which will be from Fraser to Rose avenue.

Judges and reviewing stands will be constructed in the Ocean Park Plaza, in front of the municipal auditorium.

More than $1000 in cash prizes will be made winners in different divisions. It is expected a large number of out-of-town entries will be received.

the last stunt of a changeful week that will make May 1925, memorable as long as there are weather observers. An early morning minimum of 30 degrees was reported by the Peoria observer. That is the lowest temperature recorded at this season in this section in seventy years of official and unofficial record-keeping, said Prof. Henry J. Cox of the Weather Bureau here.

Stations that send word of record-breaking maximum readings Friday, flashed record-breaking minimum temperatures today. Aurora, for instance, reported 31, a break of 53 deg. in twenty-four hours. Unofficial reports from Freeport, Ill., set last night's minimum at 26 and said the damage to fruit, potatoes, corn, beans and other crops had been destructive.

Since the establishment of the local bureau in 1873, according to Prof. Cox, no such phenomenal changes in weather have been recorded as those experienced between Friday afternoon and yesterday morning. Friday broke all existing records for heat for May 22 and yesterday came right back with broken records for cold. At 10:30 a.m. the official thermometer registered 37 deg.

Damage totaling many thousands of dollars was reported from Indiana. Near Indianapolis, crops, particularly tomatoes and other early vegetables, were damaged. Throughout the State wheat and corn and fruit trees were hard hit.

Six hundred acres of watermelons and 400 acres of cantaloupes were destroyed by frost near Seymour. The tomato crop was declared a total loss.

TENNESSEE BASEBALL OFF DUE TO COLD WAVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) May 25. — Shades of the Sunny South! On this the twenty-fifth day of May, 1925, a scheduled baseball game between the Memphis and Birmingham clubs of the Southern League was postponed on account of cold weather. Officials of the Memphis club sat for ten or more minutes in various locations of the grand stand and decided the temperature was too frigid for the comfort of the fans and called the game off.

RECORD COLD SNAP FOLLOWS RECORD HEAT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—New York, after having sweltered through the warmest May 23 ever known only two days ago, shivered today through its coldest May 25 since the Weather Bureau began to record behavior. A temperature of 40 deg. was reported at 7 o'clock this morning, thirty-eight and one-half hours after a high record of 92 deg. had been set at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The mercury today hovered at the 40 mark until 10 o'clock, rising to 48 at 3 o'clock. The previous cold record for May 25 was 45 deg. in 1877.

Snow and frost today were reported in many sections of New York State.

YEBALA TRIBESMEN LOSE 700 IN BATTLE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

FEZ (Morocco) May 25. — An attack by the Yebala tribesmen against the Spanish front in the region of Tahatof is recorded in an official communication issued by the French military authorities here today. The communication confirms the reports of heavy losses suffered by the Yebalas in the recent sharp fighting in the Ouergha River section. The communication says:

"The Yebalas admit that they lost more than 700 dead along the Ouergha. It is reported that two bombs dropped by airplanes killed 150 of the rebels.

"The situation is stationary in the center. Infiltrations are reported in the region of Ain Matouf.

"On the east the situation is stationary. Infiltrations are reported around the post of Koudias Ed Kata. The chief of the Riffian contingent from Tizoritine is said to have ordered the conscription of 500 cavalry from among the Gzenaia and Metalsa tribes.

"The enemy is understood to have been instructed by Abd-el-Krim not to attack posts, but to attack tribes and burn villages and crops.

MANILA BANK CASHIER ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

MANILA, May 25.—Fred W. Kenney, cashier of the Philippine Trust Company, was found shot to death here yesterday under conditions indicating suicide. His action was due to business worries. The trust company in a statement said his accounts were correct. Kenney during the World War was a captain in the United States Army, serving in the finance department.

GOVERNOR SIGNS POLICE CLUB ACT

Action Makes it Lawful to Carry Concealed Arms

More Than Score of Other Bills Are Approved

Measures Affecting Cotton Industry Sanctioned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—Police and peace officers again can lawfully carry clubs concealed on their person as the result of the action taken today by Gov. Friend W. Richardson in signing Assembly bill No. 1205, correcting a defect in the 1923 antifirearms law. This was one of twenty-three measures signed today by the Governor.

Two measures approved, Assembly bill Nos. 167 and 168, are of importance to the cotton industry of the State in that they regulate the growing and sale of the product and will put the production of cotton on a stable basis. Other bills signed follow:

Senate bill No. 52, making important improvements in the Pine Flat Dam Act, of interest to Fresno, Kings and Tulare counties. The late Senator Creighton of Bakersfield, was author of the measure.

Assembly bill No. 1285, making it a misdemeanor for a father to willfully omit to furnish food and care for legitimate or illegitimate children. The bill regards an unborn child as an existing person.

Senate bill No. 360, declaring the highway between Needles, in San Bernardino county, to Topack, on the Colorado River to be a State highway. This road completes the Santa Fe Trail.

Assembly bill No. 232, providing that cemetery districts may be formed on the petition of not less than fifty citizens.

Assembly Bill No. 895, securing the payment of claims of persons employed by contractors on public work.

Assembly bill No. 1188 makes it lawful for a guardian to sell or mortgage the estate of a ward for the purpose of raising funds for his care.

Assembly bill No. 1242 validates school district proceedings.

Senate bill No. 547 provides that directors of irrigation districts may enter into contracts for the exchange of water rights.

Assembly bill No. 387, limits the hours of labor of drug clerks to nine hours a day or fifty-fours a week.

Assembly bill No. 484, Assembly bill No. 310 and Assembly bill No. 313, abolishing special funds of Folsom and San Quentin prisons.

Assembly bill No. 677 prohibits the shooting, destroying or capturing of any seal or sea lion in any of the waters of the State.

The steamer India Arrow reported the change, which indicated that the current had been invaded by the Oyashiwo, ordinarily a weak counter-current setting southwestward between the Japanese coast and the Japan current, and whose influence seldom reached below the thirty-eighth parallel of latitude. The report said that on April 19, when in latitude 36 north, longitude 146, the India Arrow encountered a current setting approximately 150 deg. with a drift of one-half of a knot. The temperature of the sea dropped suddenly from 66 deg. to 40 deg. and changed in color from blue-green to dark-olive green. The temperature of the air dropped from 64 deg. to 56 deg.

Five hours later the temperature of the sea water began to rise and in three more hours had risen again to 66 deg. in latitude 37 north, longitude 143 east.

PRESS VICTOR IN TAX LIST FIGHT

sections of the tax law, but he had not formed an opinion as to the course the department should take in the matter. He recalled the arguments made against the provisions in his annual report to Congress last year, however, and said they still held, so far as he was concerned. The question, he felt, was one for Congress to consider, and he did not care at this time to make suggestions.

Constitutional right of newspapers to print information made public by Congress was emphasized by the Kansas City Journal-Post and the Baltimore Post as the real question at issue before the Supreme Court in the income tax publicity cases.

The government contended that Congress provided that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue should make available "to public inspection in such manner as he may determine, in the office of the collector in each internal revenue district and in such other places as he may determine, lists containing the name and the postoffice address of each person making an income tax return in such district, together with the amount of income tax paid by such person." It was entirely within the control of the commissioner, the government held, to prohibit publication of the lists in the newspapers.

Counsel for the newspapers, Senator Reed of Missouri, representing the Kansas City Journal-Post, and Former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, the Baltimore Post, asserted there could be no censorship whereby an official could prohibit the publication in the newspapers of official information which was lawfully in the possession of the public.

From the viewpoint of Senator Reed the cases directly assailed the freedom of the press and the right of free speech.

Solicitor-Gneral Beck vigorously opposed the suggestion that the freedom of the press was at stake and insisted that the only question as issue was a decision as to whether Congress intended that the lists should be printed in the newspapers and, if it did, whether it was necessary first to obtain the permission of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

SUITS INSTITUTED

When newspapers published the lists of income taxpayers last fall the government instituted a number of suits, contending that the law which prohibited the publication of income tax "returns" had been violated. It insisted that Congress had made the lists available to public inspection in the offices of the collectors but had not intended that they be published in the newspapers.

Referring to the provision in the revenue act prohibiting the publication of income tax returns Justice Sutherland stated that it was not absolute, since Congress had made it unlawful to print or publish them in any manner "not provided by law." Recalling that it had long been the policy of Congress to have the Commissioner of Internal Revenue make public annually the names of income taxpayers, he added that Congress in framing the present revenue law had merely gone a step further in having these lists include the amount of income tax paid by each. It was within the power of Congress, he asserted, to decide what publicity if any should be given such information.

"Whatever one's opinion may be in respect to its wisdom," the opinion stated, "the policy having been adopted (of making the lists available to inspection in collectors' offices) as an aid to the enforcement of the revenue laws, or to the accomplishment of some other objects deemed important, it is not easy to conclude that Congress nevertheless intended to exclude and severely to penalize the effective form of secondary publicity now under consideration."

A review of the legislative history of the section of law making the lists available to public inspection, Justice Sutherland added, strongly confirmed the court in the conclusion that "Congress intended to open the information contained in the lists to full publicity."

CINCINNATI MAN SLAYS SELF HERE

Attorney of Eastern City is Found Dead from Gas; Motive is Mystery

Mystery cloaks the suicide of Nelson B. Cramer, 45 years of age, believed to be a well-to-do attorney and man of affairs of Cincinnati, who inhaled gas yesterday in a modest rooming-house at 508 Stanford street. The body was found last night by the landlady, Mrs. Aileen White, and Mrs. B. W. Berry, a roomer.

Papers found in the room identified him as an attorney with offices in the First National Bank Building in Cincinnati, but nothing was found that would give an inkling as to the motive. His clothing was of an expensive make; his appearance distinguished. Cards showing that he had been a member of country clubs and select organizations in the Ohio city also were found.

From receipts and other papers it was learned that since leaving his home the attorney had traveled south as far as New Orleans. Nothing was found that indicated the nature of the business that took him away from home. A Pullman stub showed he arrived here several days ago.

Standing out as the most plausible motive, according to Detective Lieutenant Hickey, is that of financial worry. Only $4.80 in cash was found among the man's effects. His clothing bore evidence that he had been living cheaply as did the fact that he was staying at an inexpensive rooming-house. He registered at the rooming-house Sunday night.

Police last night were endeavoring to locate relatives of the attorney. The body was taken to the mortuary of George Willett.

STRAWN NAMED FOR CHINA MEET

Chicago Lawyer Will Attend Customs Conference

Minister J. Van MacMurray Also to be Present

Meeting to Arrange Details of Revenue Problems

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Silas H. Strawn, Chicago lawyer, at the request of President Coolidge, has accepted appointment to go with Minister John Van A. MacMurray to China as American commissioner, to attend the special conference on Chinese customs provided for in the power treaty.

Mr. MacMurray, who surrenders the post of Assistant Secretary of State to become American Minister to China, also has been commissioned to act for the Washington government in connection with the customs conference.

The nine-power convention has been ratified by all the signatory nations except France which is expected to take similar action in time for the customs conference to assemble this fall. Under provisions of the treaty, the conference will be called by the Chinese government within three months after formal ratifications have been exchanged. It will be attended by commissioners representing the nine signatory powers and is intended to work out details of the increased customs revenues which the treaty provides for the Chinese central government.

Mr. Strawn is one of the attorneys first selected by President Coolidge to represent the government as special counsel in the litigation growing out of the Senate investigation of naval oil leases. His name was withdrawn when opposition developed in the investigating committee because of his directorship in a bank having oil interests.

Secretary Kellogg also conferred today with a group of business men interested in the question of Chinese customs. They called at the State Department to give Secretary Kellogg the benefit of their experience in Chinese customs practices to aid in the preparation of instructions for guidance of the American commissioners. They were said to have expressed unanimous approval of Mr. Strawn's appointment.

STRAWN MAY GO TO CHINA IN SEPTEMBER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Silas Strawn, Chicago lawyer, tonight confirmed statements from Washington that he has been appointed to go with Minister John Van A. MacMurray to China as commissioner to attend the conference on Chinese customs. He said that he would not go, however, for two or three months, possibly in September.

MAN ACCUSED BY SON DENIES GIRL'S MURDER

BOY TURNS TO POLICE FOR PROTECTION FOLLOWING DEATH THREATS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EAST CHICAGO (Ind.) May 25. Jack Yasovich, the 52-year-old laborer whose son charges him with the murder of Florence Kuazea, the 15-year-old girl found slain last November, continued to deny the crime in his cell today, but the police are convinced he is the murderer and have formally charged him with the crime.

Had Yasovich treated his son, Steven, 11 years of age, humanely, the murder might have remained in the unsolved mystery list. Of late Yasovich has been beating the lad constantly and threatening to kill him. Matters became so bad that the boy went to the police station and asked for protection. Then he told of his father coming home and saying he had killed the Guazea girl and that if the boy told, he, also, would be killed. The police found a blood-stained razor and bloody garments in the shack occupied by Yasovich and his son. This shack is just in the rear of the home of the Guazea girl. The child had left her home to attend a near-by motion-picture show. That was the last trace of her until her decapitated body was found on a lonely prairie the following day.

NEW ROAD BIDS ARE REQUESTED

El Centro-Holtville Unit to be Constructed

Second Section Contracts Will Follow Soon

Victory Highway Stretch Will be Awarded

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—Bids were asked today by the California Highway Commission for the grading and rock surfacing of the El Centro-Holtville section of the Imperial county interstate connection, a distance of 8.57 miles. This will be followed shortly by a call for bids for the section from Holtville to the beginning of the pavement at the high-line canal.

Completion of these two projects will mark the initial construction of the State highway across Imperial county from the San Diego county line to the Colorado River opposite Yuma, Ariz.

The bids for grading the El Centro-Holtville unit will be opened in Sacramento June 22.

State Highway Engineer R. M. Morton announced that bids will be opened June 2 by the Bureau of Public Roads at its San Francisco office for the surfacing with crushed rock of 6.56 miles of State highway between Soda Springs and Donner Lake, in Placer and Nevada counties. The section crosses Donner Summit and is within the Tahoe National Forest. The work will be financed with Federal forest highway bonds.

Completion of this project will substitute maximum 7 per cent grades for the 18 per cent climb on the former road. It is on the trunk-line connection with Nevada, via the Truckee River Canyon, the route of the Victory Highway.

MORE SHIPS TO BE ADDED TO DRY NAVY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO, May 25.—Plans for the expansion of the prohibition navy on the Atlantic to 100 or more craft and for the enlargement of sea prohibition forces on the Pacific to allow the Coast guard at least one boat for every liquor-smuggling ship in the vicinity of American shores, were announced here today by Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of Federal prohibition enforcement.

Mr. Andrews, who has been here as a member of the Mexican-American border commission, left late today. He said that boats probably would be purchased and equipped for the Coast Guard forces on the Pacific. Headquarters on the West Coast probably will be in San Francisco, he said.

Mr. Andrews announced that he was going to New York personally to superintend the speeding up of prohibition enforcement there.

FILM MEN WILL RIVAL DAN CUPID

German Concern Plans to Aid 3000 Maidens to Get Husbands

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, May 25.—Cupid has a rival. A Leipzig motion-picture firm has decided to compete with him. It officially promised to help 3000 beautiful maidens to find the husbands of their dreams. For this purpose the picture firm is inaugurating an agency scheme new to solemn Central Europe.

For the purpose of match making 3000 maidens will be invited to the studios. Everyone of them will be given a heart—a paper heart—on which to inscribe her name and address. The paper hearts will be attached to 3000 balloons, which will be intrusted to kind winds. The balloons may be wafted to the hands of a lonely bachelor, who will accept the "sign from heaven" and answer the appeal.

To encourage all parties concerned the cinema cupid promises that its greatest star vamp, a heroine of 1000 pictures, will be godmother to the first baby of a couple that meet and are married under the banner of the new self-styled matrimonial agency. The firm is being stormed for invitations, since Germany has 2,000,000 more women than men.

MONSTER FURNITURE AND HOUSE FURNISHINGS
AUCTION
10 A.M., Tomorrow, May 27th, 10 A.M.
AT THE WAREHOUSE OF THE CHICAGO VAN AND STORAGE CO.
1701 So. Hill Street

THIS MONSTER SALE WILL BE A BOON TO HOTEL, APARTMENT AND COURT OWNERS.

We have been commissioned by the owners to immediately convert into cash the entire furniture and furnishings of the Flower Hotel—55 complete rooms of medium-grade furniture!

These goods were placed in storage less than 5 weeks ago and because of the owners' inability to procure another suitable location they are compelled to sacrifice them piece by piece, at public auction, for whatever they will bring, regardless of their worth. We've never presented the public a more noteworthy opportunity to procure at a mere semblance of cost, furniture and furnishings for the hotel, apartment, bungalow court or home! Because of the magnitude of this monster event, fast selling will of necessity be the order of the day. Let nothing prevent your participation.

Remember the day and hour, tomorrow, May 27th, 10 A.M., and continuing throughout the entire day.

THE OFFERINGS INCLUDE IN PART

55 Double Coil and Steel Springs.
55 Excellent Grade Felt Mattresses.
150 Mahogany, Old Ivory, Birdseye Maple and Oak Rockers and Chairs.
100 Library and Stand Tables in all woods and finishes.
55 Wilton, Axminster and Body Brussels Rugs in room sizes.
50 Small Rugs of all kinds and sizes.
Bedding, Bed and Table Linen; Also Curtains for a 55-Room Hotel.
Miscellaneous Office Furniture, Writing Desks, Dining Sets, Gas Ranges, Refrigerators, Hotel Crockery, Pictures, Bric-a-Brac and hundreds of other items of equal interest for use in hotel, apartment, bungalow court or the home.

INSPECTION—These furnishings are well displayed and may be seen at the Warehouse of the Chicago Van and Storage Co., 1701 So. Hill St., Today 9 A.M. to 4 P.M.

WHITE READY TO FIGHT SHEPHERD

Missing Mystery Man Tells Willingness to Aid State

Second Change of Heart is Made Plain in Letter

Police of Philadelphia Asked to Apprehend Him

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 24.—The vanished Robert White the vacillating witness who furnished most of the mystery element in the first week of the trial of William Darling Shepherd for the murder of William Nelson McClintock, his foster-son, of whose $1,000,000 estate he is principal legatee, once more claimed the attention of both sides when he announced his willingness to come back to Chicago to testify against Shepherd.

White located himself this time by means of a letter to Assistant State's Attorney Joseph D. Savage. The postmark showed that the note had been mailed in Philadelphia the 23rd inst.

Last week highly creditable evidence reached the Criminal Court building to show that White was in the custody of the defense attorneys, that he was being held in a downtown hotel and that he had completely reversed his previous testimony. His letter, seemingly authenticated by means of signature on the identification card which he signed in the office of a local automobile company, was a surprise to the State, chiefly for the reason that it showed him to have had a second change of heart.

READY TO TESTIFY

Mr. White is once more a State's witness, he says, anxious to come back to the trial and corroborate the testimony of Charles C. Faiman that Shepherd was a student of bacteriology at Faiman's school.

This time Mr. Crowe took no chances. He sent a telegram to the Chief of Police at Philadelphia asking him to take White into custody pending further instructions.

The letter from White says in part:

"God help him (Shepherd) when I get back. His bunch made a nervous wreck out of me and also made me write a statement against my will. Don't think for one moment, Mr. Savage, that I am through with this case, because I am not. I am just commencing to fight Shepherd and his gang."

William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, attorneys for the defense, were brief in their comment on the letter.

"We will know just whose witness White is when we get him on the stand," Mr. Stewart said. "Provided Mr. Savage didn't write the letter himself, we should be willing to offer to pay White's car fare back to Chicago."

Further investigation of asserted jury tampering in the trial of Shepherd was launched by State's Attorney Crowe today when he summoned to his office every man who has been called as a prospective juror and excused during the seven days, and demanded also the presence of their wives and other members of the families for questioning.

About 100 men have been questioned and rejected so far. Mr. Crowe believed that in the privacy of his office some of these may give him information secretly that they might be reluctant to reveal in the courtroom.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 25.—John Grau, 68 years of age, pioneer Minneapolis furniture merchant and manufacturer, is dead.

When Larry O'Keefe, who left Austin May 4 and has not been heard of since, appears if he does appear, his job at a packing plant in Austin will be waiting for him. O'Keefe was a big stickler before he announced he had inherited an Irish estate of $200,000 and the title of earl. The authenticity of both estate and title are doubted at Austin since his disappearance.

Henry E. Kundert, cashier of the closed Brainerd State Bank, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the District Court at Brainerd and was sentenced to an indeterminate term at the penitentiary.

The Merchants' National Bank of Detroit, Minn., has been closed by order of the board of directors.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—At Richmond Dr. S. Edgar Bond, Coroner of Wayne county, is investigating the death of Landy A. Jackson, an inmate of the Eastern Hospital for the Insane, who is said to have been fatally burned as a result of being placed in a bath of overheated water. An attendant is charged with criminal carelessness.

SHEPHERD JURY-FIXING SUSPECT

Photo shows James C. Callan, Chicago politician, said to be employed by counsel for the William D. Shepherd defense, who has been held for questioning by the State's Attorney's office on suspicion of tampering.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DES MOINES, May 25.—E. E. Guthrie, cashier of the First Savings Bank of Norwalk, died at his home following an attack of paralysis. Mr. Guthrie, 61 years of age, was one of the organizers of the Bank of Norwalk.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kulken of Sioux Center, who recently lost a son by death, prayed that they might be blessed with twin boys. The prayers were answered, for two fine, strong boys have been born to them.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Tilden Webster Orcutt of Pine Lawn died of acute appendicitis at the Missouri Baptist Sanatorium. He was 47 years of age.

A decision by Circuit Judge Miller holds that the Carondelet Motor Boat Club has no right to the present site of its clubhouse at 6700 South Levee. The land, the court holds, is the property of Michael Hendy, a former city detective, and the club is virtually a squatter.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, May 25.—Roy B. Garvey, accused of the murder of his father, J. B. Garvey, must go to trial. The Supreme Court of Missouri overruled a motion for a rehearing on the application for a writ of prohibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vickers have left for a two months' visit in California.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fuller are on a six weeks' trip to Colorado and California.

OMAHA

OMAHA, May 25.—Can State money be used to buy whisky? This is the question Deputy State Auditor Honza at Lincoln set out to have answered when he held up an expense voucher for $132 filed by State Sheriff Condit. The money was spent, Condit says, "to obtain information and secure evidence." Honza believes the money was spent by dry agents and "stool pigeons" buying drinks for evidence in liquor raids.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 25.—The Highland Park Development Company, a group of St. Paul capitalists, has purchased 150 acres of land in the Ford and Highland Park districts and plans immediate development of the property. It is announced that the company will invest up to $5,000,000 in housing development.

Rev. John Mau, pastor of the Evangelical Church at Perham, was found guilty by a District Court jury at Fergus Falls in a case to determine the paternity of a child born to Mrs. A. Hilger, the pastor's housekeeper.

With two deaths from smallpox in that vicinity, vaccination of every person in Houston county is urged by Miss Judith E. Wallin, county nurse at Winona. Mrs. Mary Leidel died at La Crescent and Mrs. Edna Mae Radtke succumbed at Lacrosse.

DETROIT

DETROIT, May 25.—William F. Shepherd, Commissioner of Public Safety, died at his home at Adrian after a short illness.

Mrs. Stanton W. Todd, 49 years of age, of Grand Rapids, died there. Her widower, S. W. Todd, is secretary and treasurer of the Central Michigan Paper Company.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) May 25.—Organic heart disease caused the death of Amos H. German, retired business man at his home here. He was 63 years of age and had been a resident of Akron for many years.

Questions Answered

[Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and inclose 2 cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.]

Question: What is the German national hymn? F.E.P.

Answer: The German Embassy says that at present "Deutschland, Deutschland Uber Alles" is regarded as the anthem of Germany. Before the war it was "Heil dir im Siegerkranz."

Q: Do radio stations NAA and NRS transmit eastern standard time? Is it based on solar or sidereal time? A.H.C.

A: The Naval Observatory says Arlington and Annapolis radio stations transmit time signals at eastern standard noon. The transmitting clock keeps mean solar time. However, it is set daily from comparison with the standard sidereal clock whose error is determined frequently by star observations.

Q: From what circumstances did the ovis poll, hunted by the Roosevelt brothers, derive its name? T. G. F.

A: The grandfather of all sheep gets its name from its discoverer, Marco Polo. It was not until 500 years after he discovered the animal that his assertion that the animal existed was substantiated.

A: According to the Year Book of the Churches for 1923, the total number of Sunday school members was 25,189,419.

Q: Does the United States have to pay foreign countries for the delivery of our mail in their countries? A. R.

A: The Postoffice Department says that his country does not have to pay foreign countries for the delivery of our mail. It, however, does pay to some foreign countries fees for each parcel sent to those countries in excess of the number they send us.

Q: What is meany by a "superior complex"? H. G. C.

A: Psychologists are not quite agreed as to the definitions of superiority and inferiority complex. According to some, a superiority complex refers to the innate feeling of an individual that he is superior to his fellows. According to others, it designates the condition of in reality feeling inferior, but endeavoring to appear superior in order to hide the former feeling.

Q: When was the Kit-Cat Club established? K. O. K.

A: This famous London club was founded about 1703 for the encouragement of art and literature. Originally there were thirty-nine members, afterward forty-eight, and all were Whigs. The name was derived from the meeting place, the tavern of Christopher Cat, near Temple Bar.

A: There is no electricity in it. It is merely chemical action.

Q: Are six-masted schooners uncommon? A. A. R.

A: The United States Shipping Board says that the Edward B. Lawrence, built in Bath, Me., is the only six-masted schooner in the world.

Q: Where did the apple grow first? E. B.

A: The apple was probably a native of Central Asia. It was introduced into America from England in 1629 by the Governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Q: What twenty articles are most asked for in 5 and 10-cent stores? G. L.

A: The buyer for one large store of this kind made the following list: Jumping ropes, artificial flowers, curtain material, glass percolator tops, glass nursing bottles, vitrophane, vegetable brushes, moth-proof garment bags, rubber stair treads, peacock incense, chore boy mitts, carbona, celluloid teething rings, mendits, oil, egg and beet slicers, steel wool, party bon bons and baskets, waxed paper, hand-dipped candles.

Q: When did Mrs. Bloomer die? M. B. F.

A: Mrs. Bloomer from whose name was derived the common noun "bloomer," died in 1894.

Q: What is the part of a motion-picture camera that revolves between the lens and the film? C. P.

Q: Was mahogany ever grown in California? J. D. F.

A: Merely as an experiment it has been planted in California.

Q: When rising from a dining table should one push his chair back into place? S. McL.

A: It is regarded as being in better form to allow the chair to rest where it is when one rises from the table.

Q: What is the average time of day when the temperature is the lowest? F. W. A.

A: As a rule the temperature is the lowest just about sunrise. This is due to the fact that on account of radiation heat is being given off during the night more rapidly than received from external sources. As this continues until the heat from the sun overcomes this disparity it is the natural consequence that the lowest temperature should occur just preceding the moment when added heat from the sun overcomes the loss occasioned by radiation during the night.

Q: What States had two capitals at the same time? M. S.

A: They were Rhode Island and Connecticut. In Rhode Island it was a case of the State having two large towns, each claiming to be the political center and neither agreeing to surrender its alleged prestige. Thus both Newport and Providence claimed the honor of being the capital of the State. Connecticut was similarly placed with regard to Hartford and New Haven. The towns were originally the capitals of separate colonies. Eventually, however, the geographical advantages of Hartford were admitted by New Haven.

Q: What Emperor rehearsed his own funeral? C. F.

A: Charles V, shortly before his death had the full burial service read over him. The death knell was tolled and monks chanted the requiem.

Q: Who invented the hypodermic? W. I. H.

A: The process of hypodermic injection was invented and brought into vogue by Dr. Alexander Wood of Edinburgh.

Question: Will weevils in one kind of cereal spread to other cereals? S. T.

Answer: The Department of Agriculture says that one weevily food will contaminate another. Particularly in warm weather, cereals and flours should be bought in small quantities and used promptly.

Q.: What are the Crown Colonies of England? M. S. G.

A.: The Crown colonies of England are those without responsible self-government, which are more or less completely under the control of the home government. They include—Gibraltar, Bermuda, Malta, Cyprus, St. Helena, Hongkong, etc.

Q.: Are lobsters plentiful this year? O. M.

A.: In some localities they are. Yarmouth, N. S., reports shipments to Boston of nearly three times as many this March as a year ago.

Q.: What is the population of the eastern time zone and the central? S. W. B.

A.: The Census Bureau says it has not taken the population of the eastern time zone and the central time zone. The population, however, has been estimated as follows: Eastern time zone, 49,000,000; central time zone, 47,000,000.

Q.: How many community trusts are there in the United States? A. W. K.

A.: The American Bankers' Association says that there are now fifty-two such trusts in the United States and one in Hawaii. Bequests have been made, or arranged for, through thirty-nine of them.

A.: There is no way of determining just what constitutes luxuries. Considering theatrical entertainments, tobacco, soft drinks, chewing gum and candy, the daily total is near $10,000,000. The average each day is: Chewing gum, $120,000; candy, $1,120,000; soft drinks, $1,330,000; cigarettes, $1,480,000; cigars, $1,780,000; tobacco in other forms, $1,380,000; movies, theaters, etc., $2,230,000.

President Burton of Chicago Holds Own in Sickness

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Ernest Dewitt Burton, president of the University of Chicago, was reported "holding his own but in a critical condition" at the Presbyterian Hospital this evening. A fairly restful night raised the hopes of his family and attending physicians that the noted educator would be able to win the battle against death.

Dr. Burton's wife and daughter are in constant attendance in the sick room. Mrs. N. A. Beeman of Ann Arbor, Mich., the president's sister, and Miss Margaret Townsend of Los Angeles, sister of Mrs. Burton, also are at the hospital.

AT AUCTION
Tomorrow Wednesday, 1:00 P.M. 7:30 P.M. on the premises
6923 Franklin Ave. Hollywood
Furnishings from the Chateau Chaumont France
The Princess de Broglie, a well-known personage, both in the United States and Europe, wife of Prince de Broglie, whose home, the celebrated Chateau Chaumont on the Loire River, is one of the seven historical monuments of France, has accepted a long contract for an extended concert tour through the United States and Europe. She is disposing of practically all of her exquisite furnishings and objets d'art. Most of these were gifts from the Prince at their marriage and for years adorned the famous halls of Chateau Chaumont.
Princess de Broglie brought these treasures to the United States intending to establish a permanent residence here. She has changed her plans and will appear in concert.
Her Elaborate Furnishings, Antiquities and Objets d'Art Will Be Sold Piece by Piece
The Drawing Room
Handsome 3-pc. Louis XIV Parlor Suite (antique hand carved gold frame upholstered in rose silk plush); pair antique processional lamps; very unusual sextagon gold leaf marble top table; exquisite gold leaf mantel mirror; elaborate occasional chairs. Very handsome Louis XIV floor lamps, antique old bronze and marble column clock (priceless) made by VION, clock maker for Louis XVI; art objects.
The Princess de Broglie's Bed Chamber
A beautiful room in which the atmosphere of the princess prevails—her bedroom suite is without duplicate. It is handcarved walnut and antique blue plush—and consists of full sized bed, four beautiful chairs and three tables. The dressing table, chiffonobe and secretary are made from tulip wood, inlaid and trimmed with bronze. Something entirely different and wonderfully exquisite. Her bedspread and lace hangings are of real Brussels Net and Filet. The gorgeous drapes and hangings are beyond compare.
Chinese Room
A room unique in every detail—objects which would be impossible to duplicate including rare lacquer screen with antique panel on top—antique Chinese chair (The Goddess); elaborately carved Chinese bed made especially for Princess de Broglie. Beautiful lacquer frame chairs upholstered in silk brocade; antique Chinese robe; panels; old Damask and specially made hanging lamps, etc.
The Stately Louis XIV Dining Room
Louis XIV hand carved dining room suite (14 pieces) upholstered in [illegible] —a museum set; antique [illegible] sian Samovar; old Delft [illegible] ton bridge set; Minton China dinner set; Sheffield plate flatware and linens.
Princess de Broglie's Dressing Room
Handsome gray bedroom suite (Louis XIV hardwood) consisting of full size bed, complete, extra large wardrobe and dressing table combined, dressing table and two silk upholstered chairs, drapes and hangings.
It is impossible to tell the value of these furnishings. Only the art connoisseur who appreciates the beautiful can realize the values presented. WE SOLICIT YOUR INSPECTION.

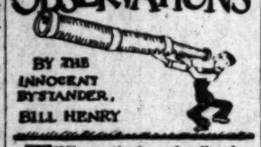
OBSERVATIONS



BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

THE arrival of Coach Spaulding has done more to put pep into the Grizzly athletes out at U.C.S.B. than anything that has happened to them since the institution was first founded. While it would be too much to expect the new mentor to set the Tehachapi Mountains on fire with his first eleven it is a lead pipe cinch that his team—if he is able to coach it himself this fall—will win a game or so. The Grizzlies are already rarin' to go and that is at least 50 per cent of the battle.

While Spaulding is admittedly facing a tough proposition, at the same time he can hardly go wrong since the Grizzlies have never beaten anybody. All they have to do is to upset Pomona, Occidental, Whittier or one of the other schools in the Conference and Spauldings is a hero at once. His presence will certainly attract a lot of good high school athletes and after this year he ought to have lots of good material.

This is the night of Paavo Nurmi's big attempt. He races a half a mile indoors against Helfrich, the former Penn State flyer, and it is understood that the Finn has genuine hopes of cracking the existing world's record. From all reports of the recent one-mile trial at Harvard, the record of 4.15 which was made by Numri means a great deal more than appears on the surface as the conditions under which the attempt was made were little short of terrible.

We've never laid eyes on either Paul Berlenbach or Mr. Mike McTigue, the two gentlemen who tangle in the ring at the Milk Fund fights on Friday night in New York for the world's light heavyweight championship but we certainly suspect the fans of being crazy in installing Berlenbach as favorite. If Mike could hold off the attack of Mickey Walker for ten or twelve rounds, as he did recently, we can't imagine a slugger like Berlenbach penetrating his defense.

* * *

Neither do we see these predictions of disaster for Ace Hudkins when he faces Tommy O'Brien at Ascot a few days hence. O'Brien may be a good hitter but knocking out K. O. Chaney doesn't prove it be-

CALLAHAN MEETS MEYERS

Boys Settle Double Argument in Vernon Ring in Tonight's Main Event

Two boys—one by the name of Mushy and the other Spug—will settle a double argument tonight at Vernon.

Mushy Callahan and Spug Meyers have been showing their stuff around Los Angeles for the last six months.

The double argument they will lay in the feed box relates to themselves and to the public.

The latter is undecided as to which is the better man, Mushy or Spug.

But in the rival camps each knows decisively which will win.

Mushy has had a habit of picking on boys he figures he can beat and then sends Eddie Sears out into the market to get his man.

Spug, coached by the crafty Spider Kelley, thinks the battle will be as one-sided as that one which was fought between David and Goliath several seasons ago.

Meyers has the stiffer punch when it connects. He has pulled other decisions out of the fire with one wallop, just as he did last week at San Francisco, when he raked over Pat Mills for a knockout after being outpointed.

Spug boxed the logger a draw about a year ago. Mushy won nine out of ten rounds from Dode at Hollywood a few weeks back.

Another barometer of Spug's sock is that he knocked Ace Hudkins down once during their engagement. Mushy never faced the Ace, but claims the Hudkins family declines to talk of anything but weather when approached on the subject.

Mushy was born in New York, moved to San Francisco when he was 2 years of age. He learned to fight as a newsboy holding down a stormy corner against all comers.

Spug is a college chap from Pocatello. He learned to box to keep from being a telegrapher.

Georgie Rivers and Young Nationalista meet in the other half of the double main event, ten rounds.

Nationalista boxed Rivers up north three weeks ago. It was a draw.

Rivers is a boring-in fighter much like his namesake of another era of boxing, Joe Rivers.

Nationalista is a jumping sort of boxer and has a right hand at long range, the kind that makes smelling salts necessary.

Jimmy McLarnin, who meets Bud Taylor at Vernon June 2, says that Nationalista is the only fighter who ever hurt him.

Toby Montoya faces Don Levy in a six. Johnny Holly and Billy Knight put on the curtain-raiser in a four.

The weights for the two main bouts are:

MANDELL ARRIVES TODAY

Interest in Dick Donald's big elimination battles at Ascot Park on June 6 will be all hopped up this afternoon with the arrival of Sammy Mandell in Los Angeles. The Rockford sheik and his party will blow into the city about two bells via the Santa Fe and there will be quite a demonstration at the station by movie folks and others who came, saw and liked the Illinois Wop during his stay out here in the wide open spaces last fall.

Sammy will be accompanied by Barney Abel of Chicago, and Joe Levy, former manager of Joe Rivers. Abel will represent Eddie Kane, Mandell's manager. Kane is held in New York because of the imminent clash between Tommy Gibons and Gene Tunney, but will beat it for the Coast as soon as that brawl is concluded.

Sammy Mandell

A wire from Abel yesterday morning from Albuquerque, N. M., announced that Mandell was feeling fine and would be ready to start hard training immediately upon his arrival here. The week's rest he has had since his last fight in New York has done him a world of good, according to word from Chicago, and he should get into his training grind with plenty of spirit.

Phil Salvadore, who will be Mandell's opponent in one of the Ascot Park ten-round main events, has surprised the most pessimistic of the local ring fans. The Los Angeles Italian is boxing faster, punching better and looking finer than at any time in his ring career. Most of the fight fans are expecting the Mandell-Salvadore fuss to bristle with class along orthodox boxing lines, while the O'Brien-Hudkins melee is ex-

SHAKE-UP OF SACS LOOMS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 25. — A shake-up is coming among the players on the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, it was stated today by Lewis Moreing, one of the owners of the club. Moreing said he was about to release Bill James, pitcher, and send Harry Thompson, left-hand hurler, to the Shreveport club of the Texas League. Moreing also intimated there would be other changes in the roster.

The Senators' boss refused to confirm reports that Charlie Cochran, outfielder, and Bobby Schang, utility man and catcher, also are to be disposed of. He did say, however, that he intends to provide some new talent.

ON VERNON BILL

George Rivers tackles Young Nationalista in one of the two ten-round scraps at the Vernon arena tonight. Rivers never fails to put up a whale of a battle and it may be that the little fellows will out-shine Mushy Callahan and Spug Meyers who are to clash in the other big fight of the evening.

FRASER IS WINNER OF PRO EVENT

Leads Stellar Field to Win Low Gross in Professional Sweepstakes at Griffith

Chick Fraser, Midwick's popular and hard-hitting golf professional, led a sterling field of Southern California pros to win low gross honors with a 74 in the regular semi-monthly professional sweepstakes at Griffith Park yesterday.

Chick Fraser

Ed Gayer, Hillcrest's portly pro, who leaves this morning for the national open at Worcester, Mass., shot a 75 to tie with Gymn Bowen for second low gross honors. L. P. Palmer, shooting under the all-enfolding amateur anner, won low bnet with a 74.

Charlie Guest, Jack Jacobs and J. A. Patterson Griffith, professional and traveling secretary of the Southern pro outfit, tied for second low net trophy, all reducing their cards to 75.

Yesterday's scores in the big-gun play equaled the best that have ever been recorded over the Griffith course, and marks the last local appearance for several weeks of Gayer and Guest, who will leave for the national this morning.

VERNON TIGERS TAKE ON BEES

Clubs Hook Up at Washington Park Today

Bengals May Get Help from the Big Leagues

BY BRAVEN DYER

The Vernon Tigers, fresh from dropping six out of seven games to the San Francisco Seals, and the Salt Lake Bees, even more fresh from grabbing the same number of contests from Seattle, engage in the great national pastime at Washington Park this afternoon. Both ball clubs are traveling at a rapid rate—only in opposite directions. The Bees are the only team near the league-leading Seals, while there are no clubs anywhere near the Bengals, who have all but dropped out of the loop.

It took the Tigers until the last inning of the final clash at San Francisco Sunday to win a game from the Seals. If they take that long against the Bees this week there probably won't be any fans left at Washington Park to see them turn the trick. Bill Essick has long been in the market for some new players. He still is. That's all the good it does him for he can't get 'em. The majors are due to cut down June 1 and help may be coming soon after that. It can't come too soon to suit Essick.

The Bengal pitchers have been twirling some fine baseball, the club dropping a number of games by one-run margins. Lack of hitting power has made it mighty tough on the moundsmen. Big Herman Pillette, former Detroit American League tosser, has been showing well, but his mates generally fail to get him more than one or two runs. Wee Ludolph has also been firing 'em over in fine fashion, while Clyde Barfoot's work ranks with the best on the club.

Salt Lake is making a determined effort to overhaul the runaway Seals and ought to do some fattening up again this week while Bert Ellison's gang is in Seattle. The Bees figure to take more games from the Tigers than do the Seals from the Indians. Manager Oscar Vitt, the peppery Salt Lake leader, has been pounding the apple vigorously and finds himself in third place with a .336 mark. Vitt is a popular pilot and has the Bees hustling. Tony Lazzerre and Lefty O'Doul are following Wally Hood and Frank Brazill in the matter of home runs.

Vernon may get Bobby Schang, catcher, from Sacramento via the waiver route. Denny Murphy, Vernon backstop, is out for the rest of the season with a broken foot. Truck Hannah has been doing most of the work, with Whitney also receiving. Schang will come in handy.

WILBERT ROBINSON ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BROOKLYN CLUB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Baseball today rewarded Wilbert Robinson for forty years of service as a player and manager by his election to the presidency of the Brooklyn National League club.

The elevation of the veteran manager to the post left vacant by the death of Charles H. Ebbetts will not take from the game one of its most popular leaders, however. After he had been chosen by the board of directors this afternoon, Robinson, who for eleven years has been pilot of the Brooklyn team, announced he would continue to direct the club from the playing bench throughout the remainder of the season.

Robinson's decision gives him a distinctive position in major league baseball since he will be the game's only president-manager.

It was announced, however, that he will be partly relieved as pilot of the team by the appointment of Zach Wheat as assistant manager. Wheat is the veteran player of the club. Jacques Fournier will succeed the slugging outfielder as captain.

The selection of "Uncle Robby," as he is popularly known to the baseball world, met with general favor among fandom and ocials.

FAMOUS JOCKEY WHO PILOTED BAKERY WAGON NAG TO FAME PLANS RACE TRACK COMEBACK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Old-time sportsmen will recall Galathe, once a race horse, but who had been relegated to hauling a bakery wagon in Chicago. Jockey Arthur D. Connors believed Galathe still had a good race or two in him, so he took him from the bakery wagon, trained him and pulled down a big handicap race at Hawthorne in 1902, defeating a fine line of thoroughbreds.

Galathe, of course, has passed along, but Connors, inspired by the "comeback" of several old jockeys, has gone into training to reduce and hopes to be ready to accept mounts at the opening of the Hawthorne meet, July 2. He is 39 years old and weighs 116 pounds and knows all the tricks of the racetrack. His father was a well-known jockey in England.

HACK MILLER BACK TO OAKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Lawrence "Hack" Miller, slugging outfielder of the Chicago Clubs, tonight was released to the Oakland Pacific Coast League Club. Clark Pittenger, infielder, who was returned to the Cubs by the Los Angeles club, reported to Manager Killefer at Pittsburgh today.

ERNIE GOOZEMAN HEADS C.P.O. BILL

Ernie Gooseman, hard-hitting featherweight, will be in a ten-round spot at the C.P.O. Club Thursday night, when he will take on Joe Burns, the hard-socking Vernon featherweight.

Sailor Don Levy will clash with Sailor Bud Oswald in the six-round semi-wind-up. Both are shifty and hard-hitting tars who should supply plenty of action for the six rounds. Oswald was formerly on the U.S.S. Tennessee and is a puzzling southpaw.

In the special attraction Jap Romero tackles Young Cumpson over the six-round route. Two rattling good four-round preliminaries complete a card that smacks of class.

WINGO BENCHED BY FRACTURED FINGER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI (O.) May 25.—The Cincinnati Nationals lost their second catcher for a period of at least three weeks today, when an X-ray report made by the club physicians showed a fractured finger on Ivy Wingo's throwing hand.

Wingo has been catching regularly since a similar injury took Bubbles Hargrave, the first-string backstop, out of the game several weeks ago. Frank Bruggy, the old Philadelphia Athletic catcher, has been called upon to help out Astyanix Douglas, the third-string catcher and will report for duty tomorrow.

SID BARBARIAN IN FRESNO GO TONIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, May 25. — Sid Barbarian, Detroit lightweight, and Dominick McCarthy of Chicago completed training today for their ten-round go tomorrow night which will feature the American Legion boxing card. Both boys will scale around 127 pounds. Five other bouts complete the offerings.

City Title to be Decided in Game With Jefferson

The Pioneers are not only fair and fast, but they're a lucky and smart ball club. All of which is another way of saying that L. A. High defeated Polytechnic, 5 to 0, in their annual baseball clash, at Washington Park, yesterday despite the fact that they were outhit and outplayed. King, Voyle Brennen's pocket-edition twirler, was in great form, letting the hard-hitting Blue and White squad down with four hits. Louie Alamada allowed Poly six safeties. The Mechanic fielders made one or two bad breaks at inopportune moments and donated L. A. the majority of its runs. Contrarily, the Pioneer infielders, tightened in the pinches, allowing but two runners to reach third base.

Ol' Man Luck not only gave Los Angeles the majority of its runs, but kept Poly from scoring, although they filled the bases more than once. When things began to get tight, the winners played smart ball. The rest of the time they weren't so good.

HERBERT WHITE

In the first inning, Carroll, Mechanic lead-off batter, singled and went to second on a wild pitch. Watanabe walked. Newman, one of the most consistent sluggers in the city, came up. Instead of bouncing the ball off the left-field fence, as he ordinarily would, the Mechanic outfielder, lined to Layne, forcing Carroll at third. This made two outs, with Ed Griffith at bat. A single would have meant a run, but Griffith popped to Alamada, retiring the side.

Paul Wold, Annandale, Wins Low Gross Honors in Pasadena Invitation Golf To

TOPS FIELD OF 50 QUALIFIERS

T. R. Palmer and C. P. Erdman Tie for Second

Large Field to Qualify in Classic Today

Match Play in All Flights Starts Tomorrow

Paul Wold of Annandale shot a 78 to win low gross and also low net honors in the first qualifying round of the invitational golf tourney at the Pasadena Golf Club yesterday.

T. R. Palmer, hard-hitting southpaw from La Cumbre, and C. P. Erdman of Annandale tied for second low gross honors when both got home in 76. L. P. Ferguson, star Brentwood golfer; Stan Hughes, Hollywood, and W. H. Whitcomb finished with 78s in a qualifying field numbering more than fifty leading amateur golfers.

With the first qualifying round out of the way, tournament officials have completed arrangements to care for at least 125 more entrants who will qualify in the Pasadena classic today. A. Bullock-Webster of Hollywood, State open champion, and Harlow Hurley, Los Angeles ace, will lead the fast field enrolled for today.

The Pasadena course is in wonderful shape and despite the high qualifying scores many pars and birdies fell before yesterday's golfers. T. R. Palmer sunk a long approach shot for an eagle 3 on the 385-yard thirteenth hole.

Players who wish to qualify today are requested to call the caddy house at Pasadena for playing time appointments.

78—Paul Wold, 76-2—82.
76—T. R. Palmer, 76-6—76. C. P. Erdman, 76-2—78.

Crossman Has Field Day in Rifle Shoot

Capt. E. C. Crossman won two first and took second place in the three-trophy shoot of the Los Angeles Rifle Club at Schutzen Park yesterday. All shooting was at 200 yards on the 200-yard international target.

The Captain's first win came when he captured a leg on his own trophy which is open to only .22 caliber rifle and sights. The captain dropped but two points on his last five shots which is remarkable when he used iron sights and a .22 caliber rifle. His second victory came in the W. D. Murphy match when he nosed out Ned Cutting by banging out a 94 to Cutting's 93. Cutting needed a 10 on his last shot to win and with it would have got the Murphy trophy permanently, as Cutting holds four legs on this handsome cup.

I. O. Gardiner had things his own way in the H. E. Sargent Pan-American match and romped home an easy victor when he banged out a 237. This match calls for ten shots each in the prone, kneeling and off-hand positions. Capt. Crossman took second in this match, barely nosing out E. D. Neff and W. D. Murphy who finished close on his heels.

The scores:

E. C. Crossman Trophy:	E. O. Neff 99
Capt. E. C. Crossman 85	C. L. Stotts 99
C. L. Stotzinger 94	F. O. Blanchett 99

SEVEN BOUTS BILLED FOR NEWSBOYS' CLUB

Seven bouts are scheduled for the Newsboys' Club boxing show tomorrow night with Tony Fuente's kid brother, Mickey Fuente, heading the bill. He meets Tinnio Parra at 112 pounds. The semi-wind-up features Kid Mexico and Robert Rodrigues.

TIGHTEN REGULATIONS ON FISH AND GAME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 25.—Close oversight will be known this summer over trout fishing on the streams of the White Mountain region, beginning June 1 and ending August 1. In addition to the ordinary State regulations and license, a charge of 25 cents a day will be made for each fisherman and 25 cents a day for families, while no fishing will be permitted on the headwaters above where signs will be placed on each stream. No hunting will be allowed on the Apache Indian Reservation.

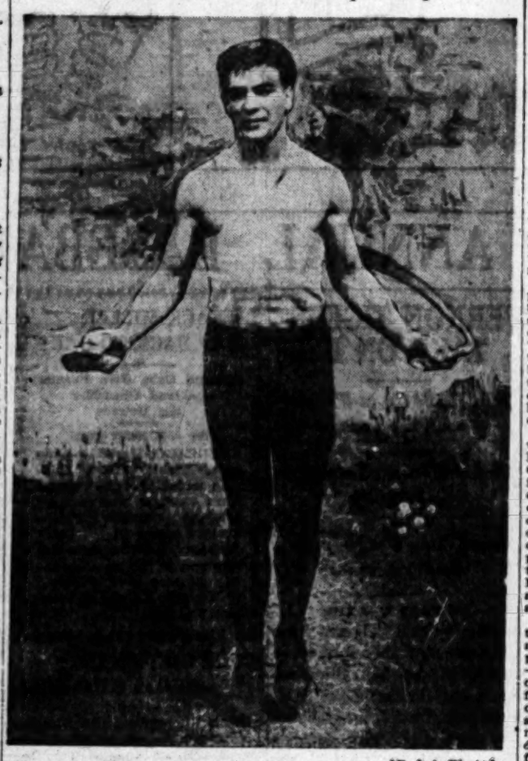
BERLENBACH TRAINS FOR BOUT

Punch 'Em Paul Skips Rope



[P. & A. Photo]

Paul Berlenbach

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 24. — Dan Hickey, trainer for Paul Berlenbach, who fights Mike McTigue Friday at the Yankee Stadium, was formerly the boxing instructor at the New York A. C. He succeeded Mike Donovan, who held the job for years, much like George Dawson at the C.A.A., before Benny Yanger took hold. Now in turn at the New York club is Arthur Donovan, a son of Mike.

Hickey is very particular with his charge. When Berlenbach contracted a cold, the trainer took him out to Summit, N. J., until he got rid of it. Hickey at one time, handled Bob Fitzsimmons and managed him.

OLD GIANT TRAINER

McTigue's trainer is Dr. Bagley, who formerly acted as trainer for the Giants.

"Will you take $1000 to be in my corner the night of the fight?" McTigue said to Bagley. "And if I win I'll not forget ye."

"I will," said Doc briskly. Thus does McTigue lay his plans, bit by bit, until he is satisfied.

Bagley manages fighters and supplies referees to clubs. He has agreed to send Yale Okun to box with Tommy Gibbons. Okun is a young light heavyweight. Bagley said he had brought Gene Tunney up to where he was to fight for the heavyweight honors and then split with him. He said he introduced Tunney to the game as he has done Okun. Both boxers received $30 for their first fight, both made their opening showing at the same club, the Oakland A. C., in Newark, N. J., and both secured knockouts of opponents in the first round. Bagley's dream is to prepare Okun until he can meet and knock out Tunney in a New York ring. Okun weighs between 168 and 172 pounds and has had twenty fights.

BOXES A LOT

Of the two boxers for the light heavyweight title of the world, McTigue appears to do much more boxing than does Berlenbach. Twelve rounds, three against Ray Newman, is his task. He is a tricky boxer and likes to pull out an opponent's lead and work inside of it. Bagley has taught him the Fitzsimmons shift. This is worked by getting an opponent to lead a left and then slapping it toward his right hand with his right-hand glove. At the same time the feet are brought together on a line and the boxer is on his toes. He then quickly hooks a left to the body under the left hand of his opponent. The whole thing must be worked swiftly to be effective. Fitzsimmons nearly tore Corbett apart when he hit him with this blow.

McTigue's footwork carries him from side to side, rather than forward and back. This keeps an opponent continually off balance to face or chase him.

Asked about his plans after this fight—if he would return to Ireland, win or lose—McTigue said:

"No, I do not think I will go back to Ireland. I have an engagement to fight Jack Delaney six weeks after I meet Berlenbach."

Both boxers, McTigue and Berlenbach, have agreed with Tex Rickard to fight the winner of the Delaney-Murello fight, which is a preliminary on the 29th inst., card.

DUTCH OLYMPIC GAMES ASSURED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

THE HAGUE, May 25.—The Dutch Olympic committee announces that it has raised sufficient funds by private subscription to enable the Netherlands to hold the Olympic Games in 1928 after Parliament refused to vote credits from the national budget.

William Wrigley's contribution of $4000 was among the last received.

A telegram announcing that Holland will hold the games was sent to Prague, where the international committee is meeting today.

CLIFFE SCORES KAYO IN HOME TOWN BOUT

Roy Cliffe returned to his home town, Courtenay, B. C., Saturday, and celebrated by knocking out Al Morris in the seventh round of what was to have been an eight-round clash, according to word received here yesterday from his manager, Lonnie Austin. Cliffe's townsmen gave him a royal welcome and went wild when he knocked out the tough Morris, who weighs 180 pounds, the wire stated.

HOLLYWOOD BREAKS MARK

Coach Clyde Swendsen's Hollywood High School relay team, which took part in the State swim meet at the L.A.A.C. Saturday night created a new national record for the 800-foot relay race. The Movie City paddlers did the distance in 2m. 30 2-5s., as against the old mark of 2m. 35 4-5s. The West Philadelphia High School team established the former record on February 5, 1919. Capt. Ray Kenison, Chester Floyd, Bob Frank and Maurice Daugherty swam on the record-breaking Hollywood team Saturday night.

PROS LEAVE FOR ANNUAL OPEN TODAY

Kerrigan, Gayer and Guest to Boost California in Great Golf Event

BY W. C. WISE

J. A. "Pat" Patterson, genial secretary of the Southern California Professional Golfers' Association, who is planning an extended vacation necessitated by ill health, was guest of honor at a banquet tendered by members of the association in the Alexandria Hotel last night.

More than thirty members of the pro association, including three of the four members who will represent California in the national open next week, gathered to wish "Pat" more than his quota of returning health. Pat's partial breakdown can be traced directly to the Warren G. Harding golf course in Griffith Park, where he has been attending to professional duties for months past.

Hunter has already gone—but with Ed Gayer, Hillcrest; George Kerrigan, Flintridge, and Charlie Guest, Southern California's golfing fraternity have a wonderful quartet to draw to in the national event at Worcester. Guest, the only member of the association to qualify for the annual classic without the moral and financial support of a good club, will make the trip east, through the wholehearted generosity and far-seeing ability of Jack Malley's professional organization.

Realizing that Guest is one of the finest golfers in the State—also one of the youngest and most popular of the big-gun fraternity—and knowing of the wonderful opportunity the national opens up for the ambitious golfer, members of the association lost no time in advancing the necessary expense money. Harry Pressler, Hacienda's popular professional, also offered to advance the money and there were many other members of the outfit ready to help Guest achieve the golfing ambition of a lifetime.

The only trouble about letting Charlie go back East is that California stands to lose a coming star for every entrant in the classic is besieged with offers of ranking national clubs. Hunter, Kerrigan and Gayer all have the staunch support of their respective clubs—while each have received numerous offers in the past—they will be back. A good club is going to make a rapid stride ahead when they grab Guest and the writer—one of the vast golfing fraternity, sincerely hopes a Southern California club secures the youngster.

Hunter, with his vast tournament experience, Kerrigan because he, too, has been through the grind—and Ed Gayer because he knows the route—have played through the classic and have the ability to play through and win—and Charlie Guest—youngest of the quartet—because he has the ability and the nerve—surely a wonderful four to back in the event. California may rest assured that those boys are going to tack the California emblem near the top of the flag pole carrying the winning banner in the world's greatest golf event.

Kerrigan, Gayer and Guest will leave on the California Limited at noon today for Worcester, Mass., where play in the open will start June 3.

Willie Hunter, Brentwood, former British amateur champion and runner-up in many of the golfing world's foremost tornaments, who won low gross honors in the West Coast qualifying rounds last week, left for the East Sunday. Joe Novak of Berkeley, second low scorer in the qualifying trials, will leave from San Francisco this morning, completing the five entrants allowed in the Pacific Coast in the event, that will draw the world's greatest golfers next week.

Good luck!

TRAEGER CHAIRMAN OF BENEFIT COMMITTEE

Sheriff William T. Traeger was elected chairman of a committee to formulate plans for the Old Timers' ball game, at a meeting of the Association of Professional Baseball Players at the Dinty Moore restaurant Saturday. Other members of the committee are, Joseph Scott, Dan Tobey, Rexey Goodcell, George Preslin, Francis Patrick Shanley, Judge Fleming, Al Settle, Ray Laswell, Barney Oldfield and Charley Murray.

The Old Timers' game will be staged at Washington Park, June 16, between picked teams under "Dad" Meeks and "Pop" Dillon. The proceeds will go toward the erection of a home for disabled ball players.

FAMED ATHLETES TO PASS

Famous athletes who have in recent years won glory in Pacific Coast collegiate sports will soon pass from the picture. Among them are Capt. Babe Horrell, California all-American football star; Stanford loses Capt. Jim Lawson, the clever defensive end; Harry Shipkey, tackle extraordinary, and Cuddeback, who starred against California last fall. In track California loses Capt. Al Becker and a few others, while Stanford will graduate Glenn Hartranft, the great weight thrower, Hugo Leistner, three times double hurdler winner against the Bears, and others.

SPORTSMEN ON SCOUTING TRIP

Here's Pete Peterson Whetting His Knife and Appetite

FOR the benefit of the thousands of vacationists and outdoor-loving people in Southern California, the B. H. Dyas Company in co-operation with the Howard Automobile Company will start the longest scouting trip ever undertaken by a local organization tomorrow morning, when Pete Petersoh and Frank M. Bockway go on a survey of the Pacific Northwest for camping, hunting, fishing and road conditions.

For years Peterson has been a recognized authority in these parts on fishing and hunting. He has made many trips in California to get the information for the sportsmen. Bockway is the Dyas Company's publicity manager and will make all of the data secured on the journey into book form upon the return.

Practically all camps that can be reached, at least in the State of Oregon, will be visited by the two scouts. Every attention will be paid to the best places to fish.

Hundreds of inquiries have been received this season at Dyas and various other local organizations from Southern Californians about the northern fishing and camping conditions in particular. Very little information has been available with the exception of the splendid map of Oregon, recently completed by the Southern California Automobile Club.

As near as has been mapped out in advance, Peterson and Bockway will be gone about a month. A Buick scout car will be used to make the long journey.

AND THE BOY STAYED DOWN FOR THE COUNT

BY AL DEMAREE
(Former pitcher New York Giants)

Tommy Gibbons, the St. Paul heavyweight who fights Gene Tunney at the Polo Grounds, New York, on June 5, is a great story teller, besides being a marvel of the ring. In one of his yarns he tells about a young boxer from Grand Rapids who was boxing a local fighter in another town.

He was a great favorite at home, and his friends had backed him heavily. But he had progressed only a few rounds when he ran into a wild right hand swing that landed on his jaw, and down he went.

"Remember your friends back in Grand Rapids," his manager shouted to him, and the boy staggered to his feet, only to be knocked down again.

"Remember your friends back home," his manager again cried. Again the boy arose, and again he kissed the canvas.

"Remember your friends back in Grand Rapids," the manager shouted into his ear. The boxer turned a glazed eye in his manager's direction. "Tell 'em to stay there," he muttered, and stayed down.

Hollis Thurston, star Chicago White Sox pitcher, claims he's had one big thrill in baseball that tops all the rest. Al Demaree tells you about it tomorrow.

Hollywood to Hold Monthly Boxing Bouts

The Hollywood Athletic Club's big boxing show comes off tomorrow at 8:15 p.m., and if everything happens to some of the boxers as Bob Howard predicts, then there will be a lot of pasting done. Two mighty good boys meet in the main event. M. Lomelli faces Jimmy Bronson. Bronson is the boy that beat Jimmy Piele at the movie city club some time ago.

Besides seven high-class bouts there will be three wrestling matches. Harold Pitcher, Coast flyweight champion, meets Teddy Fogel in the big wrestling bout of the night. Fogel finished second in the Pacific Coast wrestling championship tournament. There will also be four acts of vaudeville and songs by the Hollywood Athletic Club male quartet.

The bouts will start promptly at 8:15 p.m. George L. Eastman invites the members to turn out for the bouts and bring their friends. There will be a big surprise for everybody that attends.

Women's Golf Teams Play in League Series

Women's interclub golf team matches will be resumed today with five struggles on tap. The Midwick team has already cinched the title, having rolled up such a goodly number of points that they can't be caught. Midwick meets Annandale at Annandale today. San Gabriel goes over to Brentwood. California and Hollywood meet on the latter's course. Hillcrest entertains Wilshire, and Los Angeles clashes with Flintridge at Flintridge.

After today's matches, the fair golfers' schedule will include one more clash before it ends. Midwick has cinched the title, but the rest of the places are still in doubt and will be decided by today's clashes.

ARIZONA HAS ENTRIES IN HIGH SCHOOL MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 25.—Arizona is to have representation in the national high-school athletic meet in Chicago June 7 to 9. From Phoenix will go Coach R. R. Robinson, Capt. Huff, leader of this year's State champion track team, and Irish McArdle, State record-holder at 100 and 200 yards, the former done in 10s. flat. Huff also is a relay man, runs at 440 yards, broad jumps and puts the shot. McArdle puts the shot, is good with the discus and is a crack end in football.

RACE BETWEEN BOAT, TRAIN IS POSTPONED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Predictions of adverse weather have led Gar Wood to postpone until tomorrow the race between two of his speed boats and the Twentieth Century Limited down the Hudson River from Albany to New York. The race was scheduled for today.

SPAULDING ON HIS WAY EAST

Grizzly Grid Mentor Leaves for Minneapolis

Southern Branch Students in Big Send-Off

Coach Promises to Return as Soon as Possible

Bill Spaulding, the new Southern Branch football coach, left last night for Minneapolis following a busy day at the local institution of learning. Spaulding went by way of San Francisco, where he will spend a day or so with Dr. Boles Rosenthal — now plain Boles, as the result of a recent court action which deprived him of his last name. Spaulding and Boles are old cronies.

Yesterday afternoon a monster rally was staged at the Grizzly auditorium, Spaulding speaking to more than 2000 students. The eds and co-eds gave him a big send-off.

The new mentor will return here either in the fall or in February. He has agreed to remain at Minnesota in case Gopher authorities cannot get a new coach to suit them. If the Minnesota officials are successful in their quest Spaulding will be given the opportunity of returning here in time to handle grid work in September. Should it be necessary for him to stay in the Mid-West Leonard Frank, one of his assistants, will take charge here in the fall.

Athletic heads at Southern Branch have entered whole-heartedly into the coming of Spaulding. The old men, without even knowing whether they are to be retained under the new regime, have given him their backing and the complete support of all concerned is assured Big Bill whenever he returns.

LIGHTWEIGHTS TOP COMPTON FIGHT CARD

One of the best lightweight scraps that could be offered in any arena will take place at Compton Friday night. Jack Spar and Buck Curtis of Long Beach will meet in the eight-round main event. Spar is about the best lightweight on the Coast, with the exception of those participating in the Ascot tournament. Curtis has been going great at Wilmington. Last week he knocked out Roy Tucker in six rounds and three weeks ago he held the hard-hitting Sammy Santos to a draw. He is the best drawing card in the harbor district.

Scotty Horan signed Bud Cougler to fight Young Jargo in the six-round semi-wind-up. Herb White's classy feather, Frankie Boldt, will slug with Young Alexander in the six-round special event. Others bouts: Willy Otis vs. George Lopez, 114 pounds, four rounds, curtain-raiser bout.

RENAULT ARRIVES IN NORTH FOR RING GO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. — Jack Renault, Canadian heavy, who will meet George Godfrey of Philadelphia, as the new Mission Athletic Club's principal attraction June 6, arrived today to begin training. Renault had been expected at Oakland since last Sunday afternoon when a delegation was lined up to receive him. At his hotel today the former Royal Mounted policeman explained that he had taken the wrong train out of Cleveland by mistake and did not learn of his error until he woke up in Los Angeles Sunday morning.

GIRLS INCREASE SPORTS

A few years ago the high school girl athlete was rather busy when she participated in tennis, baseball and swimming during the spring term. Now the calendar of activities includes track sport, rifle shooting, horseback riding, hemenway ball, field hockey and organized hiking clubs.

HOLD LITTLE OLYMPICS

The Finnish American A.A., will hold a big track meet in Grant Park, Chicago, on Memorial Day on a scale similar to the Olympic festival. While the original Olympic renewal occurs every four years, the Chicago organization plans to hold its Chicago Olympics every two years.

SEVEN CRAFT ENTER RACE

Seven boats have so far entered the San Francisco to Tahiti yacht race, which will be held in June. It will be the longest race of the kind ever staged by the enthusiasts of white-winged pleasure craft, and will test the sailing ability of the Pacific Coast yachtsmen.

DROPS TWO GAMES

Owen Carroll, the Holy Cross pitching ace, with the recent victory over Villanova College chalked up his forty-first win in four years as a member of the Worcester diamond stars. Carroll has only suffered two defeats. He is to join Detroit upon graduating in June.

BENNY MAN NOT MEAN IT

If a new lightweight boxer should be named and the public demand a return of Benny Leonard to the squared circle, then the retired holder of the lightweight crown might consider a return to the ring.

HOLD TRYOUTS IN NEW YORK

The Metropolitan Association of the A.A.U. will conduct tryouts at Travers Island, N. Y., June 20, to select a team for the national A.A.U. junior and senior track and field championships at San Francisco July 3, 4 and 5.

The Northerners certainly slipped one over on us when they signed up Jimmy Mc... ...Larnin and Pancho Villa. Should Jimmy clean up on the Filipino champ, while it wouldn't deprive him of his flyweight title, since they are fighting at practically the feather limit, it would make it rather difficult to get him to battle Pidel La Barba, the local youngster who really has a chance to take it away from him if anybody has.

We note among the names of the referees eligible to han... ...dle the Hudkins-O'Brien-Sal... ...vadore-Mandell soiree, that of Abraham Jacob Roth. We haven't seen Abe perform as a referee yet but we've an idea that he's a bear. He was a good fighter himself, both Marquis of Queensberry and gutter rules, has a good level head and when it comes to honesty is the young man who Diogenes spent his lifetime looking for. We'd like to see Abe do his stuff.

...pected to bring out the slugging ...pyrotechnics.

Tommy O'Brien, already down to weight, announced yesterday that he would take a layoff from training for several days in order that he might not go stale. The Irishman is a high-strung individual and makes every workout a fight. He is now almost on edge and is fearful that in his anxiety to get "right" he will overdo things, so will rest, probably, until Friday.

Ace Hudkins continues to do his daily dozen at the Newsboys' Club. The Nebraskan is a willing trainer and members of his camp declare they have never before seen Ace punching so hard. His body blows are carrying lots of steam and he goes about eight rounds daily without a long breath.

The installation of seats is going on rapidly at Ascot Park and the big arena will be practically completed by the end of this week. Carpenters are also installing a row of boxes and the seating contractors have a big crew of men on the job.

Ticket sales are holding up magnificently and the early predictions of the biggest house in California's boxing history are now certain to be borne out.

Waner Passes Frank Brazill in Bat Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. — Paul Waner of the San Francisco club forged to the top of the batting list of the Pacific Coast League during the past week's play and is now batting an average of .422, unofficial figures show. These figures include Saturday's games. Frank Brazill, slugging third-bagger for Seattle, who has set the pace for the last several weeks, dropped into second place with a .426 average.

Oscar Vitt, pilot of the Salt Lake Bees, is showing the way in his club with an average of .346. In the Portland outfit, High tops the list with .382. Louis Guisto leads the Oaks with .376. Hemingway leads the Vernon Tigers with .355; Jacobs the Angels with .322, and Kopp the Senators with .290.

Brazill, Laserre, Salt Lake, and Hood, Los Angeles, are tied for home-run honors with nine each.

DID YOU KNOW THAT---

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Johnny McHugh has started about 80,000 races a year for the last twenty-six years? Johnny is on hand with his cute little pistol at about 300 track meets a year around New York and Philadelphia, and opines that he has started 780,000 races. Since he probably didn't act as starter in as many meets twenty-five years ago as he does nowadays, when every club, church, department store, and insurance company has its own set of games, I think that 750,000 is more nearly correct.

Johnny has started every kind of a race, from the Vanderbilt Cup to a dog race, and he has sent away every track champion of note in the past quarter of a century.

Walter J. Travis is unique among golf champions, because he never played the game in his life until he was 35 years old? Mr. Travis's uniqueness doesn't end there, either, for besides being the only American ever to win the British amateur golf championship, he won it on his first competitive trip abroad. He is considered the greatest putter who ever lived, and must be ranked close to the top of any all-time list of American amateur players.

Ray Schalk, whose major-league batting average for thirteen seasons is .251, once got four hits, all different, in four times at bat? Ray ran the scale with his bat on June 27, 1922, at Detroit, off of Ehmke's and Cole's pitching.

TEAMS IN TERRIFIC TIE-UP

Times Bulldogs and Hollywood A.C. Ball Game Ends All Square; World Records Shattered

BY BILL HENRY

In a game which in some respects was much more remarkable than any in the recent world's series, the Times Bulldogs and Hollywood Athletic Club baseball nines accomplished the impossible feat of both remaining undefeated by playing to a terrific 12-to-12 tie yesterday morning. The contest was staged on the Twilight League diamond before a large and appreciative audience who admitted that the game was well worth the price of admission. Admission was free.

The Bulldogs, despite the absence of several regulars, supported Pitcher Dyer in splendid fashion, while the support behind Floyd Carlton and George Eastman, the well-known millionaire, who pitched for the H.A.C. was equally remarkable. Some of the feats of the fielders have seldom if ever been duplicated outside the comic sections of the newspapers.

After compiling an early lead the Bulldogs sagged slightly and an outburst of four runs put the Hollywood demons ahead, 11 to 9, with two innings to go. The Bulldogs staged a spectacular batting rally which netted one run and then performed the stupendous accomplishment of holding the H.A.C. scoreless in their half of the sixth, the only half-inning in which somebody or other didn't ring the bell.

TIES COUNT

Two runs in the first half of the seventh put the Bulldogs a run to the good, but when the H.A.C. came up for their half of the seventh, George Eastman, the multi-millionaire Hollywood star, singled. A timely hit a moment later brought the well-known billionaire home with the run that tied the score, whereupon the Bulldogs tightened up and subjugated the Clubmen without further tallies.

Probably the more remarkable feature of the contest was the fact that after it was over the Clubmen invited the Journalists to lunch at the H.A.C. and nobody accepted. This is believed to be the first time in history that a newspaper man ever turned down a free feed. It was no slam at the H.A.C., however, as the Bulldogs were afraid of getting down to work late and finding a nice shiney tin can attached to their desk.

For the H.A.C. Dave Butler performed splendidly behind the bat being so big that the wire backstop in front of the grand stand wasn't needed. Bobby Agnew, celebrated screen juvenile, set some kind of a new record by playing second base smoking a cigar. E. Mason Hopper, the demon director, fielded sensationally in the tall grass in right field, and George Eastman, the stupendously wealthy multi-billionaire performed heroically as before mentioned.

TWELVE MIRACLES

For the Bulldogs everybody played so marvelously that the runs scored by the H.A.C. were little short of miracles. Twelve miracles in seven innings comes pretty close to a world's record all by itself. The game will be replayed some later date when both teams have applied sufficient arnica and Sloan's liament (adv't) to put them back in shape. It will probably be one of the features of the 1932 Olympic Games.

BUTLER FAMED AS ATHLETE AND ACTOR

Because his position in the films is a pre-eminent one, few persons know that David Butler, whose latest appearances have been in "Tracked In the Snow Country" and "The Code of the West," and whose next appearance will be in "Havoc" and "The Man on the Box," is an athlete who ranks with the best in the country.

Yet Butler is a star athlete. Not only is he one of the strongest men in the films, an adept boxer, sterling wrestler and all-around gymnastic performer, but he also holds the title of champion squash handball player of Southern California.

SPEED DEMONS TUNE UP

Racing Drivers Burn up Brick Course in Practice for Hoosier Speedway Classic Memorial Day

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—Ideal "tuning" weather brought a score of the fastest autoists known in the world and a horde of avid speed fans to the famed Indianapolis Speedway today, and launched with proper acclaim the week of thrills and speculation which always precede the greatest of all automobile classics—the international 500-mile motor sweepstakes.

Track garages hummed with mysterious activities; rail birds perched at vantage points about the two and one-half mile brick oval, clicked their stop watches and bent attentive ears to the roar of racing motors as they streamed into the long straight-away stretches and flashed about the high-banked turns.

DE PALMA READY

The De Palma and Milton camps were attention centers during the day. Returning to the Hoosier track after a year's tour of "outlaw" racing on the smaller courses, the popular Italian pilot is preparing for the hardest battle in his spectacular career and spending every available minute in training and hard conditioning of his two cars. He has brought Jean Marcenac, former mechanic to the ill-starred Joe Boyer and Ernie Olson, riding mate who helped Jimmy Murphy to many of his victories, to take charge of his two entries, but insists on performing most of the delicate bench operations himself. He has been clocked unofficially at well over 100 miles an hour in some of his practice spins and both of his Miller Specials are termed "dynamite" cars by rival pilots.

The tiny 122-cubic-inch displacement motors which have gone through two years of fire in the top circuit are perfected to the last degree of speed and endurance this season. Next year they will be put aside for even smaller power plants of the ninety-one-cubic-inch type and the old cycle of high-speed and reliability development will commence all over again. Before they are junked, however, they are expected to shatter every speed mark on American tracks and prove the soundness in the small displacement and fuel economy theories that created them.

GUYOT TEAM OUT

Race officials announced during the day that all of the original thirty-four entries will be on hand for the elimination trials with the exception of the Guyot team of three from France.

L.A. HIGH WINS CITY NET TITLE

Pioneers Defeat Hollywood, 12 to 5, in Last Match

Ted Easton Trims Kussman in Hard Clash

Romans End Season Without Being Beaten

Coach Bob Munsey's L. A. High School net team won the city tennis championship yesterday, defeating Hollywood, 12 to 5, in a hard match at the Los Angeles Tennis Club. The Pioneers have not been defeated this year and Hollywood had a similar record up to this game.

Art Kussman, crack L. A. second man, suffered his first defeat of the year when Ted Easton, classy Foothill player, trimmed him in a terrific three-set battle, 8-6, 2-6, 10-8. Both boys were at the top of their game, and the tide of battle swayed from one side to the other with little to choose.

Easton won the first set after Kussman had carried him into deuce. The Pioneer racket wielder ran right through the second set, 6-2. Kussman had a two-game lead on Easton in the third set, but the diminutive Foothiller crept up and tied it 5-5. They went through six more games, leaving the score 8-8. Easton won his own serve to take the seventeenth, and broke through his rival's for the deciding game, set and match.

De Sheilds lost to James, 6-1, 6-1, but Jack Phillips saved the day for the Pioneers with a hard-won victory over Bewarkin, by scores of 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

Easton and Skeen carried Gorchakoff and Kussman, L. A.'s State championship doubles team, to extra games in the first set, but finally succumbed to the machine-like precision, 8-6, 6-2. Phillips and Goodcell ended the match with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Palmer and Stevens of Hollywood.

ROMANS OUTHIT BY MECHANICS

...were saved in such wise. Poly filled the bases in the second inning and Stevens hit a nice, slow fly to Lombardi when there were two dead.

"Dink" Berry, peppery Pioneer catcher, scored the first run in the second frame. He reached first when Cook dropped Watanabe's perfect throw after an easy liner. Alamada sacrificed Berry to second. He stole third and came home on Davis's wild throw to the plate on McKey's hit. Eddie Arnold, who followed Berry at bat, was hit by a pitched ball. He stole second and came two bases on Cook's error also.

TWO IN THE FOURTH

Alamada and Arnold counted again in the fourth. Alamada was safe on Watanabe's wild throw to first base. Arnold got the first hit of the game—an infield single to third base. McKey hit to Watanabe, who threw wild to third base, letting in Alamada and Arnold.

The final marker was scored in the seventh. Faulkner was safe on Watanabe's error. Grimes sacrificed him to second, and Layne got a single, to bring him home.

In many ways, Poly played better baseball than L. A. But the Pioneers were lucky and smart in the pinches, and the Mechanics were just the opposite. The score:

MARTINEZ AND DANNY BILLED AT PASADENA

Interest in the main event at the Pasadena Armory Thursday night is being considerably increased by the fact that Young Danny, one of the principals, who will meet Young Salley over ten rounds, recently knocked out Jack Carr, who is highly regarded in the Crown City. It is recalled that Carr almost beat Sally Martinez, the Pasadena favorite, recently and floored Martinez for a long count.

Young Lancho of Pasadena and Bennie Jordan of San Bernardino will meet in the six-round semi-final at 140 pounds. Jimmy Black and Eddie Shannon, 118 pounders, will meet in the four-round special prelim. The other two four-round prelims are between Stanley Thompson and Vernie Kelterner, 165 pounds, and Henry Meano and Ernie Smith, 110 pounds.

POSTPONED SQUASH PLANNED FOR JUNE

The much-talked-of squash match between Tom Gallery, motion-picture actor, and Dick Hinckley, former Stanford tennis star, originally scheduled for last Sunday, has again been postponed. It was announced yesterday. Owing to a misunderstanding over the date and time, the game was not played as scheduled, and as Gallery will be out of town for almost a week, it is probable that a date some time early in June will be selected. Gallery and Hinckley are to meet in the semifinals of the singles championship tournament, Frank Borzage having won out in the other half of the bracket.

GYM TITLES AT STAKE FRIDAY

Many Entries for Tomorrow Night's Contests

Meet to Extend Over Three Days' Competition

The strong men and gymnasts are having their innings this week at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. On Wednesday and Thursday evenings, beginning at 7 o'clock, the Southern California weight-lifting championships will be held in the Mercury gym, and numerous entries are reported. California has many great lifters and L.A.A.C. is the home of all the present national champions. It is believed a number of new records will be established. The strong men are very evenly matched and ambitious, and the events hold much interest for those interested in lifting.

On Wednesday evening the lightweight and middleweight titles will be determined, and on Thursday night the light-heavyweights and heavyweights will be in evidence. The meets are open to the public.

The invitational gymnastic championships, the classic of the year, in which only winners of the first five places in the Southern California and State meets are allowed to compete, will be held Friday evening. Athletes and fans alike are interested in this, because the limited entry list insures a thrilling exhibition of gymnastic prowess. L.A.A.C. has many champions, among others two present and one former national, who will participate. Rope-climbing, tumbling, club swinging, flying rings, horizontal bar, long horse, side horse, parallel bars and all-around are the events. This meet, open to the public, begins at 8 o'clock.

Captain Roper Meets Chicago Boxer at Beach

Capt. Bob Roper, veteran of scores of ring battles, will face one of the most promising young heavyweights in the game when he mixes with Sandy More of Chicago in the ten-round bout which tops the card at the Wilmington bowl tomorrow night.

More, a youngster who formerly held the heavyweight title of the Central A.A.U., has shown plenty of class in his workouts at the Newsboys' Club at Los Angeles. Gig Rooney, manager of a Southland fight stable which includes Jackie Fields, is training More for Max Richman, who is handling the affairs of the Chicagoan.

Jack Roper, Bob's younger brother, mixes with Frank Freeman, Huntington Beach heavyweight, in the ten-round semi-wind-up. The younger Roper is a promising battler and has won most of his recent starts via the knockout route. Freeman can hit a bit himself, so that affair looks like a sledgehammer fracas.

Kid Huntley of San Pedro and Bob Jones of Redondo have the six-round special spot. They are heavyweights. Kid Como of Long Beach and Jack Freeman of Huntington Beach will open the show.

ATHLETICS COST $350,000.

Connie Mack, it is estimated, spent $350,000 on players for his Athletic nine, which is making a pretty start in the 1925 American League race.

A Fact Conceded by our Competitors which Speaks for Itself

GENTLEMEN—When our sale commenced we naturally looked forward to an increase in sales, but our fondest hopes and imagination did not conceive the tremendous volume of Business which our sale has brought us. True, we have not enriched ourselves but it has enabled us to handle enough money to satisfy those who through trying times helped us to keep our heads above water. This Sale has also served a double purpose, not only has it tended to wake up our old customers who generally responded but enabled us to place on our books the names of hundreds of new customers whom we hope after our Sale to retain as permanent customers. Legitimate Sales cannot endure forever, we beg those that are in need of good clothes to at least look our merchandise over while this opportunity presents itself.

A SALE THAT YOU CAN DEPEND UPON, OUR REPUTATION YOUR GUARANTEE.

GENTLEMEN: We positively guarantee that we'll make to your own individual measure during this value-giving tailoring campaign out of these high-grade fabrics a beautifully and strictly high-class hand-customed, tailored suit for $45 that will be the exact duplicate in style, quality and workmanship of an actual $65 and $70 suit made by the most reliable and reputable tailoring firms in the city; the highest grade of imported linings, trimmings and workmanship will be installed in every garment as though the original selling price of $65 and $70 had been paid. Every garment will be superbly and richly tailored throughout by our own force of expert tailoring mechanics, who have been affiliated with us for years and who have State-wide reputations for needle work, which enables them to command salaries far in excess of bank cashiers. Every garment is tailored in our own workshop and admitted to be one of the most modern, thoroughly equipped tailoring workshops in the country, complying with every law as laid down by the Board of Health. Your garments will be cut and designed by one of America's famous cutters and designers with an international reputation and formerly designer-in-chief for a noted Fifth Avenue tailoring firm, with branches in London and Paris, which doubly insures that the fitting of your suit will be absolutely perfect in every detail. Hence, we enjoy the confidence and patronage of one of the largest and most exclusive clienteles in the City of Los Angeles, which we are duly and justly proud of. The confidence and good will of our fellow men mean far more to us than the accumulation of more than the necessary root of all evil. Every suit ordered during this special event will be made up at the absolute cost of production in order to stimulate business and as sample suits for advertising purposes, thereby killing two birds with one stone, as the old familiar saying goes.

PRESBYTERIANS HINT AT MERGER

May Form Eventual Union With Congregationalists

Fundamentalism is Dealt New Blow by Assembly

Proposal for Co-operation of Denominations Adopted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) May 25.—Militant fundamentalism was dealt another blow in the Presbyterian annual assembly today, when a proposal which may result in eventual union of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America and the Congregational church was adopted.

The 1000 commissioners thunderously voted "aye" in the face of a statement by Dr. Clarence Edward MacArtney of Philadelphia, former moderator, that such a step would "split the Presbyterian church wide open." Part of the feeling on the modernist-fundamentalist controversy found its first expression in the debate on the issue, which at times became heated and personal. The proposal was embodied in a report of the church's department of church cooperation and union, presented by Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, Princeton, N. J.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The recommendations adopted provided that Presbyteries and synods may work out plans for greater co-operation between the Congregationalists and Presbyterians and that measures be taken for a closer union of the denominations' work in the foreign mission field. The Cleveland (O.) Presbytery sponsored the first recommendation and it has been approved, Dr. Stevenson said, by eighty-nine other Presbyteries.

"The Presbyterian church stands at the highways today," said the Rev. Joel M. Hayden of Cleveland, speaking for the proposal of whether to perpetuate a denomination to unite in the work of the living Christ. Favorable action on the recommendation came from an amendment offered by Rev. Henry B. Kirkland, Germantown, Pa., which would have withheld the cooperative steps, was voted down. Rev. Kirkland held that union between the two denominations is impossible. He said that Congregational leaders "are committed to a rationalistic, liberal faith, akin to Unitarianism."

"The Presbyterian church would have to surrender its belief and doctrines for such union," Dr. MacArtney, one of the leaders of the ultra-fundamentalists, declared. The movement is decisive. If you want to split the Presbyterian church wide open, continue to carry on exchanges with the Congregational body."

He asserted that the merger of Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists in Canada has been "tragic" for the first denomination. Rev. J. Duncan Harley of White Fish, Mont., declared the statement a falsehood.

"There is no more significant movement in the world today for Christianity than that in Canada," he said. "I brand as a falsehood the statement that it is tragic. My people all live in Canada and I know. If the assembly is going to turn down this proposal I want to leave the Presbyterian church and join a Christian church."

MAY SETTLE DISPUTE

The way was cleared today for a final settlement tomorrow of the dispute which has centered around the New York Presbytery and the First Church there for permitting Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick to occupy the pulpit of the First Church.

The assembly accepted a report of the bills and overtures committee calling for no action on a memorial of the First Church, which sought vindication for its stand and temporarily tabled majority and minority reports on another presented by the Presbytery, which also asked for such action in its licensing of ministers, which has been attacked.

Baltimore was chosen as the 1926 meeting place of the assembly and it will convene on the fourth Tuesday in May.

Adoption of the report of the policy committee also marked a victory in several instances, for the more liberal element of the church.

Among other things, the assembly rejected an overture from the Presbytery of Northumberland, Pa., which sought to limit employment of special preachers to ministers, licentiates and local evangelists of the Presbyterian faith.

PRESBYTERIANS GIVE APPROVAL OF MERGER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) May 25.—Merging of the "General Council of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches in America" into "The Western Section of the Alliance of Reformed Churches throughout the world holding the Presbyterian system," was voted this afternoon by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

The question of delegating the specific powers of the general council of the Western Section, a kindred question, was reserved until after the quadrennial meeting of the alliance in Cardiff, Wales, next month.

Representatives whose terms expire this year were re-elected to serve until the merger is completed.

The assembly adopted recommendations which would request theological seminaries and summer conferences to add courses on the country church and would urge the Presbyteries and synods to direct home missions committees to use the assembly's training school for students in rural communities.

The bills and overtures committee report, which was adopted, expressed disapproval of lobbying to influence legislation in organizations in which the church has representation; reaffirmed its stand that the Scriptures exclude women from the pulpits of the church and declared the assembly could not approve a pledge of allegiance to the national flag as a part of the worship of God.

A resolution seeking to have the assembly go on record that it opposed the spirit and practice of war was docketed.

NEW LEAGUE OF NATIONS FLAG SEIZED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 25.—The new League of Nations flag has been seized by the Turks and has been prohibited from being flown here. The Straits Commission, which was created under the Straits convention annex to the Lausanne Treaty to report on the number of warships entering the Black Sea and other matters, decided recently that it had to have a League of Nations flag and it chose a dark blue color with two crossed golden bars.

The commission ordered the secretary to raise the flag on the pole over the commission's headquarters along the Bosphorus.

The commission met last Wednesday for a formal flag-raising ceremony and some one asked for the flag.

"I have seized the flag by order of my government," said Admiral Vassif Pasha, the Turkish delegate on the commission. The other delegates almost had apoplexy. "I also regret to say that my government has sent a policeman here," he continued, "and if anyone attempts to raise such a flag the policeman will immediately tear it down."

The delegates have referred the matter to their respective governments and the matter has dveloped into a serious diplomatic incident but Angora is firmly decided to maintain its viewpoint.

The Japanese delegate did not attend the ceremony and the Bulgarian representative supported the Turkish viewpoint. The soviets have never ratified the convention and they refuse to give the commission information regarding its naval forces.

SHOE DEALERS MEET AT SANTA BARBARA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 25.—The California Retail Shoe Dealers' Association opened its annual convention in Santa Barbara today with an address of welcome by Mayor Andera. The first item of business was the annual report of the president, Harry A. Ballentine of San Francisco. After reports were given by officers, John G. McKeeon, president of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association, addressed the delegates on "The Relationship of the Manufacturer to the Retailer." "The Psychology of Selling" was the title of an address given by Prof. Edward K. Strong of Stanford, while O. A. Martin, editor of the Santa Barbara Press, delivered an address on "The Merchant's Duty to his Community."

A PROTEST AGAINST NOISE

ROLLS-ROYCE

"HAVE you ever listened to silence?" asked the owner of a Rolls-Royce. "Then get in—front seat, please—and try to 'hear' this ride."

What is the meaning of Rolls-Royce silence at any speed? Noise in a motor-car is the result of imperfect design and workmanship. It comes from vibration, from loosening of parts, from friction.

Silence is simply the absence of these faults. The same perfection which makes Rolls-Royce silent, also makes it last for 20 years or more and still be a smooth-working, efficient piece of mechanism. Makes it a joy to ride in and to drive.

When you know that it has cost Rolls-Royce only $2 per car to keep the three-year guarantee against failure of any mechanical part, you know what economy is built into this wonderful motor-car.

Let us take you on a 100-mile trial trip and demonstrate to you the comfort and the astonishing silence of this fine motor-car.

SPLIT NEAR IN BRITISH CABINET

Relationship of Members at Breaking Point

English European Policy is Stumbling Block

Resignations Indicated in Near Future

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 25.—The split in the British Cabinet is reaching such a point that it cannot long be concealed and there is every likelihood of resignations soon for the reason that the relations between the members seem so strained that they cannot work together.

Primarily, the quarrel is over the British policy regarding Europe. Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Minister, is leader of the forces who favor British support for the French policy. Lord Birkenhead, Secretary of State for India, is the head of the isolationists.

The situation is further complicated by a personal attack on Lord Birkenhead who, although he receives a salary of £5000 (roughly $25,000) as a member of the Cabinet, supplements this by writing on various subjects for Lord Beaverbrook's papers. This is contrary to all established ideas of British Cabinet etiquette and last Wednesday Neville Chamberlain, Minister of Health and brother of Austen, attacked him directly, telling him to his face that he earned £7000 pounds ($35,000) yearly by writing which, therefore, was his chief source of income, making him dependent on Lord Beaverbrook, who could do as he liked with him.

The question was discussed for a while and then dropped without action on the plea that Prime Minister Baldwin was absent and it would not be fair to take a decision unless he was present.

The isolationists, who killed the Geneva protocol, have now all come out against the German proposal for a guarantee pact on the grounds that while it commits England to come to the defense of France in case she is attacked by Germany, it must, on the other hand, commit England to fight on the side of Germany in the case of an attack by France. This, the isolationists say, would be unthinkable.

The isolationists are now advocating withdrawal altogether from European affairs and concentrating on imperial issues. This, of course, would involve the active co-operation with the United States and dominions in the Pacific against the yellow menace.

In the meanwhile little progress is being made either on the note on German disarmament or the reply to the German security proposal. The French and British have not reached an agreement on the terms of their replies and little action is expected before the end of the week.

Posen and Warsaw, Poland, are to be connected by an airplane line.

ESPEE TO BUILD BORDER BRIDGE

Rio Grande Will be Spanned at Hidalgo

Crossing to be an Extension of Pass Line

Will Intersect Branch of Mexican Railway

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AUSTIN (Tex.) May 25.—It is shown by the copy of the application of the Southern Pacific for authority to construct an extension of its subsidiary, the San Antonio and Aransas Pass, from Falfurrias south to a point on the Rio Grande, filed with the Railroad Commission, that the plans also include the construction of a bridge across the Rio Grande and the establishment of a new international railway gateway between the United States and Mexico.

According to a map which accompanies the application, the proposed crossing point of this new line of the Southern Pacific is at Hidalgo, about sixty miles above Brownsville. It will intersect the Matamoros-Monterey branch of the National Railways of Mexico at Reynosa.

The length of the proposed extension of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass is given as ninety miles. It will touch a number of towns in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, which are already being served by the Gulf Coast Lines.

If the Southern Pacific's pending negotiations for the purchase of the Texas-Mexican Railroad are consummated, the system, with the establishment of a new international gateway at Hidalgo, will have lines extending to and touching at every important point on the United States-Mexico border. These railway gateways include Hidalgo, Laredo, Eagle Pass, El Paso, Naco, Nogales and El Centro.

By its proposed connection with the National Railways of Mexico at Reynosa, Mex., the new line of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass will be in position to divide the Mexican traffic with the Gulf Coast Line which connects with the National Railways at Matamoros.

JAZZ ENTHUSIAST DIES LISTENING IN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 25.—London's radio audience had an unusual fan the other night—a dead man. With earphones clasped to his head Joseph Berkowitz, an inveterate "listener-in," was found in his home sitting in a chair. His face bore lines of rapture, for the program was just what he liked the best—jazz music. But he didn't hear the whole program—for he had died of a heart attack even as the music was sweeping into a dance selection.

VALUE PRINCE'S HOLDINGS

NEW YORK, May 25.—An accounting filed in the Surrogates' Court of the American estate of Albert I, Prince of Monaco, places the value at $218,621. The prince died June 26, 1922. The accounting was filed by the incillary executors appointed to take charge of his property here.

SEES HIS "BOSS" AFTER 38 YEARS

Veteran Letter Carrier Goes to Capital for First Time

President and Postal Chief to Honor Aged Employee

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—For thirty-eight years Bernhard Jedding carried a heavy pack on his back and trudged many miles each day, no matter what the weather, for small pay from a grateful but penny-pinching boss.

Tonight Mr. Jedding, now a gray-haired man with a slight stoop, arrived in Washington with his wife to shake hands for the first time with his boss, who showed his gratitude a few weeks back by granting his faithful employee a small pension in his declining years.

Mr. Jedding is a retired mail carrier. He has come to see Uncle Sam. His trip here from Battle Creek, Mich., where he put up his first sack of mail for city delivery back in 1886, was made possible by the generosity of the satisfied "customers" of his former boss—the residents along the route he trod for thirty-eight years.

The trip was arranged through the efforts of the late Congressman Arthur B. Williams, one of the residents on Jedding's old route. And the only sad feature about the old man's visit is that Mr. Williams, who died suddenly a few weeks ago, will not be here to "show him around."

But Mrs. Williams has placed her car at the aged couple's disposal and a program has been mapped out that will make the veteran postman's eyes sparkle when he hears of it. On Wednesday morning he is to be received by Postmaster-General New and will be taken on a tour of inspection of the Postoffice Department. On Thursday he will be given an audience with President Coolidge. Trips to Mt. Vernon, Arlington, Annapolis and sightseeing trips through the nation's Capitol will keep him on the go up to Friday night.

"I wore out more than 150 pairs of shoes working for Uncle Sam," Mr. Jeddings remarked, "and I thought I'd never get a chance to see him. Now I am the happiest man in the world. But I can't say it is such a warm reception as I expected from the weather standpoint. I always heard Washington was hot, but it's almost as cold here as it was back home yesterday and we had a touch of snow there."

PORTLAND LICENSE ORDINANCE INVALID

BONDS FOR SALESMEN HELD BAR TO INTERSTATE COMMERCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25. — The ordinance of Portland, Or., requiring the payment of license fee and the filing of a bond by persons soliciting orders for goods for future delivery on which they collect payments in advance was declared invalid today by the Supreme Court. The case was brought by the Real Silk Hosiery Mills of Indianapolis.

Cities in Minnesota, California, Iowa, North Dakota, Montana, Louisiana and Washington have similar ordinances. Justice McReynolds, in delivering the opinion, said such a regulation was an unlawful restraint of interstate commerce.

ASIATICS IN AMERICAN FORCES HIT

Supreme Court's Ruling Says World War Service Not Citizenship Claim

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Japanese and other Asiatics who served in the United States Army, Navy or Coast Guard during the World War are not entitled to naturalization, the Supreme Court so decided today.

Privileges extended under the basic naturalization laws, the court said, were specifically limited to aliens who were "free white persons of African nativity and persons of African descent."

A person of the Japanese race, born in Japan, is not eligible, it held, to the special privilege extended for military service since the law authorizing such exemption referred directly to the alien classification set up under the naturalization laws.

Referring to a recent decision in which it was held that citizens of the Philippine Islands "are not aliens," the opinion continued:

"The legitimate history of the act indicates that the intention of Congress was not to enlarge the meaning of the section except in respect of Filipinos qualified by the specified service and we hold that the words 'any alien' are limited by the section to aliens of the color and race there specified."

Soviet to Offer Czar's Crown to American Buyer

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKHOLM, May 25.—The official soviet paper, Krasnaja Gazeta, announces that the finance committee has decided to sell all the Czar's valuables, including the royal regalias. A commission will soon sail for the United States to sell his crown and scepter, the latter decorated with the famous Orloff diamond. The regalias are valued at $150,000,000. The crown was made for the coronation of Catherine II.

NORTHWEST STATES TO EXHIBIT IN EAST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—An industrial exposition displaying the resources and scenic attractions of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will be conducted at Grand Central Palace in 1926, it was announced today at a meeting of business men to indorse the plan.

Though a definite date for the show has not been set, according to Edward P. Kemmer, manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Tacoma, Wash., arrangements for it are being made in the Pacific Northwest States and popular as well as financial support has been assured.

"By visual illustration and personal contact," Mr. Kemmer said, "The exposition is designed to acquaint business factors with the opportunities of the Pacific Northwest. It will embrace every line of activity which is now contributing to the development of Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho."

Edward H. Lang, general traffic manager of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, formerly of Butte, Mont., was named chairman of the New York committee.

PLAN FURTHER DEBT PRESSURE

Three Commission Members Meet at Capital

Government Admits Note Sent to Belgium

Warnings to Other Powers Held Imminent

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Further study was given by high administration officials today to means of exerting additional pressure on the American government's foreign debtors.

Secretaries Mellon of the Treasury; Kellogg of the State Department, and Hoover of the Department of Commerce, the only three members of the American Debt Commission at present in Washington, conferred for several hours on the general debt question.

None of the Debt Commission members would discuss their meeting which coincided, however, with official disclosure that the government's move to hasten funding negotiations from Belgium had taken the form of a direct communication to the Brussels government. While assurance was given that the note to Belgium, delivered late last month by Ambassador Phillips, made no suggestion of harsh treatment of the Belgian debt, it bore, nevertheless, the direct statement that this government believed funding steps should be taken and definite commitments made.

OTHER NOTES LIKELY

Whether the three secretaries took any action at their conference looking to the sending of similar communications to others of the debtor powers remained undisclosed tonight, but there were intimations that such a thought was in the minds of those charged with obtaining settlements of the vast loans made by the United States during and after the war. One official suggested that if such action were decided on, the communications would not be sent out simultaneously, but opportune moments would be awaited for their presentation to the different governments.

Such a course will be in line with the policy adhered to in the initial move to speed up fundings by those nations which have made no start toward a settlement since passage of the Debt Funding Act three years ago, various channels having been utilized for transmission of the information that, in this government's opinion, the time for funding has arrived.

CURE OFFERED FOR FINANCIAL ILLS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 25. — M. Cailliaux, Minister of Finance, today presented his long-discussed remedy of more taxes and better collections to the Chamber of Deputies as the first step in the treatment of France's financial ills. This bill proposes to raise 1,600,000,000 francs additional to that already provided for during the remainder of this year and 3,500,000,000 next year to balance the budget finally and definitely.

The bill was referred to the financial committee of the chamber for report.

M. Cailliaux asserted that France's grave financial situation was due to the failure to balance the budget heretofore, despite the fact that the budgets were often said to have been balanced, and also because of the enormous debt, half of which was short term, without any serious efforts being made to reduce the country's obligations.

"The budget," he said, in introducing his bill, a necessary preliminary to financial rehabilitation, "will make possible and necessary our return to gold money."

Stronger control and taking a part of the profits of oil and insurance companies were proposed, along with higher postal and telegraph rates, increased prices of tobacco and a higher tax on salaries above 20,000 francs yearly. He laid stress on the need of improving the collection of present taxes, and he expected to get much money in this way. His insurance plan calls for the companies to reinsure half of their business with the government.

The Finance Minister said he would not rely on "confidence alone," but would present a bill later bearing on the treasury reserve. He indicated vaguely that this would be some sort of "appeal to credit" that would not be abused.

After making reference to the huge international debt that France would have to face, M. Cailliaux said in conclusion:

"Work and economy—that must be the rule; many taxes, rigid assessment of all revenue without exception or distinction and inexorable taxation of wealth, such are the remedies. Beyond that, all is chimera."

DREDGES CHANNEL OF MEXICAN PORT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GALVESTON (Tex.) May 25.—Agricultural and general business interests of Southeastern Mexico attach the greatest importance to the dredging of a deep-water channel at the port of Frontera, which is the shipping gateway to the State of Tabasco, according to Eduardo Estrado, prominent merchant of Villa Hermosa, capital of that State, who has arrived here.

The harbor and port improvements at Frontera are being made by Col. E. K. Smoot under contract with the Mexican government. Smoot constructed the port works at Mazatlan, Manzanillo and other ports on the Pacific side of Mexico.

LANGLEY CONSPIRACY TRIAL IS POSTPONED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The trial of Representative John W. Langley of Kentucky, charged with conspiracy in connection with asserted illegal whisky withdrawals, was postponed today until the next term of District of Columbia Supreme Court because of Mr. Langley's illness. The case against Russell M. Sackett, a prohibition agent indicted with Langley, was nolle prossed.

ALASKA AND COAST LEAD IN SALMON

Three-fourths of World's Pack Put Up in Canneries of United States

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Three-fourths of the world's pack of canned salmon in 1924 was produced in the Pacific States and Alaska, according to the Commerce Department's Bureau of Fisheries. There were 130 salmon canneries operating in Alaska, thirty-two in Washington, twenty-two in Oregon and two in California. Their combined output exceeded 300,000,000 pounds, or 6,253,577 cases of forty-eight one-pound cans, valued at $42,401,602, as shown by a statistical bulletin of the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

Alaska produced 85 per cent of the domestic pack. There was a decline in output of 30 per cent in the States as compared with 1923, but an increase of 2.5 per cent in Alaska. The increase was due to an unprecedented run of humpback salmon in Central Alaska. The packs in Southeastern and Western Alaska were smaller, in part due to the more stringent regulations put into effect under the new Alaska fisheries law of 1924.

Commissioner O'Malley spent the greater part of the fishing season of 1924 in Alaska waters to note the effect of the regulations and to consider the necessity of further modifications and additions in order to assure the maintenance of this important source of food.

The domestic output of all canned fishery products in 1924 was valued at $72,165,589, and in addition to salmon included 2,267,044 cases of sardines, valued at $12,626,599, 653,416 cases of tuna and tuna-like fishes valued at $5,756,586, 447,481 cases of oysters valued at $2,478,044, 718,517 cases of shrimp valued at $4,608,950, and miscellaneous canned products valued at $4,282,808. Canned fishery products and by-products are shown in detail in the newly issued statistical bulletin No. 657 of the Bureau of Fisheries.

Omaha District Gets First Farm Loan Rates Cut

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25. — The Federal Farm Loan Board today took the first step in what is to be a general reduction of rates of interest charged farmers by Federal land banks, authorizing a new rate of 5 1-4 per cent for the Omaha district, effective June 1, next. The rate now in effect is 5½ per cent.

While there was no official statement beyond the bare announcement relative to the cuts to be made in the other districts, it was understood that the board was considering reductions as great as one-half of 1 per cent in some of them.

"The board is considering rate reductions in other districts," Commissioner Cooper announced, "and will doubtless reach a conclusion within a short time."

Engineer Dies at Throttle of Crack Limited

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) May 25.—When the Twentieth Century Limited, crack train of the New York Central, reached Syracuse today the engineer, Edward H. Peck, was dead in his cab.

His fireman, G. H. Schoolmaster, was at the throttle, and it is due to his quick action that the lives of passengers were taken out of danger.

The engineer is believed to have stuck his head too far out of his cab window when passing a water station at Amboy, N. Y. He was found with his head crushed, on the floor of the cab, by the fireman who grabbed the throttle and piloted the train into Syracuse.

CHURCHILL WINS IN SECOND TEST

Finance Bill is Safely Past Two Readings

Closure Application Angers Opposition

Silk Tariff Termed Purely Revenue Act

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 25.—In the House of Commons tonight Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, obtained the second reading of the finance bill embodying his budget proposals. The bill passed its second reading after closure was applied and carried and Philip Snowden's motion to reject the bill was defeated by 331 to 139.

Application of closure provoked angry protests from the opposition. The Chancellor again had to submit to much criticism from Mr. Snowden, Ramsey MacDonald, Mr. Lloyd George and others, but would not be stirred from the conviction of the value of his proposals. He maintained that, with the modifications he had already proposed, the silk duties will form a permanent part of the country's revenue.

The Chancellor further declared that the government had no intention of postponing the pensions scheme, but he promised a statement in due course which will reduce to very small proportions the fears that the scheme will be a burden on industry.

Mr. Lloyd George made an interesting contribution, arguing the Chancellor ought to cut down expenditure on armaments since there was no longer any menace to British security. He remarked that since the earthquake Japan could contemplate no schemes of aggression, and he characterized the Singapore naval base plan as "sheer madness."

Winding up the debate Premier Baldwin denied that the reimposition of the McKenna duties or the silk tax was protectionist; they were purely revenue duties. He said that Great Britain had traveled a long way toward its rehabilitation as the financial center of the world. The first step was the balance budget of 1919; the second was the funding of the American debt; the third was a provision in the budget introduced by himself when Chancellor of the Exchequer that a sum of not less than £50,000,000 sterling should be allocated yearly to the reduction of the debt.

By restoring the gold standard, he said, Mr. Churchill had put the coping stone to the edifice.

The Prime Minister went on to say that his preoccupation day and night was the condition of British industry, and he had good reasons for that. His own income was one-fifth of what it formerly had been and he was living on his capital and borrowing. People were beginning to realize the great truth that no government could conduct competitive industry against the world.

Hall and Tanko Are Indicted in Murder, Assault

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 25. — Two indictments, jointly charging Floyd Hall and Joe Tanko, San Quentin slayers, with the murder of H. J. Litzberg, Sacramento merchant, and with assault upon Patrolman Clyde Nunn, each of which crimes carries the death penalty, were voted by the Sacramento county grand jury today.

Hall, who has been detained in the city prison since his apprehension eleven days ago, in the Colusa rooming-house in Fourth street, will be removed to the County Jail tomorrow. A complaint filed by Dist.-Atty. J. J. Henderson, charging murder, will be dismissed in the Police Court at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon as a result of the grand jury's action.

STOCK MARKET VALUE IS VOID AS TAX BASIS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The fair average value of the net assets of corporations and not the average market value of shares of stock must be used by the government in assessing capital stock shares, the Supreme Court declared today in a case from New York City brought by the Ray Consolidated Copper Company.

SCORES REFORM SCHOOL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 25.—"The reform school does not reform," according to Judge A. C. Lockwood of the Arizona Supreme Court. He declared, in an address here, that Arizona needs some sort of an institution to house mischievous children who are not criminally inclined. For twelve years, before coming to the Appellate Court, the magistrate was on the Superior bench of Cochise county. In that time he considered the cases of about 6000 children.

FACES MAYHEM CHARGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OROSI, May 25.—A charge of mayhem has been filed against O. C. Hanson by L. J. Gilliam in the court of Justice of the Peace E. C. Archer at Cutler. This charge is the outgrowth of a quarrel between the two men about two weeks ago which resulted in injuries to the latter causing the loss of one eye. Preliminary hearing was set for June 2 and will be heard at Orosi, according to Judge Archer, who declares his Cutler office is not large enough to accommodate the expected crowd.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

With Frigidaire electric refrigeration in your home you can make many new and delicious desserts—ices, sherbets, mousses, frozen salads and puddings. And all of them can be made very easily.

Simply mix the ingredients and place them in one of the freezing trays. That's all you have to do. In a few hours your desserts will be frozen to perfection—ice-cold, firm, delicious. And if not all of it is used, the rest may be kept frozen as long as you wish.

Frigidaire offers other advantages, too. It saves the possible annoyance, waste and uncertainty of outside ice supply. It maintains a constant, dry cold that preserves all the food's purity, freshness and flavor of foods. It also guards health by guarding against the development of harmful bacteria.

Yet, with all these advantages, it can be operated for less than many families pay for ice.

There are thirty-two models of Frigidaire for household use. You can get complete information about models to fit your needs, or you can convert your present refrigerator into Frigidaire by installing the dependable Frigidaire mechanism.

Come in and let us tell you how easily and inexpensively Frigidaire can be put into your home.

FRESNO BISHOP HAS AUDIENCE WITH POPE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, May 25.—The Pope today granted private audiences to the Right Rev. John J. Dunn of New York, bishop auxiliary of the Archdiocese of New York, and to the Right Rev. John B. MacGinley of Fresno, bishop of the Monterey-Fresno diocese. The Pontiff spoke cordially to each of the visitors and told them of the success of the Holy Year pilgrimages to Rome this year.

POISON TAKEN TO SAVE WIFE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ATLANTIC CITY, May 25.—When a woman threatened to kill herself by taking bichloride of mercury tablets, her husband, William Coates, of this city, snatched the box from her hands and swallowed one of the pills himself. He wished only to prevent his wife's suicide, police said. Coates was removed to a hospital where it was said he will recover.

BILLION IN INSURANCE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—St. Louis has joined the ranks of the billion dollar insurance cities of the country. On May 1 its eight legal reserve life companies had $1,018,612,321 insurance in force. It shares that honor with nine other cities of the country. It also has gained the distinction of being one of the six cities with two life insurance companies with more than $250,000,000 of insurance in force each.

TWO CONTESTS ON CAMP WILL

Sister Fights to Get Estate From Mrs. Brown

Public Administrator Files for Charge of Property

Judge Refuses to Annul Either of Petitions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, May 25.—Inheritance of the $80,000 worth of ranch property and large life-insurance policies by Mrs. Jessie Luara Brown, foster mother of Lee Camp, alleged to have been murdered, will now be fought out on two different lines.

In the Superior Court here this forenoon Judge Vansante refused to sustain the motion of Mrs. Brown's attorneys to deny the two petitions to invalidate Mrs. Brown's appointment as executrix of Camp's estate. Mrs. Pearl Camp King, sister of Lee Camp, is suing to set aside the will her brother made, willing all his property to Mrs. Brown. Sensational charges are being made as to the manner in which Mrs. Brown is alleged to have obtained undue influence over Lee Camp.

Mrs. King, who was cut off with $5 in her brother's will, also is trying to secure for herself the benefit of large life-insurance policies made out by her brother to Mrs. Brown.

Ed T. Smith, complicated the litigation still further by last week filing a petition as public administrator of Kings county to have himself appointed administrator of the Lee Camp estate, on the grounds that Mrs. Brown was not attending to the estate in a proper manner, as she is confined to the County Hospital, without bail, on a charge of murdering Camp; also that she is not the bona fide heir of the Camp estate. No date for the trial of either case was set by the judge, but it will go over till after the murder trial.

New Harbor Job May be Let in Two Contracts

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 25. — The $2,500,000 harbor construction job for Long Beach may be let in two contracts instead of one, it was revealed here today through publication of the plans and specifications for the work by Maj. R. G. McGlone, harbor engineer in charge. The plans and specifications are being advertised in twenty seaport city newspapers throughout the country. Bids on the big mole and breakwater projects are to be opened June 26.

Under the plans, it was explained, contracts may be awarded for the breakwater alone and separate contracts may be drawn up for the construction of the moles and bulkheads. The work is to be carried out under the eight-hour law, with no work on Sundays and holidays. Successful bidders will be required to begin actual work within thirty days after the date of award, it was said.

VALLEY CHAMBERS TO FROLIC AT WHITTIER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

WHITTIER, May 25.—Representatives from twenty-one cities comprising the San Gabriel Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce will assemble at Whittier Tuesday evening, June 2, for the annual "high jinx." A dinner will precede the fun and frolic in the new Wardman gymnasium, on the Whittier College campus. Each of the cities having representatives will furnish one number on the assorted vaudeville. Chalmers Newson, the newly elected president of the local Chamber of Commerce, has appointed A. D. Holloway chairman of a committee of arrangements. Reservations are being made for 500 at the banquet.

WASCO WILL ELECT WATER DIRECTORATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—On Tuesday, July 7, Wasco will vote for three directors to guide the destinies of the recently formed Wasco Public Utilities district, organized for the purpose of creating a municipal water supply. The directors will be elected at large on this date. The election date was formally set today by the Board of Supervisors.

GLENDALE BANK CHANGES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 25.—The Bank of America, Los Angeles, has purchased the Community Savings and Commercial Bank, Brand Boulevard and San Fernando Road, Glendale, and as soon as permission has been received from the State Banking Commissioner the Glendale institution will be conducted as a branch bank of the Bank of America's organization already numbering twelve branches in Southern California.

The announcement is made by L. M. MacDonald, chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of America, who states that the negotiations were conducted by the American Commercial Corporation of Los Angeles, the organization established by the Bank of America to purchase bank stocks.

Daniel Campbell, one of the pioneer bankers and business men of Glendale, together with his associates, founded the Community Savings and Commercial Bank in November, 1922, with a paid-up capital of $40,000, and the present resources of the institution are approximately $350,000. The officers of the Community Bank are Daniel Campbell, president; W. W. Lee, and W. C. B. Richardson, vice-president; H. J. Wellman, cashier, and the directors are Max Bayha, George H. Bentley, George V. Black, Arthur Campbell, Hubert L. Eaton and George B. Karr.

Affiliated with the Bank of America is the Commercial National Bank, which has also twelve branches in Southern California and the two institutions combined have resources of approximately $35,500,000.

Mr. Campbell will remain as president of the Community Bank, and no changes in the personnel are contemplated by the Bank of America, Chairman MacDonald declares.

LONG BEACH EMPLOYEES' ROW FLARES

Report Says Council May Drop Married Women from City's Pay Roll

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 25.—City Hall employees, both men and women, are again to become the subject of an investigation by the City Council, it was intimated here today, following reports that the Council had discussed at executive sessions the advisability of prohibiting married women and particularly wives of city employees from remaining on the city pay roll.

With the smoke of battle that followed Councilman Beck's attack on the "white-collar brigade" hardly cleared away, with the City Hall employees still smarting under assertions by Councilmen that they should work the same hours allotted to laborers, some 180 women are watching with interest the next step of the Council.

Matrimony is no ground for dismissal from the municipal service in Long Beach. That fact was established by city officials today. There is no mention of the word marriage in the civil service rules, according to Secretary Gates of the Civil Service Board. If the Council carries out the suggestion of several of its members that wives of city employees and girls in city service who marry shall be dropped from the pay roll Councilmen may again find it necessary to play hide and seek, it was said today.

SANTA MONICA, May 25.—Officer L. M. Newberry of the local police division is in possession of a Pike county (Missouri) newspaper published in 1846, and which was in the effects of relatives of his. Of particular interest is the announcement of a public auction sale of one John Roe, which runs as follows:

"The undersigned will sell, on Tuesday, September 29, 1846, at public outcry for cash on premises where Coon Creek crosses Mission Road, following chattels, to-wit:

"Six yoke oxen with yoke and chains; two wagons, with beds; two nigger wenches; four buck niggers; three nigger boys; two prairie plows; twenty-five steel traps; one barrell pickled cabbage; one lot nigger hoes; mink and skunk skins and a lot of other articles. Am gwine to California. Free headcheese, apples and hard cider. JOHN ROE."

Death Sentences for Trio in Sofia Blast Confirmed

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SOFIA, May 25. — King Boris of Bulgaria, an enemy of capital punishment, today confirmed the death sentence of three men who took part in the Sveti Kral Cathedral bombing in which 160 people were killed. These are the first death sentences King Boris ever has approved. He declared the plot justified the court martial's extreme judgment.

The three men sentenced to death are Peter Zadgorski, sacristan of the cathedral; Marco Friedman and Georgi Koeff.

Now that King Boris has broken his rule of never sanctioning the death penalty, the State prosecutors hope he will approve other death sentences given Bolshevik plotters who have sought to upset his throne.

Three Men Die in Fire That Burns Martinez Garage

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MARTINEZ (Cal.) May 25.—Three men were burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed a two-story garage and outbuildings on the Parmalee ranch about two miles from Concord, south of here. All three apparently were overcome by smoke as they slept and perished in their beds in the second story of the garage building.

The dead are: James Grennan, tractor driver, and Joseph Azevedo, truck driver, both of Concord, and George Jones, painter of Oakland.

The loss is estimated at $25,000. The fire is believed to have started from a discarded cigarette stub.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

MONROVIA, May 25. — Mrs. Elizabeth Wessling, 56, wife of Alfred G. Wessling, first assistant deputy internal revenue collector at Los Angeles, died last night at the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Los Angeles, where she was removed last week for an operation. Her death was unexpected, although she had been in ill health several years.

Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Glenn Moore of Monrovia, and two brothers in Ohio and New York.

Mrs. Wessling had resided in Monrovia thirteen years and was prominent in society. She was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Monrovia funeral chapel, by Rev. C. R. Montague of the Methodist Church, and Rev. Charles C. Woods, former pastor here, but now in Pasadena, will assist. The body will be placed in the Monrovia mausoleum.

MISSING BOY'S BODY IS FOUND IN DITCH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—The fourteen-hour search for Robert Ruby, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ruby of the Kern Island district, was ended today when the body of the lad was found in an irrigation ditch within a few feet of his home. A. Claussen led the searching party which discovered the tiny body caught fast in some boards in a large weir.

The lad had been missing since Saturday evening. His parents notified Sheriff Cas Walser and a search party of neighbors was organized to find the boy.

The water in the canal had been shut off, but the flow had not materially decreased when the body was found. The boy evidently fell into the canal in front of his home, according to Sheriff Walser.

The boy was well known in his neighborhood and his loss is a cause of great sorrow. Mrs. Ruby is an employee of the Moron Lumber Company here.

INDIANS IN GRADUATING EXERCISES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, May 25.—Commencement week opened last night for thirty-one Indians who will be graduated Wednesday evening after completing the schooling at Sherman Indian Institute here. The baccalaureate sermon was delivered last night by Dr. John Gardner of the First Congregational Church of Riverside.

Today is inspection day at the institute which is thrown open to the public from 10 o'clock on. Exhibits of the handiwork of the students are on display in the various departments and both boys' and girls' dormitories are thrown open for inspection.

Tomorrow is field day with various athletic contests on the schedule. In the evening the annual party of the alumni will be held.

Wednesday military drills will be held. Wednesday evening the graduation exercises will take place with Ira C. Landis, County Superintendent of Schools, as the speaker. The final feature of the week will be the annual rally Thursday morning and the alumni picnic in the afternoon at Fairmount Park.

PLOT UNCOVERED IN GARBAGE COLLECTION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 25. — A plot to defraud the Benedict Garbage Collecting Agency was uncovered here today with the arrest of one man and the discharge from the city's service of another. Y. Katsuda was arrested by Pasadena police charged with a theft of city garbage. Katsuda had bribed a negro truck driver, employee of the city, to skip a certain section of the city when collecting garbage. Katsuda would then drive his own wagon through this district and make the collection. All of Pasadena's garbage is sold to Frank Benedict who holds a contract with the city calling for all garbage. When arrested, Katsuda admitted, it is said, that he had been practicing the fraud for more than a year. His case will be tried the 27th inst. The negro truck driver, whose name was not divulged, was dismissed by City Manager Koiner today.

CHAFFEY SCHOOL EDITORS CHOSEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ONTARIO, May 25. — Miss Elizabeth Boulton will serve as editor-in-chief of the Fasti, Chaffey High School's annual publication next year, it was announced tonight, following her selection by members of the junior class. James Bond was elected editor of the Tamier, Chaffey's weekly newspaper. Both Miss Boulton and Mr. Bond are members of the school's journalism class, and both have had considerable experience along the editorial line.

MINIATURE RAILWAY TO BE OBLITERATED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, May 25.—Volunteers, made up of residents along Washington Boulevard, will come with picks and shovels early this week, when an old-fashioned bee is planned to remove the tracks of the Venice miniature railway from the street to make ready for widening and improving. The bee is the method adopted for removing the tracks, owing to no provision being made by law that the expense may be borne by property owners. A fitting ceremony is being arranged for the final trip of the world's smallest train, which for many years has caused international comment and has carried thousands on a sightseeing tour of the City of Canals. Motion pictures will be taken of the final trip of the miniature train.

Commencement Exercises at Redlands Clubhouse

President Von KleinSmid Presents Diplomas

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, May 25.—The most unusual affair of its kind ever held in Redlands was that at the Contemporary clubhouse tonight when commencement exercises were held for men and women, most of whom completed their school series many years ago. It was the class in realty practice which received diplomas from Rufus Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, the first to complete the extension course in this work.

There were forty-nine graduates and each received a diploma. In his address on "Real Estate and Education," Dr. Von KleinSmid spoke of the great part that the realty man can play in instilling civic pride and a desire for knowledge in the communities in which they live. He spoke of the wonderful work that real estate men have done in developing Southern California and he believes that it is today one of the honored and respected professions because of the high ideals that are being shown by the men.

Harrison Lewis, chairman of the California Real Estate Association education committee, with Glenn William, worked out the plans for the course. A. E. Brock, State Assemblyman, and H. P. D. Kingsbury, president of the local board, spoke briefly.

The history of the class was read by George J. Fowler and told of the subjects that were considered at each session. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra and a quartet from the University of Redlands.

Prince Kisses Tot Who Lost Daddy in War

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CAPETOWN (S. A.) May 25.—Many stories are told of kindly acts by the Prince of Wales during his stay here. Noticing a small girl wearing several medals at a children's parade, the Prince asked her whose decorations they were.

"They're Dad's," she said.

"Where is Daddy?" asked the Prince.

"He was killed in the war," the child answered, whereupon the Prince lifted her in his arms and kissed her.

HEALTH OFFICER IS SOUGHT BY VALLEY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, May 25.—San Fernando Valley is scheduled to have a full-time health officer for next year. A request for such an officer was made last February. Leo B. Lesperance, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter from Health Commissioner Parrish stating that an appropriation for the purpose has been asked for in his budget for 1926. The Budget Committee of the City Council will meet next month, at which time the matter will be given consideration. Valley citizens have reason to believe the allowance will be made by the committee.

LANKERSHIM BECOMES CENTER FOR LADDERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 25.—One of the fast-growing enterprises of Lankershim is the local ladder factory, which manufactures ladders of various sorts to be used in citrus and other fruit orchards. Within the last 100 days the factory has shipped out more than 4000 of its manufactured product to forty-three towns. Officials report they are unable to keep abreast of demand. New additions are being built to the present plant. About fifteen workers are employed by the company.

HUNTINGTON PARK TO DECORATE STREETS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 25. Huntington Park by the latter part of the week will take on a gala appearance, and especially Pacific Boulevard, which will be decorated with flags and bunting, from Slauson avenue to Florence avenue, a mile through the heart of the city. This will be to welcome the hundreds of Shriners who will visit this city, and many who will pass through on their way to Long Beach. The City Trustees have appropriated $250 for this purpose at the request of the Shrine Club of Huntington Park.

VALLEY CANNER SEES FINE FRUIT PROSPECT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 25.—E. H. Kennedy has departed for Washington, D. C., where, as one of the directors, he will attend an executive board meeting of the National Canners' Association. He will be gone three weeks. Before leaving here Kennedy, who is Lankershim manager for the Bonner Fruit Company, took a final survey of the orchards of the valley. He stated that the crop of peaches, apricots and plums would be larger than for several years, and that indications are that the fruit will be of high quality.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTER

Lewis Oil Wells in Producing Field Give Better Outlook for Creditors of Promoter

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, May 25.—Delay in acting upon the proposal of Trustee A. L. Rutherford to sign an order of abandonment of the two oil wells of F. G. Lewis, in the Midway field near Maricopa, may have solved the bankruptcy tangle in an effort to pay off the creditors, Referee W. P. Butcher said today.

Butcher was informed today that two Standard oil wells in the immediate vicinity of the Lewis wells, have come in as good producers and he asserted that he will hesitate before accepting the proposal of the trustee.

"Lewis offered to abandon the wells and to accept the casing and all equipment in payment for cleaning up the grounds," Butcher said today. "Rutherford recommended that this be done. I hesitated, however, on reading the geologist's report on the condition of the wells and now I see by the Los Angeles Times that two wells have been brought in close to the Lewis venture. If I had acted on the Rutherford proposal, Lewis could have turned around, signed another lease on the property and have operated the wells out of jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court and his creditors would have lost all equity in the well. Now it looks as if they may get 100 cents on the dollar if we hold the wells and continue to operate them."

Smugglers of Humans First to Face Judge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 25.—Edward J. Henning of this city, former Assistant Secretary of Labor, today took the oath of the Federal Judiciary and entered upon his duties as United States district judge for the Southern District of Southern California, to which he was recently appointed by President Coolidge.

Mr. Henning was sworn in by Chief Clerk Charles N. Williams. Masses of flowers sent by friends from many parts of the State, adorned the Federal courtroom when Mr. Henning entered.

Many prominent members of the bar from Los Angeles, San Francisco and this city congratulated Judge Henning as he began his duties.

The first judgment given by Judge Henning was a fine of $500 and sentence of a year and half in the penitentiary to Charles W. Shaw and Nick Sadler, who admitted being guilty of bringing six Chinese across the Mexican border.

LANKERSHIM TO GET SINGLE UNIT WATER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 25.—According to progress being made, it is expected that the crews installing water mains in the Lankershim district will be entirely through by June 1, a statement of the water department discloses. The work of the city's taking over the Noble, Taylor, Buttress, Penfield and Forsyth and several other private water distributing systems is about completed, and it is reported that by the time the system is supplied with water pumped from the Vanowen-street wells by the Los Angeles city's new Diesel engines the whole of the Lankershim system will get water as a single unit. June 1 is the date fixed for the start of the engines at the large generating plant. The work of assembling the engines is nearly completed. More water wells are being sunk in this area. All when completed will be used in emergency periods to augment the flow in the Los Angeles city Aqueduct.

GEYSER LACKING AS HYDRANT IS BROKEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, May 25.—Considerable indignation was registered by a large group of South Pasadena citizens who witnessed the destruction of a city fire hydrant here yesterday. They were not indignant over the fact that the flying Ford coupe had broken the hydrant off at the ground, but because no geyser of water resulted. Barely a pint was spilled when the four-inch main was broken. The indignant citizens rushed to the fire department and demanded to know why no water was contained in the pipes. They pictured a great catastrophe, loss of life and destruction of property, should a fire break out in the business district. The excitement, however, was short lived. The Fire Chief explained that a new kind of valves had been installed in the city's fire-hydrant system. The water is turned on from under the ground and even though a hydrant is broken off, no water is wasted.

STREET WIDENING IN PASADENA EXPENSIVE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 25. — It will cost citizens of Pasadena more than a half-million dollars to extend Garfield avenue for one block, it was revealed at the Board of City Directors' meeting today. The proposed opening will be from Colorado street to Green street.

Report of the referees which was read to the city officials today discloses that to acquire the land for the opening an expenditure of $554,063 will be required. Cost of razing the present buildings which are located on the ground and laying the pavement will be extra, it was declared.

CITY BUILDS GARAGE

OWENSMOUTH, May 25. — The Los Angeles Department of Public Service is building a garage near the power station at Deering avenue and Sherman Way. It will be used by the repair forces of the valley's power and light division.

'SPOOK' CASE IN COURT AT LONG BEACH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 25.—Spectators who crowded Police Judge Helwig's courtroom today to hear the recital of the thrilling experience of three police officers in their battle with spooks during a raid on a spiritualist meeting here March 1 were disappointed. Four of the six defendants taken in the raid entered pleas of guilty to charges of violating the city license ordinances and the charges against two others were dismissed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson, her husband, Clarence Thomson, her daughter, Normala Thomson and Neil Wood were the defendants who pleaded guilty to operating a spiritualistic seance at which an admission charge was made without first having secured a license from the city. They will be sentenced on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pollard, also taken in the raid, were discharged.

All six, however, were bound over to the Superior Court weeks ago by Justice W. S. Brayton here on charges of conspiracy, after police had testified to a sensational raid on Power Center, at 1313 Cedar avenue in which they declared a "spirit" which had appeared from a cabinet proved to be Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson, noted Chicago medium. The defendants denied the accusation.

Assertions that the felony charges on which the six defendants were held to the Superior Court are to be dismissed by the District Attorney were made in Police Court today by Attorney J. D. Wolverton, who represented them.

Advances Golf as Community Spirit Builder

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDORA, May 25.—Golf as a community builder was the topic of an address here before the Chamber of Commerce today by John Duncan Dunn, internationally famous golf architect. Golf has been known to build a greater community spirit in some cities than any other one factor, declared the builder to courses. It has meant advertising to the community, it has provided a recreational ground, second to none for the residents, and it has increased land values many hundred per cent.

Mr. Dunn inspected a two-hundred-acre estate here on which it is planned to build a new course. He proclaimed the location as unequaled in California.

In addition to a number of California and American courses Mr. Dunn has designed the Hardelot and Hendaye courses in France, The Hague, Doorn, Hilversum and Rosendaal courses in Holland, and Lee-on-Solent in England.

BUILDING TRADES AT BAKERSFIELD FROLIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—Three thousand persons attended the annual Building Trades' Council barbecue and picnic yesterday at the Louis Olcese ranch, northeast of China Grade, on the banks of Kern River. By noon hundreds of automobiles had filled every available parking space on the grounds and as the oil field whistles sounded "high noon," a winding line of expectant picnickers passed by the barbecue stands and were served by members of the building council who had toiled for twenty-four hours previous in preparing the big feast and in roasting two beeves for the occasion in the barbecue pits.

COMBATING BLUE LA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 25.—Plans for combating Sunday blue laws and other legislation tending to religious liberty of the people of this country will be discussed at the Seventh Day Adventist institute that opened at the Sunday School dale today.

Elder W. F. Martin of Glendale, associate editor of Liberty, the Adventist magazine, and religious liberty secretary for the Western United States, is leading the conference, and tomorrow he will be joined by Elder C. S. Longacre of Washington, D. C., editor-in-chief of Liberty.

It was stated at today's session that the recent municipal election in Glendale hinged largely on the issue of the passage of the blue laws, and that Councilman C. E. Kimlin, a Seventh-Day Adventist, was refused indorsement by the Glendale Ministerial Association because of the fear that was felt by the association that, if he were elected, he would oppose the passage of Sunday closing legislation in Glendale.

cured at a lower depth than any of the other wells drilled in that section. Several other sands have been uncovered since that time, and the plan of the Mascot Oil Company is to find just what is below the sand already known.

Some difficulty was experienced with water, but this was successfully overcome some time ago with the result that the Mascot has an excellent hole in the No. 4 well.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Demand was only moderate for yesterday's supply, estimated around 1000 head, and trading was an all-day affair. However, a fair clearance was made by late afternoon. Prices were fully steady on the early rounds, although some weakness developed during the late trade. No strictly good grass steers were offered, the best here being a load of 1027-pounders that brought 8.65. The bulk of steer offerings were mostly plain, half-fat kinds, that cleared from 7.50 to 8.10, while common kinds turned largely from 6.00 to 7.00.

Fat cows to load lots turned largely from 5.50 to 6.50, with a load of good 1025-pound cows topping for their class at 6.60, while 804-pound heifers topped the she stock division at 6.75. Common kinds were fairly numerous from 4.25 to 5.00. Canners and cutters held about steady, the bulk going over from 2.00 to 2.50, a load of thin Arizona mixing 2.75. Bulls were readily at fully steady prices. The general run of bologna turned from 4.50 to 5.00, with thin canner kinds downward to 3.00, while most best bulls sold around 5.25.

CALVES: Demand was not overly active for yesterday's moderate supply of calves. However, a fair clearance was made at steady to weak values. The bulk of milk calves, 110 to 240-pound weights, cleared from 10.00 to 11.75, a load of good and choice 200-pound Californias making the latter price, while odd lots of choice kinds cleared from 12.00 to 12.25. Common kinds and heavies were most numerous from 8.00 to 8.00.

HOGS: Buyers cleaned up yesterday's small supply of butchers readily at unevenly 75 to 90 cents higher prices. Only eight cars of butchers were offered. Six of these, averaging 178 to 200 pounds, cleared from 12.00 to 13.75, three loads topping for the day at the latter price, while two loads of 146-pound light lights realized 13.15. The few packing sows on hand brought 11.50.

SHEEP: Nothing was offered in the swine division and good and choice lambs are quotable from 12.50 to 13.50, with common to choice shorn ewes from 4.00 to 5.50.

REPORTS HEAVY ORANGE EXPORT

Majority of Valencias Are Shipped Via Canal

Coast Fruit Reaches Europe in Good Condition

Demand Abroad Greater Than Present Supply

Valencia exports to the United Kingdom and continental Europe during 1924 totaled 54,802 cases, according to S. B. Moomaw, London sales agent of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. Of this amount, 46,748 cases were shipped via the Panama Canal, and 8054 cases via New York.

The first shipment was of 2000 cases of Sunkist, which arrived via the Panal Canal, at Liverpool on June 12, last, and exports were continued until October 27th, last.

The 46,748 cases of Valencias from the Pacific Coast were all discharged in three ports. Liverpool received 32,536 cases, London, 12,223 cases, and Rotterdam, 2000 cases. Most of the fruit that came direct from the Pacific Coast was in good condition, with the result that only 17,173 cases were sold in the port markets where they were received.

Trans-shipments were made of the rest of the fruit, totaling 31,665 cases, with the final distribution to sixteen ports and inland markets in the United Kingdom, Ireland, the continent and Scandinavia.

"Valencia oranges are now so popular that the demand for them could not have been supplied under 300,000 cases," said Mr. Moomaw. "The demand was so active that retail stock was exhausted, in many cases, long before they could be replenished, and retailers, in order to make their supply last longer not infrequently kept their stock out of sight. Retail profits were not excessive and prices to the consumer were fair.

"There are in the United Kingdom 242 towns of from 30,000 to 1,000,000 population, many of which are distributive markets in addition to nine port markets. This leaves a large field in which to develop the preference for Valencias," pointed out Mr. Moomaw. "The laboring classes which are the largest fruit consumers of the country, are taking quite large quantities.

"Continental fruit markets are rapidly being restored and with regular supplies, when quality is established, will offer a profitable market for Valencias."

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 25.—Although reports were current today that more imports of gold might be expected soon, money rates held firm. Loans were in keen demand, with an increase in bank borrowings, but the stringency was regarded as temporary, owing to the release next week of government dividends.

Japanese stocks reacted only moderately in response to news of the earthquake in Japan. Private advices from that country indicate that, although the shock was severe, it caused little economic loss. The severest quake was experienced in a narrow area where there was no industrial development and railway traffic was unaffected. Business was resumed without serious interruption.

Financial markets were quiet on the eve of Whitsuntide. Foreign exchange was featureless.

The prospective American loan to Argentina interests London, but is not considered surprising here in view of our ban on foreign loans, which virtually remains unchanged. Reports of a further Greek loan can be disregarded.

Another report that may be disregarded is the suggestion that the £1,500,000 gold from an unknown source was imported from Germany.

COTTON PROSPECTS BRIGHT

BY EARLE E. CROWE

If agricultural prospects are accepted as a forecast of general business conditions, then the next few months should usher the Pacific-Southwest into an era of healthy expansion on all sides. As far as the situation can be probed now, business stands on a solid basis, but the ingredients for well rounded-out prosperity have been lacking. The advent of the fall harvests should replace timidity wherever it exists with the confidence that satisfactory crops and prices usually generate.

This is the manner in which the agricultural situation shapes up generally. The forecasts of yields and prices point to comfortable profits in nearly all sections of the Pacific-Southwest, although there are, of course, the possibilities of unseasonable weather and disorganized markets to upset even the most careful calculations.

NEW CROP WATCHED

Right now a good many eyes are centered on the cotton crop. The cotton harvest in this region has been returning between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 to the growers, and the resultant purchasing power has come to mean a pretty large-sized drop in the bucket to the merchants in the larger cities. If the price for the product again settles around 25 cents a pound, cotton will more than do its bit in the interests of balanced prosperity.

Contracts for the new crop are now being obtained by Los Angeles cotton merchants at prices ranging between 23 and 25 cents a pound for fall delivery. Most of this cotton will go through the harbor here, consigned to Atlantic Coast mills or to foreign importers.

Trade authorities estimate this year's crop in the Pacific Southwest around 350,000 bales, which compares with the official government figure for last season of 265,000 bales. Acreage now planted represents an increase over last year of about 100,000, or a total in California, Arizona and Lower California of approximately 550,000 acres.

ACREAGE EXPANDS

Much of the expansion in acreage has occurred in the San Joaquin Valley. It is estimated that the cotton acreage north of the Tehachapi will run around 100,000 acres this year, which ought to yield nearly that many bales of cotton. About 25,000 bales are forecast for Northern California, in Colusa county, where the cotton idea lately has taken root.

The increasing popularity of the cotton plant in the San Joaquin is accomplishing one important development for the future health of the valley. Around Fresno and Bakersfield the prosperity of the population has been dependent almost entirely on one or two enterprises, but the coming of cotton is a long step in the direction of diversification that has been so badly needed. Raisins and oil and citrus fruits have chiefly been the money-making instruments in the valley, and when one of these activities has dropped into a slump, the entire valley is affected.

The Los Angeles cotton merchants are devoting particular attention to the strides made in cotton growing in the San Joaquin Valley. From this region they look for the greatest cotton development on this continent, if not in the world. In fact, it is frequently prophesied that when the San Joaquin Valley begins to really appreciate the value of cotton, the resultant increase in acreage will make Los Angeles the most important spot market in the entire country.

LAND AVAILABLE

To susbtantiate this prophecy, it is pointed out that the Southern States have planned all available acreage, and there even is a movement on foot to curtail cotton production in favor of other crops in the interests of diversification. No other region in the United States is climatically adapted to cotton except the Pacific Southwest, and within the confines of this territory is the only available acreage.

The British are assiduously cultivating the growth of cotton in their colonial possessions, but cotton men are skeptical of the success of these efforts. Cotton, they assert, must be grown in civilized countries, where labor is plentiful, where growers are resident on the plantations, and where markets are in proximity. The Pacific Southwest fully meet all of these requisites, and this is why Los Angeles, as the focal point, is touted as the coming spot market of the world.

Merchants even expect to draw cotton from as far away as El Paso. The quality of the product grown there is similar to that in Arizona and California, but some adjustment in railroad rates is necessary. However, one Los Angeles firm has placed a representative in the El Paso section this year.

COPPER PRICES REMAIN STEADY

Change From Present Level Should be Upward

United States Far in Lead in Production

Share Market Has Taken on Better Tone

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS,
Editor, "Arizona Mining Journal"

Copper appears to be resting at a low but definitely established level, the price continuing at 13¾ cents a pound. Consumers apparently have not relinquished their attitude of buying conservatism, while, on the other hand, producers generally are firmly demanding 13¾ cents for electrolytic. Any change from the present level should be upward.

Cuts in production were not made in time to have a material effect on the production figures for April. The total smelter output of primary copper by the United States mines and foreign supply to United States smelters for the month of April was 79,149 tons, against 87,144 tons for March and and 78,048 tons for February. This makes a total for the four-month period of 326,644 tons, with the daily average rate of production of primary copper of 2405 tons, against 2024 tons in 1923 and 2168 tons in 1924.

OUTPUT SLOWS UP

The United States continues far in the lead in copper production, for during the first four months of this year our country produced 326,644 tons of the 529,400 tons produced in the entire world. The average monthly production during this period was 128,382 tons, the production during April falling 10,000 below that of March, or 125,449 tons, against 135,409 tons in March. This shows a slowing up in the world-output figures, although the greatest cut by far was in the United States production.

Exports of copper increased decidedly for the month of March, almost doubling those for February. The first quarter's figures are as follows:

	Tons
January	54,771
February	57,809
March	67,904
Total	159,784

Average for 1924, 46,474 tons.

In direct contrast to the optimistic statements relative to the copper situation issued last week by Charles W. Clark, president of the United Verde Copper Company, Walter Douglas, president of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation, expresses himself as follows:

PRODUCTION TOO LARGE

"Production of copper is too great and I am not very much of an optimist on the situation. Consumption of the red metal in this country has been increasing very rapidly and quite materially in Europe, but the production is very great and has kept up to consumption. In fact, production has slightly exceeded consumption this year.

"Phelps-Dodge is producing very much below potential capacity, not over 60 to 65 per cent. Our production is scattered over three of our camps and we cannot very well curtail without enormously increasing our overhead at these independent branches. Operations will continue about as at present.

"Things appear to me very much the same as they have been for the last twelve months. I see no material change. If Europe were to get in financial position to buy more copper it would help immensely, because they need it. Plans have been made for the immense hydroelectric extensions in Italy and France, and England has a big scheme for developing electricity at coal mines in order to transmit power to industrial centers. All these big schemes are simply waiting finance.

"I think the election of Hindenburg as President of Germany is a very great blow to France and that it will affect trade to an important extent."

The copper-share market has taken on a better tone recently and the copper group maintained an even level. The majority of issues held well, considering the prevailing conditions and uncertainty displayed by the entire stock market.

It would seem that the red metal occupies for the present a position that is completely unique and almost in defiance to the laws of supply and demand. However, with increased consumption, which is confidently expected both in Europe and at home, it seems entirely reasonable to expect improved prices later in the season.

ADD CARS FOR FRUIT MOVEMENT

Refrigerators Obtained to Handle Perishable Freight from California

Pacific Coast refrigerator-car lines have arranged to obtain 24,000 eastern refrigerators to take care of the peak movement of perishable freight from California, according to a statement issued by Charles E. Virden, chairman of the Pacific Coast regional advisory board, after having conferred with rail lines and acquainted them with growers' and shippers' estimates of the amount of freight in sight.

"The carriers are giving us their complete co-operation," he said, "and the function of these advisory boards is to form a common meeting ground where shippers and transportation companies can get together to the end that the railroads on the one hand may know what equipment demands will be, and the producers on the other may know that their products will be promptly moved.

"No car shortage is expected this summer despite the fact that the perishable forecast for the coming quarter is 30,100 cars of vegetables and melons; 13,500 cars citrus fruit; 1940 cars of potatoes, and 1135 cars of onions. In addition there will be 75,000 cars of grapes and 17,000 cars of deciduous-tree fruits to move between June 1 and December 15.

"The railroads report that the daily surplus of equipment, January to May 1, was 28,022 cars this year as compared with 20,621 in 1924. Refrigerator cars averaged an increase of 2657 over 1924. The carriers in this district also had 182 more locomotives in service on May 1, 1925 than last year," stated Virden.

Pacific States Mortgage Firm Begins Business

Organization of the Pacific States Bond and Mortgage Company with a capital of $1,000,000 was announced yesterday by Roy P. Crocker, vice-president. The new company will deal principally in first mortgages, bonds and other higher high-grade securities. The organizers are leading business men of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Alfred J. Bayer heads the company as president. L. N. Fitts and Mr. Crocker are vice-presidents, and the other officers are Myron E. Etienne, secretary-treasurer, and Phillip G. Thompson, assistant secretary-treasurer. The directors are Alfred J. Bayer, William J. Bettingen, Roy P. Crocker, Isidore B. Dockweiler, Willis H. Durst, Myron E. Etienne, L. N. Fitts and Henry E. Rivers.

Mr. Bayer is president of A. J. Bayer Company, manufacturers of ornamental iron and bronze, and a director of the Union Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Bettingen is president of William J. Bettingen Lumber Company of Pasadena and of the West Coast Bond and Mortgage Company. Mr. Crocker is an attorney, and was for several years in the mortgage department of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank. Mr. Dockweiler is an attorney and a director of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, and numerous other corporations. Mr. Durst is the sales manager of Banks, Huntley & Co., investment bankers, and Mr. Etienne is vice-president of the William J. Bettingen Lumber Company, and is a former banker. Mr. Fitts is assistant to the chief engineer of the Union Oil Company, and Mr. Rivers is associated with Frank R. Strong in the realty business. He is the former secretary of Rivers Brothers Produce Company.

Recession in Living Costs is Slow—It Costs More to Live Now Than It Did a Year Ago—Declines in Wholesale Prices Do Not Reflect Retail Values.

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Those who have followed the pronounced decline of recent months in the wholesale price level should not conclude that similar reductions have been made in what it costs to live.

It takes a long time for a sharp break in wheat, cotton or sugar to be reflected in lower living costs. Of course, declines in the wholesale level of a commodity are bound eventually to lower the retail price, but in the present market not enough time has elapsed for the householder to expect very material reductions in the cost of living as a result of the downturn in wholesale values.

LIVING COSTS

Wholesale prices fell more sharply in April than in any other month since the deflation period three or four years ago. They fell 3.2 per cent, judged by the Bureau of Labor statistics index.

Our most recent indication of changes in living costs is the April index of the National Industrial Conference Board in New York that has just been published. The compilation shows that the cost of living in April was only a fraction of 1 per cent below what it was the month before. In other words, the sharp decline in wholesale values has not as yet been reflected in lowered retail prices. Indeed, when we look back it may seem that retail costs have been slow to record declines in wholesale prices. The cost-of-living index shows that we pay more to live than we did a year ago. The conference board's compilation shows that the cost of living now stands about 64.8 per cent above prewar levels, whereas a year ago it stood 61.3 per cent above. But, of course, wholesale prices now stand 56 per cent above prewar levels as compared with 48 per cent at this time last year.

RENTS DEAREST

Notwithstanding record activities in building construction, rents remain the dearest item relatively in the average workingman's budget. To shelter his family the workingman must pay out 52 per cent more than he did back in 1914, and for no other important item of the budget must he pay so much in proportion. Clothing, however, still costs 71 per cent more than it did before the war, although reductions appear to be under way so far as prices of that group are concerned.

Whether retail costs may be expected to decline in the future is a question not easy to answer. If wholesale values continue downward living costs will follow. It must be remembered, however, that our manufacturers this year have not overproduced to the extent they did a year ago, and that consumption has been substantial in general. The fact that excessive stocks of goods have not been allowed to accumulate lessens the likelihood of severe breaks in the general price level and, therefore, in immediate sharp reductions in living costs.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Upward Trend Halted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Profit-taking operations today halted the upward movement in bond prices after the week opened with the "averages" standing at the highest level in several years. Unsettlement of the stock market, combined with an upturn in call money rates, contributed to the hesitancy of bond trading.

Heavy sales were centered principally in the semispeculative railroad, public utility and oil company liens, in which sizable profits had accumulated during the steady rise of the past several weeks.

One of the outstanding features of trading was a rally of 5 points or more in the 7½ per cent bonds of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company, which sold around 70, approximately 45 points above last year's extreme lows which followed the receivership. Reported progress toward reorganization and improvement in the fertilizer business laid the basis for the upturn.

The list of today's decline included most of the issues which were most conspicuous in the recent advance. Among the bonds which yielded readily to profit taking were Frisco, Chicago, Terre Haute and Southeastern, St. Paul and International Great Northern, Tennessee Electric 6s, Standard Gas 6½s and Sinclair and Pan American Oil issues.

Price movements of United States government bonds were mixed with the Treasury 4 1-4s reaching a new peak for the year.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. These quotations are received over Associated Press wires, and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and high.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Reactionary

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Reactionary tendencies predominated in today's curb market as a result of an unusually large volume of profit-taking sales, but bullish operations were successfully conducted in several industrial specialties.

Oils failed to respond to the announcement of an increase in gasoline prices in New York City and a substantial gain in gasoline exports. Humble Oil dropped 2 points to 61½, and net losses of a point or more took place in Prairie Oil and Gas, Red Bank, Standard Oil of Kansas and Imperial of Canada.

Rambling sales were especially heavy in the public utilities. Commonwealth Power broke 3½ points to 168.

A Fee Loan on Well Secured Realty

San Francisco's largest single piece of downtown real estate is the security behind the Marian Realty Company's offering of First Mortgage 6½% Bonds.

California's busiest and largest market occupies the ground, located in the heart of San Francisco's business district.

The market does a gross business of $10,000,000 per year—attendance on week days 25,000 to 30,000 daily and estimated at 50,000 shoppers on Saturdays.

78 merchants occupy over 4000 linear feet of counter space, and there is a large waiting list for more space.

The Marian Realty Company's net income last year was $122,000 and this year is running at the rate of $150,000—the Company shows a net worth in excess of $2,500,000.

The loan is for $1,000,000 and is secured by the ground and building, owned in fee and appraised at $1,904,988; located in the center of well developed, stabilized downtown business section of San Francisco.

We recommend for your conservative purchase.

Would You Loan $100 At 7% On $1000 Security ?

Conservative Investors who examine the merits of a 7%, Tax Exempt Municipal Improvement Bond discover such an investment—

An investment, that carries a 7% coupon—payable semi-annually—; that is safer than a good first mortgage; and one that is exempt from California personal property tax and from all Federal Income Taxes.

You will agree with many others that this is "California's Premier Investment." Inquire at our office or send for free booklet.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND (O.) May 25.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Heavy melting steel price reaches $18 at Pittsburgh, while both pig iron and scrap develop more activity at St. Louis. Important radiator maker is believed to have bought 15,000 tons of pig iron at Chicago and other lots elsewhere. Award of Seattle steel pipe line to Vancouver interests indicates British mills are expected to roll 5000 tons of plates involved. Copper at New York unchanged at 13⅝ cents. Zinc stronger at 7.02½ to 7.05. Lead nominal at 8⅝ @8¾ cents, St. Louis. Tin dull at 55⅝ cents."

Integrity

YOUR first thought in making an investment through any organization is, "are they all right, reliable, have they integrity?"

You ask yourself this question because, of all considerations integrity is the most important. Integrity sums up stability and equity; it includes capacity or endurance; it fortifies contracts and imparts a sacred character to statements. Without the keystone of integrity the arch is incomplete, unstable, untrustworthy.

Your money represents days and years of toil. It is the result of sacrifice in the past; safely invested, it holds comfort and security for your future.

Trust it only to that organization whose record is one buttressed by integrity in its every transaction.

So carefully has every transaction been handled by this organization that no investor has ever lost a dollar of interest or of principal invested in our 7 per cent real estate first mortgages. We invite an investigation as to our integrity.

To a Certain Dental Surgeon in Los Angeles

DEAR DOCTOR—

There was a time when it took a toothache to bring folks to your office.

Today, they come early, avoid toothaches, and everybody is happier.

There was when it required a cavity in the tooth balance to bring folks to a doctor of dentistry.

Today, people consult a dental specialist first, and avoid doing things which cause cavities.

Perhaps we may be of assistance to you. There is no charge for an examination.

STOCK PRICES REACTIONARY

Standard Industrials Show Big Declines

Chief Motor Interest Centers in Studebaker

Eastern Coalers Lead Rail Demand

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Stock prices started upward at the opening of today's market, but turned reactionary later under a heavy volume of profit taking and bear selling. Speculators for the advance succeeded, however, in lifting two score issues to new peak prices for the year. Trading showed a moderate contraction in volume, although the day's sales ran well above 1,500,000 shares.

Trade news was largely constructive in character. It included the announcement of an advance in gasoline prices in New York City and higher quotations for lead, zinc and scrap steel. Commodity markets also were higher, with much of the buying in wheat and cotton influenced by adverse weather reports.

PROFIT TAKING

Professional traders were quick to take profits on first signs of weakness in the standard industrials. American Can broke 4 points to 187¾, while declines of 1 to 2 points were recorded by such popular issues as United States Steel common, Baldwin, Allied Chemical, American Smelting, Coca Cola, Famous Players, Montgomery Ward, Gulf Sulphur and Willys Overland preferred.

Chief speculative interest in the motor group centered in the unusually heavy demand for Studebaker, which crossed 48 to a new high on total transactions of about 100,000 shares. Paige, Detroit, Packard, Pierce-Arrow prior preferred and Briggs Body also touched new highs. Mack Truck was heavy, dropping back more than 3 points to 176¾.

A spirited demand was noted for several specialties in which recapitalization plans or favorable dividend developments are believed to be pending. United States Industrial Alcohol was run up about 4 points to 94¾, the highest price in about five years, on unconfirmed rumors that the stock resumed at the equivalent of $8 annually on the present issue. International Paper, which recently announced the segregation of its water-power properties, touched a new peak at 73¾ and then fell back to 70¾ for a net loss of 2¾ points. Union Bag and Paper jumped 4½ points to a new top at 60½ and then fell back to 58.

DEMAND FOR RAILS

The demand for rails centered largely in the eastern coalers. Lackawanna was bid up 4½ points to a new top at 147, but dropped back to 145½, and Reading moved up about 2 points to a new peak at 84½, and then canceled half of its gain. Southern Pacific was heavy in reflection of a relatively poor April earnings report.

Call money opened at 3%, advanced to 4 after midday, and then dropped to 3½. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, with business in moderate volume.

With the exception of sterling, which held firm around 485¾, the foreign exchanges displayed a reactionary tone. French francs yielded 2 points to 509 cents, the lowest rate in about 2 months, and minor recessions also took place in the Italian, Belgian and most other important European currencies.

Commonwealth Power Company Acquisition One of Biggest Strides in Power Consolidations This Year—Company Will Now Control Nine Operating Properties.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—The acquisition by the Commonwealth Power Company of the Tennessee Electric Power Company will, when consummated, mark one of the biggest strides in power consolidations to date this year. It will likewise add to the prestige of the Commonwealth, which is already a very formidable unit in the power and light industry of the country. The Tennessee Company is primarily a hydroelectric development, ranks as one of the largest power producers in the southeastern part of the United States, and by reason of its interconnections through high-tension transmission lines with other large companies constitutes an integral part of the vast superpower system of the South.

The Commonwealth, which has made an offer for the properties, at present controls, through ownership of all outstanding common stock and in some cases a substantial portion of the preferred issues, the Consumers' Power Company, the Central Illinois Light Company, Illinois Power Company, Illinois Eastern Power Company, Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Company, the Ohio Edison Company and the Utility Coal Corporation.

The operating properties of its controlled organizations are advantageously located, serving more than 260 cities and towns, with a population of over 1,300,000 in the four large industrial and agricultural States of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The territory served covers an area larger than the combined States of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut, and includes such large industrial cities as Grand Rapids, Flint and Battle Creek, Mich.; Springfield, O.; Evansville, Ind., and Peoria and Sycamore, Ill., in which a large variety of industries operate. The Tennessee Power, therefore, would constitute its ninth operating property.

EXISTING PROPERTIES

The addition of the Tennessee system would not only give the company a commanding position in the South, but also would vastly increase its negerating capacity. The Commonwealth now operates twenty-five hydroelectric plants and nineteen steam electric plants, with a combined installed generating capacity of 469,800 horsepower, and has under construction facilities for an additional 33,000 horsepower. It has more than 3000 miles of high-tension lines, and a very comprehensive distributive system. It also does a large gas business.

The Tennessee Electric has four large hydroelectric units and three large steam-generating plants capable of developing 265,000 electric horsepower, and in addition has a number of smaller steam stations serving local communities which are not tied in with the main system. Almost 90 per cent, or substantially all of its electric energy is water developed, and in consequence the production cost per unit is low compared with other large systems. It operates more than 700 miles of high-power transmission lines, which tie up the greater part of the State of Tennessee, dispensing power to Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville and other communities with a population in excess of 450,000.

COMBINATIONS OUTLINED

Some idea of the importance of the pending deal is evidenced by the fact that its consummation would make the Commonwealth one of the largest organizations of its kind. The generating capacity of its operated properties, including the Tennessee Electric, would aggregate 734,800 horsepower, with additional facilities under construction. The combined transmission system would comprise 2707 miles of high-tension lines, and would add another State to its territory.

On the basis of exchange offered by the Commonwealth, the company on consummation of the deal will have a capitalization consisting of $13,696,700 in funded indebtedness, and a total of stock outstanding with the common and warrants figured at current market values of $71,960,272. The first preferred stock of the Tennessee Electric outstanding to the amount of $13,259,300 is apparently to remain undisturbed, dividend payments becoming a fixed charge. The annual gross of the combined properties, on a basis of last year's earnings, would exceed $41,000,000; annual fixed charges, including interest on the Tennessee Company's debt and first preferred stock, would be in the neighborhood of $9,900,000, and combined net would approximate $8,300,000 a year.

Cold Weather Causes Sharp Wheat Advance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Fears that heavy damage to the new wheat, corn, oats and rye crop had been done by the freezing weather Sunday night led to general commission-house buying of all grains and prices advanced sharply. Numerous stop-loss orders were uncovered on the way up, with the Dutch around the top. Wheat gained 2@3¾c, corn 3¼@4¼c, oats 1¾@1¾c and rye ¾@3¾c, with deferred deliveries of wheat and corn at a new high on the present movement. May wheat was inclined to lag and showed the least advance, closing at 1.71¾@1.73, while July was 1.01¾@1.03 and September 1.34¾@1.35, the latter finishing at the top. May corn closed at 1.18¼, July 1.19¾@1.19¾ and September 1.19¾@1.19¼.

Official reports showed temperatures as low as 26 deg

MUSSOLINI, D'ANNUNZIO MAY AGREE

Italy is Deeply Stirred by Premier's Visit to Poet; Reconciliation Forecast

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

ROME, May 25.—Premier Mussolini's visit with Gabriele d'Annunzio at the poet-adventurer's Villa II Vittoriale at Gardone, marking the first meeting of the Fascist leader and d'Annunzio since the Fascist march on Rome, has evoked more speculative comment in political circles than any event of recent months.

While it was reported that Mussolini's visit was for the purpose of arranging the taking over of d'Annunzio's villa as a gift to the nation, political observers believe the two men have bridged their political differences and that the present visit will have far-reaching results. This belief was strengthened today by the remark of a close friend of d'Annunzio, who said "Who knows? Perhaps within a few days the population of Rome will be gathering at the station to welcome the arrival of Mussolini and d'Annunzio."

This same friend of the poet indicated the purpose of Mussolini's visit, besides that of extending a political olive branch was to invite the poet to Rome to assist in the celebration on March 7 of the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Victor Emmanuel's ascension to the throne. If d'Annunzio accepts it is expected he will read a poem composed especially for the occasion.

BLOW GIVEN TO FRAZIER TESTIMONY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MINNEAPOLIS, May 25.—That the initials A. F. were not tattooed or scratched on the arm of Arthur Lopez-Frazier as late as 1924, was presented by Arthur Muchow, identification expert of the South Dakota penitiary in Federal court here late today.

Witnesses for Popez-Frazier, who seek to prove that he is Arthur Frazier, World War veteran, testified previously that Arthur Frazier had his initials scratched or tattooed on his arm when he was a student at the Flandreau Indian School before he went to war.

Lopez-Frazier, in court last week, rolled up his sleeve and showed the initials A. F. on his arm and said he scratched them there himself while a student at the Flandreau Indian School. Mr. Muchow testified today that on July 1, 1924, he examined Lopez-Frazier at Sioux Falls, S. D., for scars or other marks of identification but that those initials were not on his arm then."

Johnny Neely, rahchman of Floresville, Tex., declined to testify on the witness stand this afternoon that he saw Arthur Lopez-Frazier at Copan and at Hardy, Okla., in September or October, 1917, and in the fall of 1918.

PERFECTIONWARD

President S. Davies Warfield of the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, plans to better the railroads by a nation-wide consolidation of box-car service.

Mr. Warfield, congratulated by a New York reporter on his excellent idea, said with a modest smile:

"There's room for improvement always and everywhere. Two girls, a blond and a brunette, were conversing in their bathing suits on a Florida beach. After a time the talk turned to automobiling, and the blond said thoughtfully:

"'Give me the man who can drive with one hand.'

"'H'm,' said the brunette. 'For my part, I prefer the man who asks me to drive'."—[Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Timely Dial-ogue

"If you always gave me full swing," observed the pendulum, "you would never have any trouble with your hands."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the clock. "If it wasn't for your going back and forth in my works I'd never have any strikes."—[Boston Transcript.

ALL NEW TAX BILLS TO DIE

Gov. Richardson Dooms Increased Gasoline Levy and License Fee Boosts in Statement

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—Further evidence that Gov. Richardson will veto the gas tax increase measure and also the bill to raise the annual hunting and fishing license from $1 to $2 is contained in a statement issued today by the chief executive.

The Governor declares that "no new tax-raising device will be signed unless overwhelming demand is made for it by the people," adding that "all schemes to increase taxes will be smothered." All appropriation bills pending before him, the Governor says, "have been weighed in the economy balance" and that no measure will be approved for an appropriation "unless the money is a vital necessity—"

The statement follows:

"Economy has been my watchword in consideration of bills and every appropriation has been weighed in the economy balance. Unnecessary appropriation bills will not be signed. I have closely scrutinized every bill intended to put an extra tax on the people, even though it affected counties and cities and not the State directly. No new tax-raising device will be signed unless an overwhelming demand is made for it by the people. County salaries will not be approved except where the Board of Supervisors and the grand jury approved, thus putting the responsibility where it belongs.

"During the legislative session, I can, according to the constitutional provision, sign a bill or return it to the Legislature with my veto. After adjournment I am denied the veto privileges which I esteem so highly and must either sign a bill or let it slumber until the 29th inst., when it expires without pain. I would prefer to give many of these bills a violent veto death, stating my reasons to the public but if I announced before the 29th inst., that I intended to decline to sign a bill, I would only be inviting trouble as the bill would continue to confront me until the last day. I had thought of publicly cremating certain bills of unworthy type traded through the Legislature through unsavory political bosses, but the attorneys advise me that nothing would be accomplished by such action as there are extra copies of every enrolled bill in the hands of legislative secretaries and the cremation of one would not obliterate all. Nothing can be done, therefore, except to keep my name off them until the 29th inst., after which the taxpayers may again breathe freely while the yellow journals and slimy politicians will have abundant cause for wailing and howling."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1925, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Give and take was the course of procedure today in the stock market. Profit-taking was indulged in to a liberal extent, but offerings again were well taken, as was the case last week when similar efforts were made to break the price trend. Money rates were maintained at a firm level, but it still was possible to secure funds at rates below those openly quoted on the stock exchange. For the balance of the week this firmness was expected to continue in anticipation of the preparations for meeting requirements over the end of the month in the payments of interest and dividends then due. Low-priced motors featured that group, and while rubber stocks were still in demand, the chain-store and other merchandising concerns were more popularly in favor.

ALCOHOL'S RISE

Getting into new high territory, Industrial Alcohol brought about renewed speculation as to what the management had in mind for the recasting of capital structure. One thing stood out plainly—indications that dividends soon were to return and the price of the shares indicated either a $7 or $8 basis. Earnings were construed as good, and with affiliated concerns thrown into a common corporate pot, as had been suggested, it was believed that economies in operation might effect notable efficiency and lower costs.

TURNING THE TIDE

Studebaker, which had been the laggard among the motors, came to life during the late session and did much to offset the period of liquidation which was then in progress. That it had been behind the market was commonly conceded and the lack of leadership was attributed as the basic reason for the apparent neglect of the shares.

ANONYOMOUS

Typewritten suggestions of a fight for control of General Motors were in the mail this morning, but as they bore no signature the street catalogued them with fictitiously signed telegrams which often come to light, with orders for the purchase or sale of securities. Apart from the curiosity value which these contained, the hints were considered worthless. The Du Pont and Morgan interests were known to be too strongly intrenched in the affairs of the General Motors Corporation for serious consideration to be given to thought of an upset, while the community of interest between the bankers and industrial leaders in this corporation was believed to be too closely welded to warrant the innuendoes received in the financial district.

A WIDE SPREAD

Now up a dozen or more points to very nearly double its earlier quotation, Packard Motor Car shares assumed the leadership among low-priced automobile concerns. The impelling motive appeared to be linked up with the plans to retire the perferred, leaving but one class of securities to share in the growing earnings of the company. Although paying the same amount in dividends, Paige Detroit Motor was 10 point behind, but volume in the latter began to expand as speculative interest developed.

THE FUTURE'S STORE

Profit-taking in Mack Truck discouraged the naming of new high prices. It was not overlooked, however, that "something appeared to be brewing" for stockholders of this company. Daily evidence was supplied of the uses to which the company's trucks were being placed and while greater expansion along this line was indicated it was the future held forth by railroad requirements for gasoline-propelled cars that the street was inclined to stress. Competition furnished the rail lines both east and west by motor trucks and busses appeared to be getting keener and the larger transportation carriers were known to be giving unusual thought to meeting this comparatively new phase of their business. All of which in the final analysis spelled big business for the truck makers.

EFFECT OF BOOTLEG

The eastern territory again became the scene of further complex price problems for the oil companies as higher prices were named for gasoline in this market. A wide range had prevailed for some time within a narrow radius, induced to no small extent by the free offerings of "bootleg" gasoline. An 8-cent spread in a forty-mile automobile journey was revealed with prices ranging from 26 cents down to 18 cents a gollon. The greatest spread was found in the Western Connecticut Valley, the home of severe competition.

REVISING OPINIONS

Earnings at the rate of better than $3 a share were claimed for the Sinclair company by bankers following the company's affairs. With its newly enlarged refinery capacity being utilized for the first time to 100 per cent and a knowledge had of the manner in which the company had been spending large amounts of money for expansion, there was a greater inclination to consider Sinclair in the nature of a finished industrial ready to take its proper place in a large industry. For the present year, it was stated, no more than $3,000,000 would be expended for improvements.

QUIET ABSORPTION

That "good" buying of the Texas Company shares had continued was made known by commission houses taking on blocks of several thousand shares for their clients. Higher dividend possibilities were considered the impetus behind this absorption, which was credited with having taken out of the market quite substantial amounts during the past four or five sessions.

Power of Inventory

Better things are in store for Fisk Rubber stockholders was the impression gathered in a tour of the financial district. Bankers and commission houses alike were optimistically discussing the company's prospects and while a revision upward of crude rubber inventories was a talking point in favor, hints also were thrown out as to new contracts with automobile manufacturers in which Fisk might share.

The Counter Stocks

Merchandising shares had their turn with interest centralizing upon such issues as Gimbel Brothers, May Department Stores and Kinney Company. S. S. Kresge made a good advance, but it was meaningless, because of a small volume. Sears-Roebuck underwent some profit taking after a series of rising prices.

Record Tops

Leaping to new high records Union Bag and Paper and International Paper shares caught their strides and drew speculative eyes in their direction. While waterpower assets, high in values, constituted the main topic bearing on this movement, the street also heard of a new cost-reducing process for manufacturing its product now being worked out by the Union company.

Tracing a Move

"What's up in St. Paul?" was the oft-repeated query having for its incentive the recovery from low levels scored both by the common and preferred shares. To students of railroad affairs the recent rise was somewhat perplexing in view of the assessment possibilities in reorganization and conclusion finally was reached that a covering movement had been under way. Western wires last week had thrown hints of the impending movement, thereby tracing origin of the strength to places outside of Wall street.

SIX STATES COMBINE TO CURB FLOOD

Oklahoma Rivers to be Tamed by Impounding of Spring Freshets

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 25.—Under the direction of commissioners appointed from six States, the Southwest is launching a project to tame its wild rivers—the greatest reclamation effort ever attempted in the United States. Ernest E. Blake of Oklahoma City, chairman of the Oklahoma commission, is father of the project, and is joined in his work by representatives of Texas, Kansas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Colorado.

Oklahoma City and the North Canadian River will be the first locality where the impounding of flood waters—the essence of the general plan—will be attempted. As in the case of other rivers later, the waters of the North Canadian, when they reach flood stage, will be entrapped in great natural storage basins scattered up and down the course of the stream.

Thus prevented from inundating vast fertile areas, these waters will be directed in the dry seasons over the tracts where now the rainfall is insufficient to assure profitable crops. The first basin to be conditioned for flood entrapment is in the center of Beaver county and will make a lake three by five miles, forty feet deep.

Speaking of Operations

There are over 7300 hospitals in the United States. The total capacity is 815,000 beds. New York leads the States with nearly 700 hospitals. California has nearly 500, Pennsylvania, 475 and Illinois 415. Only three States, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Maine—have a hospital in each county.—[Exchange.

Mrs. Dora Flippen

Los Angeles, Cal.—"I had a heavy cold that settled on my lungs, with a constant cough. I could not sleep at night, had no desire for food, and had a feeling of fear and despondency. Two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helped me greatly, for it relieved the tightness in my chest and rid me of my cold. I could eat and sleep naturally. I am enjoying good health now and can safely recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to those who are ailing and run-down."—Mrs. Dora Flippen, 1220 San Antonio St.

DEATHS

With Funeral Announcements.

A WORD OF COMFORT

The real defense against infection is exuberant health resultant upon wholesome food, good habits, and regular exercise.

To immunize the soul from the contagion of blasphemy and selfpity and spiritual anaemia, make your venture of faith in a righteous, loving God; say your prayers; read your Bible; and strive ever to be honest with yourself, your fellows, and your God. When doubts and temptations assail you, amid your hours of sorrow, your strength will be as the strength of ten and you will emerge from the fight unscathed, clear-eyed, and undismayed.

AHLBORN. In this city, May 25, Mattie E. Ahlborn. Remains at Pierce Brothers, 720 West Washington street. Notice of funeral later.

BARRETT. May 25, Elizabeth Barrett, beloved mother of Mrs. H. F. Beardsley, sister of Robert and Daniel Manly and Mrs. Sarah Schmidt, all of Chicago. Services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Garrett Brothers, directors. (Chicago papers please copy.)

BARRETT. At 1015 East Thirty-ninth street, Mrs. Helen Lenora Barrett, aged 83 years, beloved wife of C. W. Barrett. Funeral services today at 2 p.m. from the funeral parlors of W. A. Brown, 1539 South Flower street.

BEACH. Suddenly, at 3052 West Fifteenth street, Harry C. Beach, aged 49 years, beloved husband of Miss Beach, loving son of Mrs. William Allison of Snyder, Okla., and brother of Mrs. George L. Paullis of Detroit. Funeral today at 4 p.m. from chapel of H. Clair Overholzer Co., formerly E. E. Overholzer-Sons Co., 1234 South Grand.

BROCKWAY. May 24, William H. Brockway, beloved husband of Jennie Brockway. Masonic services will be held Wednesday, May 27, at 2:30 p.m., at chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor, 1601 South Grand avenue. Interment, Indianapolis, Ind.

BRYANT. Virginia Parker Bryant, beloved wife of Charles F. Bryant and mother of Brice P. Bryant. Services will be held today at 2 p.m. from the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Interment, Forest Lawn Cemetery. Mark A. Pierce Co., directors. (Dayton, O., papers please copy.)

Mrs. Crabill Names Aides for Entertainment Program

Luncheon, Fashion Show and Auto Tour Provided

Grand Marshal Hellman Picks Parade Companions

As chairman of the committee on entertainment of ladies of the Imperial Council, Mrs. Sim W. Crabill made public yesterday the personnel of her assistants, and their program for Shrine week.

Each member will be hostess to the delegates from some one of the visiting temples. Headquarters will be maintained at the Biltmore, where the committee will meet guests on Monday, Tuesday, June 1, the Imperial dignitaries and their wives are taken to Catalina. Monday, the members of committee and guests, will attend the opening of the Imperial session under the escort of the Imperial Potentate by all uniformed organizations. At noon Tuesday, they give a luncheon in the Cocoanut Grove for the Ambassador. Abe Lyman's band will play. Ruth Roland and Bee Oliver, soprano, will entertain. Peggy Hamilton will present a fashion show. Tuesday evening the representatives and their wives will attend the Spanish dinner and entertainment to be given at Warner Brothers' studio.

DAY OF MOTORING

Wednesday will be a day of motoring through Hollywood, Beverly Hills and the Santa Monica bay district. A barbecue luncheon will be served in the sycamore grove at the Quilters' Ranch, Rustic Canyon, Santa Monica, with Hawaiian music and dancing for attendants, followed by Indian dances and folk songs by Arizona Indians.

The names of Mrs. Crabill's aides follow:

Mrs. F. O. Johnson, Mrs. Wm. Cornish, Mrs. W. J. Clark, Mrs. Fred Wickett, Mrs. Jno. Bell, Mrs. Bert Teed, Mrs. D. O. Kimler, Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. K. K. Bailey, Mrs. H. L. SISTER OF MISS MINTER WEDS TODAY

Margaret Shelby Will be Bride of Hugh Fillmore; Former Star at Ceremony

Miss Margaret Shelby, sister of Mary Miles Minter, former screen actress, will be married at high noon today to Hugh Fillmore, president of the Fillmore-Wiley Company, stone tile manufacturers, and son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fillmore, lifelong residents of Southern California.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, in the Cascade Marguerita, 701 South New Hampshire avenue. Dr. Frank Dyer, pastor of the Wilshire Congregational Church, will read the service. Col. Valarde, a long-time friend of the bridegroom, will act as best man.

The wedding will be a quiet family affair, only a few intimate friends being invited, because of the recent serious illness of Miss Shelby's grandmother, Mrs. Miles.

After a wedding trip, the destination of which is being kept even from members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Fillmore will be at home in their new home on Lookout Mountain Crest in August. Mrs. Shelby said last night that although the wedding plans had been discussed by her daughter and Mr. Fillmore for a long time, the setting of the wedding date came with a touch of surprise.

ALUMNI TO ENTERTAIN

The Alumni Association of the Los Angeles Public Library School will entertain the graduating class at a luncheon to be given at the Windsor Tea Rooms, following the commencement exercises of the school, Thursday. This will be the second meeting of the association this year. Plans are also being made for an alumni dinner in connection with the American Library Association conference in Seattle.

HUGE AIR FLEET URGED BY HALE

Chairman of Senate Naval Committee for Planes

Refuses to be Alarmed by Sky Menace in Orient

Declares Local Port Will be Finest in World

Stressing the necessity for greater development of America's air forces, Frederick Hale, United States Senator from Maine and chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, expressed himself yesterday as favoring, generally, Gen. Mitchell's air extension program, though he suggested that he did not believe the creation of a separate air department necessary.

Senator Hale, who is here on a tour of inspection of naval stations and equipment on this Coast, returned yesterday from viewing the naval oil reserves in Kern county. He has also visited the air service station at San Diego and has inspected Los Angeles Harbor in company with Senator Shortridge. He will go from here to San Francisco and Puget Sound and on to Honolulu, where he will observe tests of antiaircraft guns and inspect the work being done in deepening Honolulu harbor.

"Despite statements to the effect that our country has not been so diligent as other nations in the expansion of its air forces, I am of the opinion that the work we have done here is fully as effective as that of any other country," said the Senator. "We have devoted ourselves particularly to improving the type of aircraft and are now ready to go ahead with quantity production. As a result of this improvement work, I believe we have a type of plane superior to any in the world."

The Senator mentioned especially the Leoning airplane, which is amphibian, being capable of landing with equal ease on land, on the water or from a plane-carrier. "The United States is the only country possessing planes of this type," he said, adding that two Leoning machines will be used by the MacMillan Arctic expedition this summer. "Their having been chosen by the explorer for the rigorous usage to which they will be subjected in the Arctic, furnishes ample evidence of the value of this type of aircraft."

Referring to rumors that have been current to the effect that Japan is increasing its air forces on a large scale, Senator Hale said no information of that sort has been forthcoming through governmental sources. "Even assuming that this vast building of planes be a fact, which I doubt, the planes would be of no particular value to Japan in case of a foreign war, because she will lack the carriers, which are restricted by the 5-5-3 agreement," he commented.

Speaking of the light cruisers, not affected by the 5-5-3 agreement, the Senator stated that this country's equipment of this class of craft is not behind that of the other parties to the agreement. "Probably they have a greater number of such cruisers than we, but they are of an older and lighter type than the vessels of this class now under construction here, and the superiority of our boats will counter-balance whatever the others may possess in number."

Senator Hale declined to discuss the establishment of a naval base on this Coast, merely referring to the pending bill in Congress which provides for such a base at San Francisco. He expressed himself enthusiastically in regard to Los Angeles Harbor, stating that when the projected extension of the breakwater is completed this harbor will be the finest in the world. He said it is probable that the greater number of the vessels of the Pacific Fleet will remain permanently on this Coast and that the waters off Los Angeles Harbor will continue to be the favorite place for conducting maneuvers, owing to the favorable atmospheric and climatic conditions that prevail there.

STRIKE PLAN ABANDONED BY DRIVERS

Union Men Accede to Reduction Proposal Made by Dyers' Association

The threatened strike of so-called commission drivers of the cleaning and dyeing industry did not materialize yesterday. Not only did the drivers accept the reduction contained in an economy program adopted by members of the Plant Owners' Association of Cleaners and Dyers, but they made overtures for a permanent truce.

Public approval of the plan of the association to eliminate middleman profits and to control its own business instead of having it dominated by union drivers, who have been compelling the payment of 40 per cent commission on all work collected and delivered, was freely expressed.

Thomas P. Endicott, director-general of the organization, stated that many letters had been received commending the association for the action taken. General surprise was expressed that the drivers, who merely perform delivery service, were receiving as high as $7500 a year for the work.

The new pay schedule calls for a commission of 25 per cent and a guarantee of $50 a week to drivers averaging $200 a week in work brought in. This is regarded as liberal allowance and the drivers have accepted it.

It is officially declared that should any of the drivers walk out they will not be permitted to return except on a straight salary basis. Many of the drivers are now negotiating, it is said, for salaried positions with a small commission allowance as an inducement to increase business, and an allowance for the operation of motor cars.

The most important victory of the plant owners, however, is that there is a strong sentiment among the drivers to relinquish control of their routes to the cleaners and dyers, providing a salary and commission schedule is agreed upon. This will enable the plant owners to have direct contact with customers.

A majority of the drivers feel that if they can get $50 a week, an added commission of 10 per cent for all work brought in and an allowance of $15 a week for operation of their delivery cars they will be satisfied. The association is not dealing with the men collectively, but members will consider contracts with individual drivers. The above figures are those proposed by some of the drivers and may form the basis of negotiations. The plant owners have not approved this schedule as yet, and may ask that it be modified.

Bus Line to Run to Beverly Hills Granted Permit

A certificate permitting the Pacific Electric to operate motor busses along Wilshire and Sunset boulevards to serve Beverly Hills was granted yesterday by the State Railroad Commission. Franchise to operate over a similar route recently was given the company but on the recommendation of citizens of Beverly Hills the commission revised the certificate.

The company will operate from Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax avenue west on Wilshire to Canyon Drive to Santa Monica Boulevard to Beverly Drive to Sunset Boulevard to Gardener Junction. Twenty-minute service will be maintained.

The company also was given permission by the commission to acquire an auto stage line now being operated by the Compton Transportation Company between Venice and Long Beach. It is understood a transfer price of $12,500 has been agreed on.

SALVATION ARMY PAIR TO BE WED

Visiting Officers Will be Guests at Marriage of Two Recruits

Officers and other members of the Salvation Army who are coming here this week to greet Commander Evangeline Booth on her arrival for a three-day visit will be among the guests Thursday night at the marriage of Miss Ruth Bell Paine to Norman Charles Bowyer. The ceremony will be performed at the Salvation Army headquarters, 832 West Ninth street by Lieut.-Col. W. H. Gooding. Mr. Bowyer is a son of Mrs. Gooding by a former marriage.

After the wedding the couple will leave for San Francisco, where they will go into training to become officers of the Salvation Army. The parents of Bowyer and Miss Paine have been active in Salvation Army work for many years. Bowyer is 22 years of age, and Miss Paine, 23.

Lieut.-Col. C. R. Boyd, divisional commander of the organization for Southern California, announced yesterday that the public will be invited to the wedding. Music will be provided by two Salvation Army bands.

Tot Hit by Car at Venice Near Death; Two Held

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, May 25.—Struck, according to a police report, by a rapidly moving automobile as he was crossing the bridge over Carbrillo Canal leading to United States Island, Gordon McRae, 6 years of age, of 339 Lion Canal, suffered internal injuries said to be critical.

After striking the boy, according to police, the machine swerved wildly and finally crashed into a building at Speedway and Paloma avenue. The driver was E. W. Ogden and Al Morris was a passenger. They were arrested and are being held for investigation by Detectives Watson and Button.

ANAHEIM SHOW AWARDS MADE

Orange Exhibit Sweepstakes to Tulare County

Mutual Distributors Take Away Many Firsts

Bastanchury Ranch is Named Lemon Class Winner

Sweepstakes honors in the citrus awards made at the fifth annual California Valencia Orange Show in Anaheim yesterday went to Tulare county growers; grand sweepstakes for Valencia oranges going to the Porterville Packing Association of the Mutual Orange Distributors, and second award in this class going to Lindsay. Growers' sweepstakes for Valencia oranges went to W. W. Tyler of Lindsay. Grand sweepstakes for lemons went to Bastanchury Ranch, Fullerton, and growers' sweepstakes for lemons to F. E. Moll of Yorba Linda, exhibiting through the Mutual Orange Distributors.

To the thirty-five packing-house associations entering exhibits through the Mutual Orange Distributors went a large proportion of the prize awards and cups in all classes. In commenting on the awards, Otto Des Granges, director of awards for the orange show, said, "There has been an exceedingly difficult problem for us to meet in making these awards because of the high quality of the fruit exhibited but I am glad to say that in the final decisions perfect unanimity has marked the findings of the judges and there has been no dissention in any class.

COMPETITION CLOSE

The exhibitors have been out for blood and they have drawn blood. Competition has been close but the awards have been made solely on the merits of the fruit exhibited."

For the best automobile display, first prize, silver cup to J. E. Walter Company, Anaheim agent for the Jordan car.

Citrus awards were made as follows:

Class 1—Grand sweepstakes for the best forty boxes of Valencia oranges: First prize, silver loving cup, and $100, Mutual Orange Distributors of Porterville; second prize, $50, Mutual Orange Distributors of Lindsay; third prize, $25, Randolph Marketing Company of Anaheim.

Class 2—Growers' sweepstakes for best twenty-four boxes of Valencia oranges; First prize, silver cup and $100, W. W. Tyler, Mutual Orange Distributors of Lindsay; second prize, $50, Randolph Marketing Company of Anaheim; third prize, $25, Placentia Mutual Orange Association of Placentia.

CLASS-THREE CITRUS

Class 3—Grand sweepstakes for the best forty boxes of lemons; First prize, silver loving cup and $50, Bastanchury Ranch Company of Fullerton; second prize, $25, Mutual Orange Distributors of Puente; third prize, certificate, Yorba Linda Chamber of Commerce.

Class 4—Growers' sweepstakes for best twenty-four boxes of lemons: First prize, silver loving cup and $50, F. E. Moll, Mutual Orange Distributors, Yorba Linda; second prize, $25, Randolph Marketing Company of Anaheim; third prize, certificate Anaheim Orange and Lemon Association.

Class 5—Sweepstakes for the most artistic display of twelve boxes of seedless grapefruit: First prize, silver loving cup and $25, Anaheim Orange and Lemon Association; second prize, $15, Mutual Orange Distributors of Clare-

WILL BE COUNSEL INSTEAD OF JURIST

Former Judge Bledsoe

BLEDSOE TO ENTER CITY LEGAL FIRM

Ex-Jurist and Defeated Candidate for Mayor to Resume Practice

After more than twenty-five years of sitting on the bench listening to attorneys plead their cases before him, former United States District Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe has resumed his place in the world as an attorney at law, it was learned yesterday.

Judge Bledsoe has gone into partnership with two well-known attorneys who have been established in partnership. The name of the new firm is Hill, Morgan & Bledsoe, with offices in the California Bank Building, on South Spring street. A. J. Hill formerly was counsel for Los Angeles county, Vincent Morgan, the second member of the firm, was for some years the legal adviser in the county flood control office.

It was in 1896 at San Bernardino when most people drove to the Courthouse in buggies or rode on a horse or walked, that Judge Bledsoe was admitted to practice law in California. It is well, by the way, not to refer to the judge's home town as San Berdoo. He said he almost sent a man to jail once for doing so—"dehorning a perfectly good name," is the way he styles it.

Judge Bledsoe had not practiced law for many years before he was elected judge of the Superior Court of San Bernardino county. About eleven years ago he was appointed judge of the United States District Court and sat at Los Angeles.

As a member of the local law firm, Judge Bledsoe will engage in the general practice of law. He announced that he will practice as zealously and intensely as he carried out his duties on the bench with the hope that justice will be done. He believes that because of its comparative youth, Los Angeles holds great opportunities for the lawyer as well as for the business man.

"Los Angeles has a great future before her," he said, and then

KANSAS WHEAT QUEEN HERE

Beauty Arrives to Tell Shriners at Conclave All About Grain Grown in Her Home State

Veda Watson, 19-year-old Kansas Wheat Girl, arrived in Los Angeles on the California Limited of the Santa Fe yesterday to attend the Shrine convention and advertise Kansas wheat. Miss Watson, who is at the Biltmore Hotel, is accompanied by her chaperon, Mrs. F. W. Hockaday of Wichita, Kan.

Miss Watson was chosen as the Kansas Wheat Girl in a State-wide newspaper contest, winning out over the seventeen other girls, all from Kansas farms. She is a sophomore at Sterling College, Kan., and has always lived on a farm near Turon, Kan. Since her selection by the five judges at Topeka in January she has been on a tour of the principal cities of the United States advertising Kansas wheat. While in Washington she gave President Coolidge a small sack of wheat harvested by the late President Harding. Her trip is being sponsored by the Kansans, a State booster organization.

VADA WATSON

Miss Watson is delighted with Los Angeles, but declared she had no ambition to enter the moving pictures.

During the Shrine convention she will be with the Kansas temples and will distribute tiny sacks of wheat and balloons to the crowds. Miss Watson will leave here after the convention for San Francisco.

Our little friend, Ella Cinders, may be only a potato manicurist now, but you'll be surprised at what happens when her adventures begin in The Times next Monday.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE eccentric but eminently sensible marriage contract of Miss Fannie Hurst, the author, supplies the New York papers with a thrill every year.

MARRIED—BUT FRIENDLY

Miss Hurst and Jacques Danielson, a Russian pianist, are married but they do not live in the same house. Each lives his own life; they meet only by appointment.

This arrangement is maintained by regular legal contract. Having kept it up successfully for ten years, they have just signed up for another five years.

Almost any marriage would be successful in these circumstances—if both parties had money enough.

"FREEDOM"—HUH!

Miss Hurst talks about "freedom." But she knows freedom has nothing to do with it. She is a discreet lady with an audience of readers to consider.

The real rock that marriages wreck upon is banality. In a way the happier they are—the more unhappy.

Not long ago a professional husband told be that he and his wife had lived together for thirty years "without a single cross word."

"How horrible!" I exclaimed. He thought I was jesting. I was not.

DUMB—AND DEAD

I remember as a child seeing a tamed husband selecting some lamb chops at a butcher shop. As he walked away with them under his arm his face wore a pleased, patient, cow-like look. The woman who brought him to that state, I thought, ought to be prosecuted for the murder of a soul.

TRUTH ABOUT DIVORCES

Every day I read where some woman has been divorced because her husband struck her.

And I always comment to myself: "You ingenious, shrewd little liar!"

As a matter of fact, few women are beaten by their husbands. But it would not matter much if they were—least of all to them.

Women are too shrewd and keen and hard to give much importance to any such trivial incident. But it's a grand alibi—something that absolutely overwhelm's the sentimental remorse of every man. I haven't any doubt in the world that many women have deliberately goaded men into physical violence to get a closer hold of a terrible weapon.

WHEN ROMANCE DIES

If divorce litigants really told the truth, their testimony would be like this:

She: Your Honor, I am bored with him. I can't stand his sentimental ideas about "our little home"—all that Darby and Joan stuff.

He: Your Honor, on our wedding anniversary I came home half drunk with sentiment about it. I called her "my queen" and a lot of stuff. But when I went to kiss her she was all wet under the arms; she didn't have any dress shields. And, your honor, I can't get over it.

THE DREAM SHIP

In his immature love dreams every boy always thinks of marriage as a voyage in a fairy ship with a beautiful princess who dines on ambrosia, and sips the silver mists of the morning.

To girls it is a good business deal.

Marriages fail because the girl can't keep up the fiction; she comes down to earth with a bump—drinks weak tea and eats beefsteak with onions.

The real reason why the age of chivalry was romantic had nothing to do with armored knights. It was because the men and women didn't eat together.

RITES FOR MRS. ECKERT ARE SET FOR THURSDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Viola M. Eckert, who died Sunday at Flora, Ill., will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Sullivan, 1913 La France avenue, South Pasadena, with whom she lived. Mrs. Eckert was the widow of Col. T. W. Eckert, a newspaper man of Arkansas City for many years; he died sixteen years ago. She leaves also another daughter, living at Flora, Ill., at whose home she died.

GRAVE SPURNS LOVE'S PREY

Effort of Woman Who Plotted Husband's Death is Failure; Empty Future Stretches Ahead

Her path of roses which she hoped to find beyond the grave of her murdered husband, Helen Davis reflected yesterday as she lay on her cot in the General Hospital while recovering from an attempt at suicide, is studded only with thorns of retribution.

Helen Davis is 28 years of age and a widow of her own making. Back in 1917, as the wife of Pio Pico—a Hondo rancher bearing the name of California's last Mexican Governor—she plotted to have her husband slain, according to her own admissions at that time, that she might give her love to another. The man she loved, Richard Paaske, is serving a life sentence in San Quentin for murdering Pio Pico and tossing his body over a cliff into the graveyard of ships at Hondo. Mrs. Pio Pico—or Helen Davis, as she now choses to call herself—was tried and acquitted of complicity of the crime, though she had previously admitted that she urged Paaske to commit the deed.

LIFE AN OPEN BOOK

Helen Davis tried to end her own life Sunday afternoon by swallowing poison. Her life prior to her trial for murder in Santa Barbara became an open book in the tragic court scene. Briefly, it was this:

Married at 16 years of age to Pio Pico, her father's neighbor and a rancher. Their home was near enough to the sea for them to hear the angry lashing of waves against the treacherous rocks where the steamer Santa Rosa went down, and it was within a stone's throw of the railroad where several years ago a Shriners' special piled up and killed many persons. It was at the foot of the bluff where later—in 1923—seven United States destroyers crashed upon the rocks and drowned twenty-six sailors.

There were two children. Then, into the life of Mrs. Pio Pico came young Paaske, a ranch hand. Mrs. Pico gave her love to him. Pio Pico was cruel to her. Paaske was kind to her. She plotted with Paaske to kill Pio Pico.

Pio Pico was returning home one evening. He carried candy and walnuts and oranges for his two baby boys. He was ambushed, four bullets pierced his chest, and four days later his body was found on the beach at the foot of the high

SEASON TICKETS FOR SHRINE PAGEANTS AT COLISEUM ARE REPORTED TO BE GOING FAST

Just one week before the Imperial Shrine Conclave opens in advance sale of season tickets, at $5.50 each, was announced today at Shrine headquarters to be 21,000, leaving 29,000 unsold. Tickets are now on sale at the offices of the B. H. Dyas Co., convention and all the principal banks and their branches.

With the arrival of the visiting crowds due here late this week, a heavy rush on all remaining tickets is expected and Los Angeles residents who wish good seats in the Coliseum, where the pageants will be staged, are urged to make their selection early. Each ticket sold entitles the holder to the same reserved seat throughout the week.

FEAR REVELERS LOST ON YACHT

Channel Combed for Vessel Bearing Two Couples

Quartet Believed Drowned in Choppy Seas

A drunken lark by two unidentified couples who stole the thirty-five-foot sloop Hiawatha from its mooring at the California Yacht Yacht Club Saturday night is feared by San Pedro police to have ended in tragedy, they announced yesterday.

No trace has been found of the sloop or the quartet aboard since they were observed leaving Johnson's Cove on the western end of Catalina Island headed for the mainland Sunday afternoon.

Fears that the sloop went down in a choppy sea after the supposedly intoxicated pair were unable to handle her sails in the stiff west wind that was blowing late Sunday, grew in police circles yesterday after a squad of police under Detective Lieutenant Farrell patrolled the channel in a speed boat and were unable to find a trace of the missing craft.

There is believed to be a remote possibility that the sloop was put in to a sheltered cove at a little-frequented part of the island. Detective Farrell, however, said police have virtually abandoned hope that such was the case, after the thorough search.

The sloop was last seen by a sailing party Sunday about 2:30 p.m. Members of the party reported that the men in the party aboard the sloop not only were plainly drunk but were obviously not experienced in handling of a sailing craft. Two men, even if they were experienced, it was pointed out, would have trouble handling the sloop in choppy weather.

The search for the missing sloop was being maintained yesterday. A reward of $200 was offered by the owner of the Hiawatha, Peter Westergaard, Los Angeles real estate man, for the recovery of his craft.

No clews have been found to the identity of the persons aboard the sloop. It is believed, however, that they were familiar with vessels anchored in the Yacht Club basin and took the sloop in the spirit of adventure, inspired by drink.

Hearing on preliminary matters in the suit brought by Charles J. Casper to have the court declare void the contract entered into by the City Council with the firm of Curlett & Beelman for the architectural work on the new City Hall was continued by Judge Shaw yesterday to June 3. The continuance was granted to permit attorneys for Casper to file an order to show cause why the relief sought by him should not be granted.

Casper attacked the contract on the ground that, under the City Charter, the Board of Public Works has the legal privilege of drawing all contracts relating to the construction of public buildings. Casper also asserted the terms of the contract as drawn do not comply substantially with the ordinance of intention to let the contract passed by the Council March 6, last.

BOX, RHODES SENTENCED

Pair in Jeanne Taylor Case Start for Leavenworth Tomorrow; Judge Censures Both Men

Holding John W. Box and Alexander R. Rhodes equally responsible for transporting Jeanne R. Taylor Rhodes from Erie, Pa., to Los Angeles late last December but holding especially condemnation for Box for his testimony that was declared to be palpable perjury, United States Judge James yesterday sentenced both men to Leavenworth prison.

Box received a sentence of twenty-seven months and Rhodes eighteen months. They will be taken East to Federal prison tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in company with half a score other prisoners.

Rhodes was censured by the government judge for marrying Miss Taylor with the obvious intention of permitting her to live with Box as the latter's wife in the trip across the continent and in Los Angeles and Glendale after the trio's arrival in Southern California.

Rhodes's contrition following the death of Miss Taylor in Glendale Hospital from blood poisoning caused when she rouged her lips with a paper rose paved the way for a strong government case. More than a dozen disinterested witnesses testified that Box and Miss Taylor occupied the same berth while traveling to Los Angeles, but Box categorically denied the allegations. He was the only defense witness.

Box wants five suits of clothing and other personal garments he said he gave into the custody of Rush Meadows, indicted counsel, when he retained Meadows shortly before his arrest for transporting Jeanne R. Taylor Rhodes from Erie, Pa., to Los Angeles.

When sentence was pronounced yesterday afternoon his attorney, T. C. Whitlock, informed the court that Box was destitute of raiment and that several demands on Meadows for the garments and the trunk had been fruitless.

United States Secret Service Agent Ashe declared that Charles Sweeney and Fred Keller, indicted with Meadows on a charge of forging and dealing in stolen Liberty bonds, were at present wearing two suits that are believed to be two of the five sought by Box. Ashe said the two men had told him the suits were given to them by Meadows.

Judge James instructed Ashe and Department of Justice Agent Wheeler to investigate the ownership of the clothing.

PASCOE'S LOSS STIRS CITY HALL

Council Friends Indignant When Place Created for Him is Given Another

The failure of Dr. Elmer R. Pascoe to retain a place in the city government after having served more than twenty years as assistant health commissioner and acting health commissioner following the death of Dr. L. M. Powers, continued to be the center of controversy at the City Hall yesterday, when it became known that Dr. Pascoe had failed to be given the position the Council created for him.

Following the appointment by Mayor Cryer of Dr. George Parrish of Portland, Or., as health commissioner, Dr. Pascoe was left "out in the cold." After weeks of consideration the Council finally created the position of chief medical examiner for the Civil Service Commission, and it was generally understood by the Councilmen that this position would be given him by the civil service department. Dr. Pascoe for years had been in charge of the health department for physical examination of civil service applicants.

Councilmen returned yesterday that the Civil Service Commission had passed over Dr. Pascoe and had given the appointment on thirty days' trial or temporary appointment to Dr. Charles Morris of the health department. Friends of Dr. Pascoe in the Council, who believed that he had been done an injustice by being practically forced out of the health department, were indignant yesterday at the action of the Civil Service Commission, and threatened to start action in the Council to abolish the new position.

Tom Mix Will Get Wild West Welcome Home

A wild west welcome will be accorded Tom Mix, film cowboy, and his famous steed, Tony, when they arrive on the home range next Tuesday after a tour of Europe and America.

The demonstration will start at 2:30 p.m. at the Southern Pacific station, when the famous screen horseman and his mount alight from a special car. A street parade will be followed by a welcome at the Fox studio at Western avenue and Sunset Boulevard. Among those who will welcome Mix are two tribes of Indians from Grauman's Egyptian Theater, the Cowboys' Cornet Band of Prescott, Ariz., where the actor was once a deputy marshal, and numerous cowboys from on and off the range.

Former Board Member Backs F.R. Feitshans

Citizens of Los Angeles were urged by D. K. Edwards, former member of the board, yesterday, to remember to vote for Frederick R. Feitshans for Board of Education.

Mr. Feitshans's record as a member of the Board of Education for the past two years is conclusive proof that his educational qualifications, his training and experience admirably fit him for the office," Mr. Edwards said.

"He was born in Springfield, Ill., where his father was superintendent of schools, later worked his way through the University of Kansas, graduating with honors with the degree of mining engineer, and came to Los Angeles twenty years ago to enter business. His record as a reliable, honest, efficient and successful business man and good citizen is an enviable one. Few have given more freely of their time to civic affairs."

Mr. Feitshans is president of the Hollenbeck Heights Improvement Association, member of the harbor committee, chairman of the excursion committee of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the Sons of the Revolution, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, Masonic order, Sigma Chi fraternity, president of the Southern California Kansas University Alumni Association, and is affiliated with many other organizations.

Twins' Plea for New Trial Will be Heard Today

Hearing on motion for a new trial of John and James Dasey, twins, convicted on two counts each of attacking Miss Josephine Price, employee of a downtown confectionery, was continued by Judge McLucas of Superior Court yesterday to this morning. The delay was necessitated by the absence of Judge Craig, before whom the twins were tried.

Miss Price testified the twins dragged her into a coupe the night of January 25, last, while she was returning home from work, took her to a lonely spot near Silver Lake and attacked her. The men were found guilty after the jury of ten women and two men deliberated thirty minutes.

If a new trial is denied the men, they are subject to sentence in the State penitentiary for a term of from two to 100 years.

OFFICE CHANGE ANNOUNCED

The division sales office of the Sunland Sales Co-operative Association has been moved to 420 Chamber of Commerce Building, it was announced yesterday. The local offices of the association formerly were maintained in the Van Nuys Building.

FUTURIST FROCKS WILL BE EXHIBITED

Mrs. John Mell

Futurist frocks are all the rage in Paris and their influence is being felt in American fashion circles. One of the patterns that are so much in vogue in the French capital has been acquired by Mrs. John Mell of Pasadena, and Mrs. Harold B. Wren. These dresses are being sold through the Woman's Exchange, which is a branch of the Assistance League, in the Woman's Athletic Club, and will be on exhibition tomorrow from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the club building at 853 South Flower street.

threw in good naturedly, "despite the fact that I was not elected Mayor. It shall be my purpose as an attorney to help Los Angeles in every way to become a great city from every point of view."

The judge also remarked that the results of the recent primary election have left him with no feeling of ill will against anybody nor have they lessened his desire to do all he can toward the upbuilding of the community.

GRAVE SPURNS PREY OF LOVE

bluff. Paaske and Mrs. Pico confessed.

RETRIBUTION COMES

Mrs. Pio Pico passed into oblivion at the close of her trial. Nothing was known of her since that day until last Sunday, when Helen Davis attempted suicide and the question arose:

Why did she attempt to end her life?

Retribution, according to Detective Lieutenant Paul Stevens, is the answer.

Mrs. Pio Pico, as Helen Davis, sought to bury her past. Her first disappointment visited her when she was deprived of the love for which Pio Pico died, when Paaske was sent to prison.

Her two boys were taken from her. A brother-in-law has one. The other son—she has lost trace of him.

Wherever she went, even though she had hidden her identity, Helen Davis found only a path of thorns to tread. Powers unknown to her forbade her to forget.

She admitted she had sought companionship with another man. But it wasn't love. She quarreled with him. Her love still remained for Paaske, turning gray in San Quentin.

WORST BLOW OF ALL

The only employment she could obtain was that of a laundress. She secured odd jobs at washing other people's dirty clothes, but she needed a car to take her to her work. She bought one, but could not pay for it.

Always there was the specter of the past. This and the quarrel of a few days ago, her despondency over her impoverished condition and the loss of her children, her failure to make the payments on her car and the drudgery over the washtubs were her disappointments in life that urged her to attempt suicide.

And the latest disappointment of them all was the message she heard from her physician yesterday—

She is not dying. She will live.

JEWEL THEFT REPORTED

Roland Asher, motion-picture director, living at 5408½ Lemon Grove avenue, reported to Hollywood police yesterday that some one had entered his home and stolen a large amount of jewelry. An investigation is being made by Hollywood detectives.

EDWARDS BACK AT OFFICE

State Highway Commissioner Edwards who has been confined to his home in Orange during the past ten days returned to his Los Angeles office yesterday. Commissioner Edwards was taken ill about two weeks ago with what was diagnosed as influenza.

HAZELTINE WILL ATTACKED

Grandniece, Given $1, to Contest Document That Distributes $150,000 in Bequests

A contest to the will of George W. Hazeltine, wealthy resident of North Broadway, who died last March at 87 years of age, will be filed within a few days on behalf of Loraine Moody Richmond, a grandniece, it was stated yesterday by H. G. Redwine, attorney for the young woman.

The will, which was filed March 18, last, bequeaths to her "the sum of $1, and no more." So far as Dell A. Schweitzer and Frank S. Hutton, attorneys for Mr. Hazeltine during nineteen years, have been able to learn, she is the only living blood relative.

Mr. Hutton stated yesterday that published accounts indicating that Hazeltine was a miser and eccentric did not do him justice.

FORTUNE WON HERE

The fortune left by him, said Mr. Hutton, aggregated about $150,000, accumulated mainly in real estate during his life of more than fifty years in Los Angeles. He lived in an adobe house on North Broadway, which had been his home for fifty years, on land that he had purchased many years ago when Los Angeles was a pueblo.

The will, which was filed by the Security Trust and Savings Bank, is a maze of bequests, codicils and revocations. Among those who received bequests are: Margaret Busch, $500; J. W. Ford, $400; L. K. Roberts, $200; Louise Hugus, $500; A. C. Bollinger, $200; Beulah Mathews Crockett, $500.

To Mr. Schweitzer and Mr. Hutton he bequeathed $10,000 each. To the Red Cross he gave $5000, to the Young Men's Christian Association, $2000; Young Women's Christian Association, $1000; Salvation Army, $2000.

The residue of the estate is left in trust to Mr. Schweitzer for the benefit of Mrs. Mollie Hazeltine Singleton and her husband, Ralph Singleton, of 1825 Second avenue, Seattle, and Mary Adelaide Drake. Mr. Hutton stated that Mrs. Singlefon is the widow of Hazeltine's dead brother, and that Mrs. Drake, since dead, was the grandmother of Loraine Moody Richmond.

ALERT TO LAST

At first Hazeltine intended that the bulk of his estate should go to the Treasury of the United States upon the death of certain relatives, but a codicil revoked this bequest, as did another codicil revoke the gift of property at Alpine street and North Broadway to the Los Angeles County Pioneer Society.

The old gentleman's reason for cutting off his grandniece is believed to lie in some family quarrel, but none of the attorneys on either side would make any statement as to what that was.

Letters testamentary were issued to the Security Trust and Savings Bank on April 15.

Mr. Hutton said that there are many witnesses of the signing of the documents who will testify that the old gentleman was alert mentally, and that he retained his business acumen until the last.

KHJ PARTY PRESENT

A vast throng gathered yesterday evening when Freeman Lang, of KHJ stepped to the microphone to announce that Uncle John and the KHJ radio children were on their way and would presently appear and conduct a children's hour program.

While the KHJ Majestic Six entertained, Uncle John and his galaxy of radio stars slipped in the back way. Their appearance on the platform — visualizing in the flesh for the first time popular favorites who had been but voices before—was greeted with tumultuous applause.

CHILDREN PLEASE

Vyola Von and Lillian Crowel, appearing in advance of the other radio children, presented a matinee number which proved a distinct sensation—introducing in burlesque their version of the Parisian Apache and the Argentine tango.

In addition to the children and appearing following the presentation of the children's hour program were the following KHJ artists: E. K. Barnes, Dot Street, Hatch Graham, Freeman Lang, Les Roscoe, Uncle Ramus, Cousin Oswald and the KHJ Majestic Six.

Friday a special children's matinee will be given when the radio children will again appear in specialty numbers. Saturday Lillian Crowel and Vyola Von are to appear again.

SUIT SEEKS TO KEEP LAND FOR RAILROAD

Suit to restrain the Inyo County Board of Supervisors and nine fictitiously named defendants from using part of the Central Pacific Railroad Company's land as a roadway was filed in Federal District Court yesterday. It is charged in the complaint that the Southern Pacific Company as lessee of the Central Pacific is solely entitled to use the land that was originally granted to the Carson and Colorado Railroad Company, and later transferred to the Central Pacific Company.

REAL TENOR IS RADIO FEATURE

J. M. Duncan's Ballad Voice is Broadcast "Find"

Piggly Wiggly Girls Present Noon-Hour Program

Notes of Mexican Music is Set for Tonight

BY CLAIRE MELLONINO

The dull gray skies which cast a depressing atmosphere over Radioland yesterday morning were dispelled to give way to the sunshine broadcast from KHJ during the noon hour by the Piggly Wiggly Girls and James M. Duncan, tenor.

To James M. Duncan we discovered a lyric tenor who was dieallotted to broadcasting. Excellent musicianship combined with a deep sense of sentimental values lended his interpretations of ballads far above the usual rendition of such numbers as "Gray Dawn" by Johnson; "Rose in the Rain" by Forester; "I Passed by Your Window," by Brake, and "Trees," by Speaks.

Tonight Jose Arias has a rare treat in store for all our Mexican friends and all of Radioland who love the music of Mexico. He has arranged a program comprising artists of his native country and contributions, to the evening will be devoted entirely to Mexican and Spanish music. An evening program of this spirited character is seldom broadcast, so we would suggest that you embrace the opportunity to hear it.

WARNS OF DELAYS ON AQUEDUCT

Former Head of City Club Pleads Cause of Water Bond Measures

Asserting that the city has no time to waste if it is to secure Colorado River water in time to meet its needs in the immediate future, S. C. Graham, former president of the Los Angeles City Club, and formerly a member of the State Water and Power Commission, yesterday urged adoption of the two water bond measures on the June 2 ballots.

"I believe both will carry—the $8,000,000 of bonds to extend the present aqueduct service from Owens Valley, and the $2,000,000 to provide funds to do the preliminary work on an aqueduct to bring water from the Colorado River," Mr. Graham said. "It is well, however, to call the public's attention to the gravity of the issue involved."

Mr. Graham suggested that it would be a serious error to raise a question at this time as to the location or height of the dam which will ultimately be built in the Colorado River.

"The construction of the aqueduct will require much longer than the construction of the dam will require," he said. "I have been told that from seven to eight years will be required for the building of the aqueduct.

"Another fact should be kept in mind—the voting of the $2,000,000 of bonds on June 2 will be notice served on the authorities in Washington, that there is here a market for the water to be brought from the Colorado River. Such action will encourage the Federal government to act more promptly."

Driver is Held in Hit-and-Run Motor Smash

Lyle Lawrence, 36 years of age, 4442 Russell avenue, was arrested yesterday by Hollywood police charged with violating a city ordinance compelling autoists to stop and render aid after an automobile accident. He is accused of having driven the car which collided with that of Fred Graveline, Owensmouth, on Cahuenga Pass early yesterday morning. Graveline was thrown from his machine and severely injured. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. Lawrence was arrested after Officers Olivas and Faxon had traced his machine through a license number furnished by witnesses.

Hollywood police are also holding Ralph P. Camp, 38, of 6350 De Longpre avenue, on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated as a result of an accident at Beverly and Arden boulevards, in which Mrs. Clara V. Sullivan and Mrs. Katherine S. Jones, 627 North Irving Boulevard, were slightly injured. Camp was arrested several blocks from the scene of the accident by Officers Hansel and Nave.

Large Party of Tourists Leaves on Eastern Trip

A party of sixty-four Southern California tourists bound for New York and other eastern cities for a vacation trip left Los Angeles yesterday on the Sunset Limited of the Southern Pacific. The vacationists at New Orleans will board the steamer Momus to continue the eastbound trip to New York. Arrangements for the rail-water trip were made under direction of H. P. Monahan, district passenger agent of the Southern Pacific.

Among those making the journey are the following: L. W. Masson and wife, Glendale; L. G. Sainsbury, Los Angeles; Mrs. A. Mayer and Mrs. L. Marks, Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Brien, Pasadena; Michael O'Leary, Pasadena; George W. Kroder and Clifton T. Kroder, Los Angeles; Mrs. A. D. Vincent and Miss Margie Vincent, Long Beach; E. O. Thayer, Eagle Rock; A. Parker, Pasadena; A. Baum, Hollywood; Paul F. Johnson, Altadena; Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Dyke, Pasadena; J. H. Shoop, South Pasadena; G. A. Swarthout, Los Angeles; Mrs. Payson Woods and son, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ambach, Redondo Beach; H. J. Eaton, Coronado; Miss Adele Kuter, Los Angeles; Miss Mae Smith, Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher, El Monte.

A one-fourth reduction in the cost of transportation for single passengers having exclusive occupancy of a compartment on Southern Pacific trains was announced yesterday by F. S. McGinnis, assistant passenger traffic manager. Beginning June 20, a passenger wishing to have a compartment for individual use need purchase only only one and one-half-fare tickets. The cost of Pullman ticket for use of the compartment is not changed.

Broken Home is Result of Man's Curiosity Trait

Curiosity, popularly reputed once to have killed a cat, may now be charged also with the breaking up of the home of George Overstrom from one point of view—according to the story Overstrom told Judge Summerfield in his suit for divorce from Beatrice Allard Overstrom.

For if Overstrom had not "snooped" he never would have noticed that mark of a San Francisco cleaner in his wife's hat, and if he had not seen that, he never would have known the things that caused him to sue.

"When I asked her what she meant by running off with a man like that, she told me that was what I got for my curiosity; that I should have attended to watering my flowers and that I would have been better off," Overstrom related.

Judge Summerfield gave him a decree.

Anderson Loses Appeal in Liquor Case Conviction

Judge Hardy of the Superior Court dismissed the appeal after considerable argument between Joe Ford, attorney for Anderson, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jordan and sustained the $500 fine imposed on Anderson after his trial in Justice Court.

Attorney Ford argued that the trial had been illegally conducted and that Judge Hardy could not rule on the case since he personally was not familiar with what constituted and what did not constitute intoxicating liquor. The hotel managed by Anderson was raided by deputy sheriffs last year and a quantity of liquor confiscated.

Move to Quash Indictment of Meadows Filed

Demurrer and motion to quash indictment against Rush Meadows, accused of forging and dealing in Liberty Bonds said by Federal officials to have been stolen three years ago from a Richland (Neb.) bank, yesterday was filed before U. S. Judge James by Meadows's counsel, Russell Graham.

Meadows, David Learner, Fred Keller and Charles Sweeney were to have entered plea yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, but as the result of demurrer and motion to quash action, Judge James continued hour of plea until 10 o'clock this morning for all four men. In the interim he will have examined the indictments against the defendants.

Learner's bond of $5000 was reduced to $2000, but application of Meadows, Keller and Sweeney for a reduction was denied.

Meadows, Keller and Sweeney also are accused of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act in the illegal purchase of forty ounces of French cocaine.

Submarine Fleet Quits Hawaii on Long Trip Here

Eleven S-type submarines, under convoy of the tenders Bushnell and Camden, departed Lahaina Roads, Hawaii, for Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, the first of the combined fleet to come home. They will remain here a week to afford the crews a rest before proceeding to San Diego for extensive overhaul.

The two divisions of giant submarines, when they reach this port, will have established a new world's record for sustained cruising; with 14,000 miles behind them since they left the Atlantic last January.

The naval fueler Brazos will depart Los Angeles Harbor this morning with the first of six shiploads of California petroleum that will help carry the Battle Fleet to Australia. The twenty-six destroyers making the cruise to the Antipodes will refuel at sea from the Brazos and five other naval tankers which will come here within the next fortnight to load.

Ex-Postmaster Gets Jail Term on Theft Count

Despite favorable testimony by Frank J. O'Hara, postoffice inspector, Federal Judge James yesterday sentenced Charles W. McDonald, former postmaster of Pismo, to the Orange County Jail for eight months for theft of postal funds totaling $293.70.

O'Hara said McDonald had made almost complete restitution and had helped the Federal officers in every way possible to clear up the loss.

It was disclosed, however, that McDonald had assumed a fictitious name after he had disappeared from the postoffice and considerable time was spent in tracing him through Stockton, Fresno, Bakersfield and to Santa Monica.

Judge Cuts Jail Sentence Given Reckless Driver

Lawrence Marvel, a university student, 19 years of age, was given a ninety-day jail term for reckless driving by Justice Blake yesterday. The court, however, suspended sixty days of the sentence after the youth's parents had come forward stating that they were returning to their home in Nebraska within thirty days and that upon their return they would not permit their son to have an automobile.

Marvel, it was asserted, drove his car down South Park avenue at a sixty-mile-an-hour clip, forcing several other machines into the ditch and finally crashing into a car at the curb.

THE MAN PAYS

It may cost bachelors $5 a year in Florida, but some of them look in the windows of the millinery shops and figure that they can still hold out.

THE SON DO SHINE

Native African tribes have adopted the Prince of Wales under the name of "The Shining Sun." The Prince is also a shining son in the opinion of King George.

PAY OF WOMEN

The government treats its women better than industry does. The average pay of the women in Uncle Sam's service is now $1325 a year. Female workers in trade and industry only average $925. No use in knocking Uncle Sam.

MAYBE

Clemenceau announces that he will not allow publication of his memoirs until ten years after his death. They may contain sensational disclosures—but that is what everybody thought about Mark Twain's autobiography before it was published.

RAILS AND WHEELS

The new charter of the Nickel Plate Railway merger permits the use of airplanes, hydroplanes and other aircraft, as well as almost everything that runs on wheels. The railroads are already using busses and electric motors as feeders and may soon come to find an advantage in planes. The latest rail syndicate has a charter elastic enough to permit anything in the heavens above or the earth beneath.

BRITISH CRITICS

Margot Asquith says that American plumbing, telephone operation and traffic treatment are much better than the showing in the same lines in England, but in most other respects her England is to be preferred. The Asquith wasp is always peppery in her comments and has brought chills to many famous Englishmen. She loves to say things that carry a tang, but she bears no malice. She likes to be a burr on the pelt of officialdom, but she shaves with a safety razor.

PINCHING THE PINK

Another propaganda bureau is being opened up in Washington with the idea of getting Congress to forbid newspapers from printing any information about horse races. The reformers insist that gambling is stimulated by the press. If all the crusaders had their way the sporting sections of the newspapers would be rather dull reading. About all that would get by would be the scores in the horseshoe pitching at Long Beach and the returns of the Chino checker tournament.

A CRIMINAL RETURNS

Another criminal returns to power in Russia. Trotzky, the bloody, is back at Red Moscow again, for the rulers of Russia, who are also the rulers of the Third Internationale, cannot get along without him.

Perhaps that fact more than any other establishes the true measure of the Communist government which, failing to bring anything but sorrow and suffering and starvation to one people, seeks by bomb and bloodshed to carry that same creed of devastation to the other peoples of the world.

It is a government that needs Trotzky. Is that not in itself clinching self-damnation of Communism?

IN THE BLOOD

According to searchers in the American Association of Anatomy, the blood in our veins holds certain little hormones that are secreted by the ductless glands, and it is claimed that they have a pronounced effect upon the character and disposition of the individual. By the addition or development of the hormones of righteous ambition a morose plodder may be transformed into another Paul. With a little training or switching of the hormones it might be possible to make a protective-tariff Republican out of a free-trade Democrat. A thousand years ago doctors were sometimes blaming a man's peevishness on "humors" in the blood. Perhaps they were half right.

THE SPECULATORS

The farmer naturally understands that the price which the speculators reach on the Board of Trade is not what he himself gets for his wheat. He has possibly disposed of that for much less a month or more before. Nevertheless it is likely that American farmers have received an average of 10 per cent more for their crops because of the very existence of the traders. The farmer may feel that the speculators are getting an unjust proportion of the profit on his grain, but he has himself received more than he would had the field of speculation not been open. It is impossible to suppress all speculators. The Chicago Board of Trade, or any other commercial body, is not to be put out of business with a resolution or a gesture. Neither is there proof the farmer would be bettered by being relieved of their existence.

QUAKING JAPAN

Convulsions of the earth's surface have again brought death and desolation to the smiling, populous and erstwhile happy islands of Japan. The affliction is one that awakens the compassion of the world; for it marks the handicaps under which civilized peoples maintain their brief existence on the earth.

While the loss of life is comparatively small, compared with the destruction when people war against people or class or creed against class, yet it is a heavy tribute to pay to a hidden force beyond human control.

Japan was just beginning to recover a feeling of security after the earthquake of two years ago when the second serious shake came; and it is probable that the damage to the morale of the people will be more serious than the actual loss of life and property. Earthquakes have been recurrent in Japan for centuries; but, as the population grows and industrial centers develop, the damage becomes much more serious.

It would seem from this distance that the people of Japan will have to take the earthquake into consideration in planning their community life. The wooden buildings of the old style are both fragile and inflammable. They topple over easily and become fuel for the demon of fire that always collects a greater toll in the wake of the earthquake than the temblor itself.

In open country earthquakes are comparatively harmless. There are legends of islands that disappear and others that arise; but these are only legends. Scientists gravely announce that the earth's surface has been changed by volcanic eruptions. In doing so they are drawing upon fancy and not upon proved facts. It is well to recall that these same scientists maintained until very recently that the center of the earth was a mass of liquid flame. Now they assert that the center is solid and is composed of a weightier substance than the surface.

To some of the assertions of the scientists concerning the past it is the part of discretion to add "perhaps." The experience of recent years leads one to the conclusion that Japan lies within the confines of an active earthquake zone; and that the Japanese people must give as much consideration to protecting themselves against this natural phenomenon as against inclement weather.

If the cities of Japan had been constructed of noninflammable material, if the height of the buildings had been limited and more attention given to security of structure, the destruction in any of the recent earthquakes would have been only nominal.

Japan's earthquakes are distressing; but they are not nearly so dangerous as powerful, greedy and brutal neighbors. The wild forces of nature are not nearly so malignant as those loosed by the demon of war.

ONE YOUNG MOTHER'S VIEW

The jazz age has made a lot of people worry about the future. The worry has produced too many Jeremiahs. One pessimist the other day tried to cheer up a young mother of three babies in this wise:

"Aren't you terribly alarmed over the future, my dear? When one sees what the flappers and flippers of today are it fairly makes one tremble with dread to think what they will be twenty years from now. I wouldn't want to alarm you, dear, but personally I can't help being glad I haven't any young children just now."

But the young mother wasn't alarmed. She is an earnest-minded young mother, without being a worry-minded one. She is a mother as full of hope and faith for her children as every mother ought to be who doesn't want to plant the seeds of future evil in them and she also is fond of history and rather serious reading.

"I can't help believing," she replied, "that the children—the young children—of today are exceptionally fortunate. Looking back over the progress of the world, it seems to me it has been growing better steadily, as time goes forward steadily, even though the pendulum swings both forward and backward.

"World pendulums always swing both ways, and the jazz age is sure to be followed by a long swing in the opposite direction. Yet what good—what real progress—the jazz age has brought us will not be lost. The pendulum which has swung in one direction for the progress of the world will carry that progress with it when it swings to the other.

"After the French revolution it was 'les merveilleuses' and 'les incroyables.' They were the flappers and jazz hounds of their day, far more 'advanced,' indeed, than those of ours. It was feared they would set the whole world on fire. They gave the pendulum a most violent jerk—but it quickly swung back out of danger and awakened the whole world to that second renaissance which reached its zenith in the Victorian Age. Our World War produced the jazz age and the jazz age well may give birth to a new renaissance when the pendulum swings back."

That certainly is a far better view to take of the coming age than any pessimistic one could be. For it is only out of such faith and idealism in their elders that the makers of the coming age can be inspired to the new renaissance.

OUR GAIN IN ART

Of late there have come over to this country many "old masters" which for scores of years have hung on European walls. As France and Italy have laws that forbid the exportation of works of art that are regarded of national importance, these newly arrived pictures have come chiefly from England. In London the complaint has risen that many of the valuable private collections there are being depleted of their richest treasures and that hundreds of them now embellish art galleries in the United States. The British nobility and gentry have been so hard hit by war taxation that they find themselves in sorry straits and must raise the wind somehow, so they reluctantly part with the best of their collections—the works of Rembrandt, Rubens, Van Dyck, Gainsborough and Reynolds. These will all look down from American walls and will help the art education of our people, whose appreciation of them will be as great as that of Europeans, and perhaps greater, for in Europe they are an old story, while here they will be a comparative novelty.

Some bitter things are being said about this art transfer. Here and there a British cynic affects to believe that, had we done our full duty in the World War, we could no more afford to own these costly art productions than can Englishmen. Those who thus cavil so contumeliously do not take into consideration the superiority of our resources and the fact that, while England has been admittedly at a standstill since the war, we have been more active in an industrial way than ever and have made billions of new wealth with which to purchase pictures or anything else we may desire.

However, we may not be able to acquire many more works of art of the highest order from impoverished Englishmen, for the British government, so it is reported, will soon have laws which will give it first choice of these invaluable productions whenever they shall be placed upon the market in future. But if it is going to be a matter of bidding, the longer purses of our millionaires may be relied upon to bring home the bacon.

By esthetic minds such a victory doubtless is considered sordid and unseemly, but it should be remembered that when these pictures were purchased by British collectors the race was to the rich. Americans are no more sordid or acquisitive than other people. If they can afford to buy a thing they certainly are entitled to an opportunity to buy it, whether it be an old master or a new motor car.

CURTAINS!

Madison Square Garden says "adios," this time for good. The old building belonged to the country at large almost as much as it did to New York.

That old structure of recreation, education and politics in which national history has been made; scene of the prize ring, the circus ring and the convention death knell that rang down the curtain on 1924 Democracy goes into the discard—to the pry-bar, claw-bar and sledge of the wrecker. With the passing of Madison Square Garden there passes much history.

There in 1906 Harry Thaw shot Stanford White; there rode Buffalo Bill; there fought the champions, from Sullivan to Dempsey; there the six-day bicycle riders milled through the long stretches when such things were notable; there—but a person could go on indefinitely.

The chariot races are over, the last man has snuffed rosin, the curtain goes down; the lights are out. Diana steps down from her perch above the old building that O. Henry loved so well. The goddess departs and with her the glory of the Madison Square Garden.

THE LOAFER

Up in Antelope Valley, almost directly back of Pasadena, are the ruins of a former Communistic colony. There are rows of houses; but they are all tumbling down; nobody dwells there.

There is a large social center with two mammoth fireplaces on the opposite sides of the same great room; but the Commune has vanished like the mirage of the desert.

A hotel stands hard by; but only those who come to see the glory that has departed patronize it. An occasional tourist stops for lunch; but otherwise it is a remnant of other years.

A tunnel a mile long to conduct the Big Rock Creek to the proper place for irrigation yawns like the grave of buried hopes. The glory is departed. Skeletons of abodes bleach in the sun; but lizards are the sole inhabitants. Llano is a deserted village.

Antelope Valley has other scars of Communistic schemes, where men attempted to live without work. One is found a little north and west of Elizabeth Lake. The dead bones of an orchard are scattered about. The sands are kindly and healing and are gradually covering these dead fragments of mistaken ideas.

Cars on the highway travel in flocks. Some slow coach pokes along in front and reduces travel to a funeral procession. Indeed some funerals have more vitality. Others behind who are ambitious to arrive are compelled to accommodate themselves to the speed of the loafer. A dozen cars are held up because one is vagrant and purposeless.

The end of all Communistic attempts thus far seems to have been starvation. Even the active and earnest who unite in good faith slow down to the loafer. Why should ambition feed the loafer?

As long as men are not only unequal in ability, but also unwilling to assume their share, the Commune will be a failure. All men should be on a level at the feet; but there should be no leveling at the head. There must be equal opportunity; but there must be no curbing of genius nor superior ability. The world evolves by virtue of better varieties ever blossoming forth.

To harness the race horse up with the old plodding plow horse may be Communism; but it is neither natural nor humane. The earnest and swift must ever be kindly and willing to conserve the broken and helpless; but it must never be made to toil for the idle and selfish.

Those who drift into the community and absorb the labors of others and neutralize their endeavors are parasites. They must be treated as scale in the orchard—as vermin on humans.

The Washington navel must not be slowed down to the acrid ungrafted natural fruit. Russia is the latest experiment and seems to be running true to form.

Just About It
by James J. Montague

THE VOICE OF DUTY SPEAKING

If you should kill a mother fly
Ten thousand baby flies will die.

Ten thousand baby flies which soon
Might light upon your plate or spoon,

And leave there germs to give you chills
And many other sorts of ills.

The fly is weak, and you are strong;
To slay her while she sings her song

So low and buzzingly to you
May seem a brutal thing to do,

And you may think, with brimming eyes,
About those little baby flies

Which will not see the light of day
If their dear mother fly you slay;

But inasmuch as you are here
Upon this round and mundane sphere,

To do a tidy bit more good
Than flies by tens of millions could,

And maybe rise to wealth and fame—
You'd better swat her, just the same.

(Copyright, 1925, by the Bell Syndicate Co.)

LOOKING BACKWARD

Here in the "sunset land" we dream
Of broad, deep streams that gently flow
Through fringe of hills, 'neath trees that bend
Far over quiet deeps below.

We dream of summer showers that cool
The heated air—the dark'ning skies,
When peals of thunder burst anon.
We dream of silvery mists that rise

At eventide o'er woodland path.
The sunset light through aisles of green.
The purling brook that slowly winds
Through mossy dell and cool ravine

So here within the "sunset land,"
'Neath mountain veil and soft blue haze,
Where sage and mesquite line the trail,
We dream again of other days!

IMAGINATION AT SEA

Salt water yarns are numerous and frequent. Stories of a ship sighting a sea serpent or a mermaid usually turn out to be not so much of a willful hoax as a feat of the imagination. Under certain conditions, a school of porpoises may resemble a strange snake-like creature, or a seal may look like a mermaid.

Several skippers entering American ports not so long ago asserted they had encountered a "ghost" ship on the Atlantic. Their stories agreed that the ship floated bottom up but when approached it disappeared. A Coast Guard cutter investigated. It finally found a huge clump of seaweed which, at night under the influence of the waves, gave the appearance of a vessel floating upside down.—[Pathfinder.

LIMITING COURSES AT YALE

Yale undergraduates are now forbidden to possess motorcars while in residence at New Haven. The deans of the undergraduate body join in the veto as a result of recent nocturnal escapades which have involved the college as well as the joy rider in an undesirable notoriety. In the old days they used to deal harshly with the student who burned the midnight oil beyond stipulated hours. Today academic disfavor is incurred by a prodigal consumption of gasoline at the wrong time. It is obvious that the student whose preoccupation is to see how much mileage he can get from a gallon is not likely to be found among the high-stand men on a rank list, and when his college course is over those who have employment to offer will not be favorably impressed by a record in fines imposed for exceeding the speed limit between the Quinnipiac and Broadway.—[Philadelphia Public Ledger.

LETTERS TO The Times

A Splendid Record

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I was on the California Limited on the Santa Fe pulled out from Pomona today noon the first section broke the top off of a rail about 150 yards east of the First-street viaduct and, as I happened to be passing by, I had a first-hand view of a most remarkable piece of repair and of railroad efficiency.

There were eight sections in the train, scheduled to leave at intervals of eight minutes. The break was discovered at once by the yard men and the superintendent and other officials were on the job in less than five minutes. Orders went out quickly that the different sections of the train must move on time and they did. Track men, seated on the ground, held the broken top of the rail in place while the second section passed. Before the third section moved out on time the track men had placed two heavy fish plates on either side of the track and a fast auto had arrived from the shops with a crew of welders, tanks and gas and a complete outfit. There was no time to drill holes for the fish plate bolts so they burned holes through the steel with the oxy-acetylene torches. They had one bolt in place before the fourth section moved and two more placed for the fifth. These plates steadied the broken rail top and a track man seated on the ground calmly reached in with his bare hand, as each truck passed, and kept the rail in line. In the meantime a track crew arrived with a new rail and a big gang of men began preparing to make a quick change. Before the sixth section moved one end of the rail top was welded and before the seventh section moved the whole thing was welded. Then they tore out the emergency repair and quickly placed an entire new rail. I doff my hat to that Santa Fe track crew.

"If We Were Consistent"

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of Friday, May 15, appeared a cartoon entitled "If We Were Consistent" depicting the dangers of the news-stands and the assorted filth that is sold there. This cartoon has caused a great deal of discussion in various classes of this university and we, the students of the citizenship and education classes, wish to express our thanks and appreciation to you for publishing such a cartoon and bringing to the attention of the public the dangers of the lurid literature on sale today.

This class contains about 100 students varying in age from 18 to 50, many of whom have been students at universities all over the United States. Realizing, as we do, that the newspaper is such an important organ for public education, we want you to know that the efforts of The Times to support the best elements in our municipal and national life are appreciated by the student-teachers of this organization.

Volstead Upheld

WHITTIER, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am moved to send word of my most hearty commendation and indorsement of today's editorial, "Swatting Mr. Volstead," an article giving enough statistics to confound any one capable of forming an honest judgment on any question.

The great difficulty in enforcing the prohibition law comes not so much from the working men as it does from the bootlegger's and scofflaws among the "higher-ups" in both business and the professionals who are shielded by their positions and influence.

Keep your good pen going, Mr. Editor, the majority is with you, the plain people, the honest, God-fearing, law-abiding citizenry of America, who have had enough of the blight of the liquor traffic.

J. P. AMES.

Fish Out of Water

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It makes one groan in spirit now that the so-called bathing-beauty season has arrived. Who is not sick and tired of seeing the display, especially in the newspapers.

How anyone can see beauty in those scant bathing suits is more than I can comprehend. A woman or man looks horrid; their place is in the water, not out on display. What a pity women are such fools that men can exploit them in such a way.

It may be I am an old-fashioned mother.

MRS. JONES.

Wrist Slappers.

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It's no wonder that people have no respect or fear of the law or law enforcers. The police do not arrest offenders and the judges don't punish when brought before them. Our judges are good lecturers, but when it comes to sending a prisoner to the "pen" for fourteen years they balk. Their sympathy is with the criminal every time, at least most of the time. No wonder the town is overrun with lawbreakers. That probation law or suspended sentence should be abolished forthwith. But perhaps the police think what's the use, the judges only let 'em go.

An Unfriendly Gift

A knife is a handy thing and it makes an acceptable present, but it is one not often made for the reason that there is a strongly rooted superstition concerning it. This superstition comes down to us from the days when a knife stood for a weapon. At that time there were no knives specially made for table use or for the pocket, a dagger being made to serve every purpose for which we use our pocketknife.

To present a dagger to anyone was equivalent to a challenge to fight, or even under certain circumstances to a hint that the recipient would do well to make away with himself. In either case, of course, it was a distinctly "unfriendly" gift.—[Exchange.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Formal announcement is made this morning by Jonathan R. Scott of 1179 West Twenty-eighth street of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Sally Scott, to Joseph William Mohoney of San Francisco, the ceremony taking place Thurday, the 21st inst., in St. John's Church, with only immediate relatives present. Mr. and Mr. Mohoney are away on their honeymoon, and after their return will reside temporarily at 1179 West Twenty-eighth street.

Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Darling and their attractive daughters, Miss Alice Darling and Miss Charlotte Darling, have returned to Los Angeles after an absence of five months in Arizona and Mexico, and are domiciled at 251 North Gramercy Place for the summer.

Engagement Announced

Of more than usual interest to local society was the announcement made at the Chi Omega Sorority breakfast Sunday morning of the engagement of Miss Julia Shores, attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Shores, to Eugene Garrett McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McKenzie of Los Angeles. The news was told by means of a telegram brought in to the feast. The wedding will be one of the events of the summer, but the date is not yet settled. Miss Shores, who is one of the most popular members of the younger set, was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley and has been attending the Southern Branch for the past year. The guests at the breakfast were all sorority sisters of the bride-elect.

Luncheon Party

Honoring Countess d'Audiffret, who is enjoying a delightful sojourn in Los Angeles, Mme. Elizabeth Dejeans entertained yesterday afternoon with a charmingly appointed luncheon at the Ambassador, the long refrectory style table being massed with a long, low plaque of spring flowers and ferns. Those invited to meet the visitor, who is soon to produce several Russian plays here, were Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. Clarke Stull Smith, Mrs. Arthur Wright, Mrs. Chester Wallace Brown, Mrs. Alice Pike Barney, Mrs. Fred Pennington Newport, Mrs. Thomas Wilkes, Mrs. James Tabor Fitzgerald, Mrs. Judson C. Rives, Countess Marie Carraccioili, Mrs. James Stuart Blackton, Mrs. Gilbert Furman, Mme. Rodezno, Mrs. Thompson Buchanan, Mrs. Alexander Haynes Levy, Mrs. Walter Perry Story, Mrs. Walter Robley Simons, Mrs. Albert Menke, Mrs. C. Grove Fiske, Mrs. Lottie Blair Parker, Mrs. Chester Turner Hoar, Mrs. Harry Y. Maynard, Lady Henry Sharpe and Mrs. Harmon David Ryus.

Bridge-Luncheon

One of the largest and most prettily appointed affairs of recent date was the luncheon with which Mrs. Laura P. Joyce entertained Friday afternoon in the Rose Room of the Mary Louise, honoring Mrs. Lulu Miller and Miss Anna Smith, who are leaving in the near future for New York and other eastern points, eventually sailing for Europe. The tables were grouped about one central table, and each carried its own individual color motif with sweet peas, rosebuds and gladioli combined with ferns and huge bows and ribbon runners, effectively carrying out the color scheme. Brass candelabra graced the center of each table, with candles in colors to correspond with the decorations. Hand-etched cards marked the covers for forty-six guests.

Dinner-Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rouse entertained last evening with a dinner and bridge party at their home, 135 South Plymouth Boulevard, the decorations carrying out the spring motif with flowers and ferns. Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Fern Petty, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hargrave, Mrs. D. A. Hamburger, Mr. and Mrs. Van Foster, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. De Swarte, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hostutler, Mrs. Harry Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Babcock and Mr. and Mrs. James L. Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Rouse are leaving this morning for the Yosemite Valley, accompanied by Mrs. Phil Hostutler.

Farewell Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Culver are entertaining this evening with a dinner party at their home in Culver City, this being one of a series of farewell courtesies with which they are entertaining prior to their departure on a three months' vacation trip. Every year Mr. and Mrs. Culver, with their small daughter, Patricia, are accustomed to flit to some far corner of the earth and this summer they plan to revisit the British Isles, motoring leisurely through England, Scotland and Ireland. From there they plan to go to Norway, Sweden and France before their return home late in September. Their guests this evening will include Mr. and Mrs. Gurdon Wallace Wattles, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Spence, Judge and Mrs. Force Parker and Judge and Mrs. Benjamin F. Bledsoe.

Series of Affairs

Engagement Announced

One of the prettily arranged affairs of the past week was that given at Villa Florence, Santa Monica, when announcement of the engagement of Miss Jessica White to Merril Lee Hampton was made. Miss White, who is one of Santa Monica's most popular young society belles, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. White of Wilshire Boulevard. The affair was one of the loveliest of the season, the spacious rooms of the villa in Italian design being adorned with pink blossoms and ferns, while centering the table was a gorgeous basket filled with spring flowers, the gift of Miss Antoinette Delmas. Across the handle were orange blossoms with a miniature bride and bridegroom announcing the happy secret. At the ends of the table stately white majolica candelabra tied with pink tulle shed a soft light over the scene, while at the base of the large center basket were individual bouquets of pale blue and pink flowers, to which were attached the announcement cards. Those included were Mrs. H. J. White, Mrs. Earl Phelps, Mrs. Howard Young, Miss Maureen Carley, Miss Bess Beard, Miss Jean McBride, Miss Grace Good, Miss Helen Cassidy, Miss Margaret Van Degrift, Miss Bertha Parker, Miss Katheryn Phillips, Miss Ruth Raymond, Miss Honey Hitchcock, Miss Mildred Hazeltine, Miss Marjorie Haddox, Miss Ione Black, Miss Gertrude Stenson, Miss Irma Glassfeld, Miss Helen Hoffman, Miss Lorain Lightcap, Miss Netty Rice, Miss Beatrice White and Miss Antoinette Delmas.

WEDDING PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

University Girl to be Married

Miss Julia Shores

ANNOUNCEMENT was made at the Chi Omega breakfast Sunday morning of the engagement of Miss Julia Shores attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Shores to Eugene Garrett McKenzie son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McKenzie, the wedding date not yet being settled. Miss Shores graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, and also has been a student this year at the Southern Branch. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Smoothtop
Speed-Burner
Range

—Cooks 25% Faster
—Uses 25% Less Gas
—Takes 40% Less Space
—Gives 50% More Capacity

"The Most Important Improvement in Home Cooking since the invention of the Gas Range"

BETTER COOKING, because your SMOOTHTOP will give you graduated, radiated heat (exactly the right heat for every cooking need) exactly as Grandmother's famous old cook-stove did.

QUICKER COOKING, because actual tests prove that the wonderful new SMOOTHTOP Speed-Burners broil, boil, stew or fry 25% to 38% faster without burning or scorching.

EASIER COOKING, because you have a broad, level cooking table at just the right height, over whose smooth, polished surface pots, pans and kettles slide easily without tipping. No lifting—no burnt fingers, spilled foods, or clogged burners.

MORE COOKING CAPACITY, because every inch of SMOOTHTOP cooks. . . . A 34-inch SMOOTHTOP gives you 50% more cooking capacity than a 54-inch grid-top and takes up 40% less room in your kitchen. Each SMOOTHTOP Speed-Burner does the work of two or three ordinary burners.

LASTING BEAUTY for your kitchen, because whether you select an all-enamel SMOOTHTOP in the softest of lovely grays; or a half-enamel in black and gray, or one of satiny, rust-proof japan, you will have a range that is better proportioned, more home-like in appearance, more attractive, and easier to keep clean than any range you've ever owned before.

USE THIS WONDERFUL RANGE 30 DAYS IN YOUR OWN KITCHEN

Any of the SMOOTHTOP Stores named below will gladly install a Beautiful New SMOOTHTOP in your kitchen for a 30-day home trial. If you do not find the SMOOTHTOP in every way the most satisfactory range you have ever used, your 30-day trial will cost you nothing.

TRADE IN YOUR OLD RANGE

There's a SMOOTHTOP of just the size and price to meet your needs—30 beautiful models—your old range will be taken in trade at a liberal value. Easy terms on the balance. See SMOOTHTOP in action at your dealer's today. Arrange for a 30-day Home Trial. If there is no SMOOTHTOP Store in your town, write direct for details and dainty illustrated booklets. Northwest Gas & Electric Equipment Co. 164 S. Central Ave., Los Angeles, California

How to know which SMOOTHTOP to choose:
If you are now using a 3-burner grid-top,
A 3-burner Smoothtop will give you 30% more Capacity.
If you are now using a 4-burner grid-top,
A 3-burner Smoothtop will give you 30% more Capacity.
If you are now using a 6-burner grid-top,
A 4-burner Smoothtop will give you 30% more Capacity.
Always remember, each SMOOTHTOP Speed-Burner does the work of two or three ordinary burners

There Is Only One Smoothtop
It is a Vulcan Product—Its name is Copyrighted—Its exclusive features are patented—No other range can duplicate Smoothtop's advantages—Avoid Substitutes or Makeshifts.

Clean Clothes Wear Longer Experts Say

Cincinnati, Ohio. — Clothes naturally undergo mechanical friction and strain in wearing, according to fabric experts here.

If the fabric is filled, either all over or in spots, with fine chalk dust or oil spots carrying mineral particles, these solids act as does sandpaper cutting and wearing the nap.

Food spots decompose and rot the material. Fruit juices contain acid which burns into the fibre.

All these are removed in the cleaning process if you send the garment to a cleaner who owns his plant and knows his business. National campaign for your protection.

BAKED BEEF HASH

Cut into small, even-sized dice one pound of cooked beef freed from all bones and gristles and mix with two tablespoonfuls of chopped cooked beef fat. Heat two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add one finely chopped onion and cook until the onion is a nice brown; add two level tablespoonfuls of sifted flour and stir and cook two minutes; add slowly one cupful of consomme or light meat gravy, mix well, add the chopped beef, one tablespoonful of ketchup, a seasoning of salt and paprika, and one teaspoonful of Worchestershire sauce. Pour into a baking dish, cover with two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, mixed with one well-beaten egg; sprinkle with sifted bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake a nice brown in a moderate oven. Serve in the same dish.

SCONES

Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt; rub in one tablespoonful of butter; add one beaten egg and mix to a smooth dough with half a cupful of milk; roll out on a floured board half an inch thick, cut with a round cutter and bake on a griddle twenty minutes, turning to brown evenly on both sides.

Diet and Health

"FILLERS"—NO FOOD VALUE

"One way to get thin," a cynic said, "is to eat no food with your meals."

Today I will give you recipes of some dishes which will serve as fillers and which are so low in calories that you may ignore them. They are also aids against constipation.

Recipe No. 1—Thrice boiled bran: Boil bran for fifteen minutes in a large amount of water, at least eight cupfuls of water to one cupful of bran. Pour bran into a sieve, let cold water run through it for several minutes, then drain. Repeat three times, then dry bran carefully, unless you use it right away.

This bran may be eaten hot as a cereal, with some skim milk on it, or it can be made into bran biscuits. Occasionally, if too much bran is taken, it may irritate, so if you find it causes a diarrhoea take less of it.

Bran, as it is bought in the feed stores, or by the package, has a certain amount of starch in it; therefore, it has caloric value. (Rose lists two cupfuls of ordinary bran as 200 C.) If possible, get some coarse bran at the feed stores, unmixed with middlings or sweepings. If it is not possible for you to get this, you can buy the higher priced bran put up in packages by the cereal companies. The diabetic food concerns put up a starch-free bran. If you cannot secure this starch-free bran, then you can free it from starch yourself in the manner described above.

Recipe No. 2: Bran Biscuits with Agar Agar—Bran, washed, one pound; agar agar, one and one-half ounces (9 level teaspoonfuls;) water, one pint; salt, one teaspoonful; caraway seeds, if liked.

Wash or boil out starch from bran, as described above. Mix agar agar and water and cook slowly until dissolved. Mix with washed bran, kneading the bran and agar together thoroughly. Spread in thin layer on baking pans greased with mineral oil, and press smoothly and firmly. Cover with oiled paper and a board or pan (size of bran biscuit pan) and press with weights for twelve hours. Cut the bran into desired size before cooking. Bake in a moderate oven until dry and crisp.

Recipe No. 3—Agar-agar jelly: Agar-agar, one heaping tablespoonful; water, one quart; lemon juice, one teaspoonful; saccharin, two grains; flavoring.

Mix the agar-agar and cold water together. Bring slowly to boiling point. Boil until dissolved, cool, add lemon juice, saccharin and a little of your favorite flavoring. Mold and chill. (This is more attractive if artificially colored with the artificial food colorings.

Saccharin is a coal tar product, 500 times sweeter than sugar. It used in small amounts, two grains or so during the day, it is not considered harmful. This you can get in the drug stores. I advise you not to use saccharin in your beverages because you must learn to like things unsweetened. Remember, you may have to keep up this fight against overweight all your life. Next week I'll give you some more fillers.

[Tomorrow: Answers to Correspondents.]

My Dear Patients: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, and write plainly, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name fully. Letters of general interest will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Dr. Kerr Seeks New Delay for Poison Hearing

Dr. Franklin S. Kerr, Garden Grove physician who is accused of sending poisoned candy through the mails to his former wife, Dr. Luella Kerr of Fillmore, yesterday appealed to the United States District Attorney's office for assistance in obtaining a continuance of his trial, set for 10 o'clock this morning, from Federal Judge James because he contemplates a change in attorneys.

Kerr has employed five different attorneys since his arrest on January 2, last.

Dep. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Ohanneslan, who will prosecute the case, refused to agree to a continuance of the case, which was set over from April 13, last, when Kerr appeared in court violently ill and a physician and nurse testified that his illness was genuine.

CAFE FIRE INVESTIGATED

An investigation is being made by Hollywood police detectives to determine the origin of the fire which early Sunday morning partially destroyed a cafe at 4508 Monroe avenue, damaging the building to the extent of $1500. Larry Smith, owner of the restaurant, was unable to give any information regarding the origin of the blaze.

Auto Club Urges Favorable Vote on Tunnel Bonds

An opportunity to prevent the maiming of children and to save many little lives is offered at the polls, June 2, when the voters are asked to authorize $350,000 in bonds for pedestrian tunnels.

The Automobile Club of Southern California is backing this movement to the limit, as it has been demonstrated that the one pedestrian tunnel now in operation in Los Angeles at the Micheltorena School is effective. There have been no accidents to children at this school crossing since the tunnel was established.

Reports from the Coroner's office for 1924 in the city show that thirty-eight children under 15 years of age were killed in motor-vehicle accidents. During the same period, there were more than 1000 children injured, more or less seriously, from the same cause.

It is hoped by the Automobile Club of Southern California, the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Parent-Teacher Associations, Boards of Educations and other constructive civic organizations, that the vote on June 2 in favor of the pedestrian tunnels will be unanimous.

MANY PILGRIMAGES TO "LA GOLONDRINA"

Now in the seventh week of its run at the Old Mission Playhouse in San Gabriel, John Steven McGroarty's second historical play of California "La Golondrina," is making a bid for a place next to the author's famous Mission Play. During the remaining performances, which will be not many because the play has about run the length of time allotted to it, delegations from all over Southern California are expected to attend the play. Mr. McGroarty said that his fondest hopes for the play have been realized in the success which the new production has achieved.

Film Comedian's Wife Files Suit to Gain Divorce

Esther E. Moran filed suit for divorce yesterday against Lee Moran, motion-picture comedian. She merely charges desertion, setting forth that they were married in February, 1915, and separated in May, 1922. She asserts in the complaint that her husband earns a salary of $400 a week as an actor and asks for $200 a month alimony. The complaint was prepared by Attorney Henry G. Bodkin.

REFRIGERATING EXPERT TO MAKE ADDRESS HERE

N. H. Hiller, president of the Carbondale Machine Company of Carbondale, Pa., is making his annual tour of the Pacific Coast, and will address the National Association of Practical Refrigerating Engineers tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at Concord Hall, Forrester Building, 955 South Olive street. Mr. Hiller's address will cover "Two-stage Ammonia Compression. Mr. and Mrs. Hiller are now stopping at the Biltmore.

Mr. Hiller is particularly interested in surveying the business conditions on the Coast, where his company has been very active during the past three years, as it has installed some of the largest ice-making and refrigerating plants in California.

Friday Morning Club

"Interesting Measures Passed and Defeated by the 1925 State Legislature," presented by Miss Eleanor Miller, State legislator, and "Federal Legislation," discussed by Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, will be the program for today at 10:30 a.m., in the assembly hall of the Friday Morning Club. Mrs. Josepha Tolhurst is chairman of the public affairs committee, which is giving this program and both subjects have special interest at this time.

Thursday, the club will be at home day for representatives of all clubs in this district, especially honoring Mrs. John C. Urquhart and Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who have just completed their two years of service in the State and district. The appointments of this party will be the most elaborate and artistic of any party yet given in the new clubhouse and more than 400 invitations have been issued.

The program for Friday, deals with the most important factor in the development of our community, "The Development of the Colorado." The speakers will be R. P. Del Valle, president of the Department of Public Service; William Mulholland, chief of the Bureau of Waterworks and Supply, and E. F. Scattergood, chief of the Bureau of Power and Light. At the luncheon, Dr. Frederick Roman, Ph.D., from the University of New York, who was brought out here to make the main address before the State Federation meeting at Santa Cruz last week, will be the speaker, and Mr. Samuel L. Kreider, husband of the president of the club, will speak on harbor development.

"How the Club Functions," proved to be one of the most interesting programs given this year, and, generally speaking, figures are not interesting, but not so in this instance, and when the chairman of the departments of finance, rentals, hospitality, luncheons and programs gave detailed accounts of the work of the year just passed, that would have done credit to any big business corporation, the membership had just cause to be proud of their record. Mrs. H. H. Kerckhoff, first vice-president and chairman of finance, reported that the budget for the year had been $100,000—the total income had been $89,406.85, and the expenditures had been $71,345.79, leaving a cash balance of $18,055.06 in the treasury at the present time. The banquet hall is the big money-maker for the club, bringing in an income of about $1600 a month.

The exhibit this month in the art gallery consists of paintings by local artists, several of them Friday Morning Club members as well as some by Robert Henri and other well-known artists.

Hollywood Woman's Club

Friday, June 5, is the night set for the next dance to be given by the junior auxiliary of the Hollywood Woman's Club. The dance which is to be an informal one will be in charge of Shirley Kennedy, chairman, assisted by the Misses Sarah Bennethun, Elizabeth Pickering, Dorothy Lehmond and Helen Noeltner. Music will be furnished by the Lad and Lee Orchestra, while the patrons and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Palmer, J. F. Waggoner and L. B. Tannehill.

Mary Ann Spencer Tent

Congress of Mothers

The regular monthly meeting of the James A. Foshay Junior High P.-T.A., will be held today at 2:40 p.m., in the auditorium of the school building, at the corner of Harvard and Exposition Boulevards. Mrs. J. L. Thornton, president, will preside. Mrs. Michael Thompson will speak on the work in the Maren School and the School for Deaf. A musical program will be furnished by the pupils of the school. Refreshments will be served and all are welcome to attend.

Ivy Club

Election of officers for the Ivy Club will be conducted in the Clark Hotel Monday, June 1, at 10:30 a.m. Annual reports will be given and other important business transacted.

League of Women Voters

In honor of Mrs. Mollie Bloom Flagg, president of the southern section League of Women Voters of California, Mrs. Arthur S. Heineman, retiring president, and Mrs. H. H. Koons, California State League president, a reception and tea will be given June 2 at 4 p.m., in the Women's Athletic Club, 839 South Flower street.

Mrs. Florence Kelly, secretary of the National Consumers' League, social worker and author, who has made her life work the protection of women in industry, will be the speaker. Mrs. Kelly has been the moving spirit in the fight against child labor and in support of the passage of minimum wage legislation.

Tuesday Afternoon Club

Mrs. Eva Daniels, chairman of press for the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, will preside at the annual press luncheon in the clubhouse today when club editors of Los Angeles and Glendale will be guests of honor and speakers.

University Union

Superintendents of Americanization work will present the program for the University Union, W.C.T.U., this afternoon in the University Methodist Church. Also the boys' silver medal contest will be conducted and special musical numbers will augment the program.

Laurel P.-T.A.

The Laurel Parent-Teachers' Association will hold the final meeting of the year on Friday, the 29th inst., at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium at the corner of Willoughby and Edinburgh streets, West Hollywood. Mr. J. E. White, traveler and lecturer, will give a short illustrated talk on Alaska. Mrs. F. R. Little, contralto, will sing two numbers. The annual election of officers will take place and the annual reports of the different committees will be given. Mrs. George McDonald will preside.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 4

The Two Types of Tea

There are two distinct types of tea, namely Black Tea and Green Tea. Both are made from the same bush and both are equally pure. The difference is in the process of manufacture which gives each a different flavor. Black Tea after it is plucked is withered and partially 'fired' or dried, then allowed to oxidize by being exposed to the air. This gives Black Tea its dark reddish color when drawn. Green tea is immediately steamed after plucking, which prevents oxidization. There are delicious blends of "SALADA" in both of these types and also a unique blend of Black and Green Tea Mixed.

COUNCIL ASKED FOR PARK FUND

Aid in Purchase of Tract in Southwest Requested

Land Would Take Activities from Exposition Area

Workman Favors Playground Gift of $20,000

Playground Commissioners Weir and Beecher appeared before the City Council's Finance Committee yesterday afternoon and urged an appropriation from the city's general fund toward the purchase of thirteen and one-half acres of land in the southwestern part of the city for amateur baseball diamonds and other playground purposes.

The land has been offered for $7500 an acre, which Councilman Baker said was a reasonable price, and the commission purposes to establish there the recreational activities which formerly were held at Exposition Park on land which has been taken over for an entrance to the Coliseum and for exposition buildings.

The land which the commission desires to purchase is bounded by Sixty-first and Sixty-third streets and Western and Normandie avenues.

Under the new charter the commission will have increased revenues provided automatically from taxes, and President Workman said that personally he was in favor of an appropriation by the city from the general fund of $20,000 toward the $101,000 the land will cost. The committee took the matter under advisement.

BURGLARY SUSPECT IS RETURNED FROM EAST

CHAPMAN ESTATE TAXED

The estate of Adelbert R. Chapman, valued at $500,742, will be assessed by the State for inheritance tax purposes at $12,823, State Controller Riley announced yesterday. Mr. Chapman died here June 15, 1924, willing his property to twenty-six nieces and nephews and fifteen friends.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

TOO MUCH ZEAL

"I have been fired because I was too keen on my job," writes Miss G., "and I wish you would tell me where I went wrong. I have a job in another store now and I want to keep it."

So Miss G. tells me how, as saleswoman in the waist department of one of our big stores, she took a great pride in learning and remembering the name of every customer she served.

She trained her memory for faces and names so well that she never forgot one, never failed to recognize a customer the second time, especially the charge customers.

For many months this gift of hers won her much approval from the firm, but pretty soon the other girls started snipping her about it and even the floorwalker told her "not to be quite so flashy about it."

"Of course, it seemed to me the other girls were just jealous and the floorwalker was taking their part. But one day when another girl was serving a customer I knew, I just said "Good morning, Mrs. Elkins," as I passed by, thinking that was good business, and the customer liked it, too. But it made the other girl awful mad and she told the floorwalker to keep me off her customers . . . .

And later, when several girls were 'let out'—to her amazement Miss G. found herself fired, too. She went to the head of the department in disgust, only to be informed that she was "too officious."

She looked "officious" up in the dictionary and discovered it meant "too forward in offering services; meddlesome," and it has made her very unhappy when she only thought she was being efficient.

Ah, Miss G. dear, most of us have made that mistake in some way. It is known in newspaper work, for instance, as "too much zeal." And it is something we women are very prone to in the first flush of our economic independence.

I have been there, and well I recall it. When I was first given a department of my own, I thought my stuff the most important on the paper. In my too-zealous enthusiasm I nearly drove the editor mad. I had to be snubbed, even as you have been. But, fortunately for me, he was a man of long experience, and a confidential admonition halted my officious career in time to save me.

Of course, we must have enthusiasm; of course, it is good to be efficient, but it is also necessary to remember that there are many other pebbles on the beach.

Your gift is a fine one, my dear, and a precious asset so long as you combine it with tact and avoid showing it off ostentatiously.

I know a little woman engaged in welfare work for prisoners. She is a dear, with a heart of gold. But in her enthusiasm she has driven the District Attorney, the judges of the courts, the newspaper people, the Mayor, the Councilmen and the Supervisors frantic with her insistence, her too-precipitate zeal. And so has often defeated her own good works, tired people out, irritated them, antagonized them against the very causes she would win them to.

Now, after some years of it, she thinks people are cold, cruel, indifferent, callous, whereas they are only bored with "too much zeal." You see, she could not help feeling that her humane work was all important, should take precedence of all other interests—whereas, it was but one realm of welfare work vieing with dozens of others for these people's attention.

So, dear Miss G., just content yourself with quietly recognizing your own customers, and that in a matter-of-fact way without ostentation, and avoid creating comparisons between yourself and your fellow saleswomen. I will wager you will make a happy success in your new position and become a valuable treasure to the firm.

OIL HEAD CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Action Follows Refusal to Produce Accounts in Grand Jury Quiz

Federal Judge James yesterday instructed Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. J. Edwin Simpson to prepare on contempt complaint against Bert Wood, president of the Owen Wood Oil Corporation, for consideration today in connection with the Federal grand jury investigations into the activities of the Owen Wood Oil Company, the Invader Oil Corporation of Muskogee, Okla., and nine of the latter's subsidiary companies.

Wood has refused to give the oil company's general ledger over to the grand jury for examination on the grounds that it is immaterial. Judge James yesterday refused to act in the matter until specific charges were brought against Wood.

The grand jury meets today to continue its examination of the oil companies' records brought here from Texas and Oklahoma. It is charged by Federal officials that the oil companies have obtained millions of dollars from investors throughout the Southwest.

C. A. Barker is Back From Trip Through Europe

France, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, Italy, Spain and the British Isles, at least in furniture manufacturing centers, are again busy in production, Clarence A. Barker, vice-president of Barker Bros., reported yesterday on his return to his desk after four months' abroad.

The Leipsig fair, in Germany, was attended by 100,000 buyers from all parts of the world, he said, and all manufacturers seem to be bending their efforts to making goods for export. Mr. Barker made many purchases, some for immediate delivery, and some for the new store now under construction on Seventh street between Flower and Figueroa.

He was welcomed back to Los Angeles by Barker Bros.' executives with a dinner at the Ambassador. Those present were: C. A. Barker, E. P. Barker, Lawrence Barker, E. L. Rogers, M. C. Pumphrey, H. G. Salisbury, H. E. Bennett, J. W. Boothe, G. P. Bromley, L. M. Crosthwaite, F. M. Erwin, J. S. Hulbert, J. A. Kelley, G. L. Miller, R. W. Neville, E. A. Norton, J. R. Nason, K. G. Joiner, J. F. Robbins, F. A. Barnes, R. G. Smith, C. A. Turney, L. J. Washburn, J. H. Withers, G. Youngman, J. C. Neilson, J. J. Cragg, W. M. Boadway, H. W. Herlihy, E. S. Dible, D. W. Hill, H. E. Sutter, A. C. Prohl and R. C. Hitchin.

Flame Fighters Dash to Banquet to Prove Speed

A novel demonstration of the efficiency and promptness of the fire department was given members of the Electric Club at their weekly meeting yesterday at the Biltmore by Fire Chief Scott, who was the principal speaker.

To demonstrate the speed with which fire calls are answered Chief Scott turned in an alarm from the banquet room. Just one minute and fifty seconds after the alarm had been turned in members of the fire company at Seventh and Figueroa street filed into the banquet room ready for action.

Chief Scott, in his address, urged the retention of the pension system for firemen and police officers, pointing out that it is good business on the part of the city to provide these pensions and that the men are entitled to the compensation. A motion picture depicting the progress and development of the fire department also was shown.

JURY NEARS END IN MERGER QUIZ

Indictments Are Due Today in Asserted Bunko

Jury's Charges Expected to Reach Fifty Counts

Woman Said to be Friend of Hennessy is Hunted

Testimony is expected to be completed today in the grand jury's investigation of the asserted "10 to 1" swindle, and indictments charging Thomas Hennessey and Harry D. Hibbs with forty to fifty counts of grand larceny and embezzlement will probably be voted today or Thursday, it was announced by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamner.

The grand jury had a special session yesterday to hear John Lehane of Fort Worth, Tex., a vice-president of the Cotton Belt Railway, one of the roads mentioned in the asserted $6,000,000,000 merger. Mr. Lehane said he had never heard of either Hennessey or Hibbs and that so far as his road was concerned the merger story was a "huge joke."

The last witnesses are expected to be H. M. Reed, a retired San Joaquin Valley rancher, said to have invested $40,000 in the asserted scheme, and H. M. Sayler, a local business man. Sayler is said to have borrowed $1000 from his brother in Portland, Or., and indorsed the check over to Hibbs and Hennessey; the check was found, still unashed, when their offices were raided, and returned to Sayler.

Investigators from the District Attorney's office yesterday were seeking Mrs. Bertha B. Ross, said to have been a close friend of Hennessey, for questioning. Mrs. Ross is not accused of any connection with the operations of the pair, but may know, it is said, what Hennessey did with some of his money.

Investigation of other affairs of Hennessey and Hibbs besides the asserted $6,000,000,000 railroad merger is to be made also, it was learned yesterday. They are said to have approached the promoter of a Burbank subdivision with some sort of an electrical scheme, details of which have not yet been found out.

Pending the action of the grand jury, Hennessey and Hibbs are held in bail on three charges of grand larceny made by John B. Brokaw, who asserts they obtained $10,000 from him. The exact number of counts the grand jury will be asked to vote had not been decided, according to Mr. Hamner, but he declared yesterday it will not exceed fifty.

COUNCIL CANDIDATE REPORTED BANKRUPT

On advice of counsel that J. L. Edwards, a candidate for Council in the Twelfth Councilmanic District during the recent election, had filed bankruptcy proceedings the State Department of Labor yesterday dismissed the twenty-six wage cases pending against Edwards. Approximately $900 in unpaid wages was claimed to be due by campaign workers for Edwards. The claimants were referred to the bankruptcy court for settlement.

Holstein Milk

Vitality!

These Rules are followed at Arden Certified Dairy:

"METHODS AND STANDARDS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF CERTIFIED MILK"

Adopted by the Association of Medical Milk Commissions of U.S. June 25-26, 1923.

Says: "Fat standards—Certified milk shall contain an average of 4.0% of butterfat with a minimum of 3.5%."

The above rules laid down by our Association, which rules guide our operations. And the opinions of most of the best and most celebrated physicians and dietitians throughout the world have convinced us that milk with a butterfat over 4.0 per cent is excessive for babies, invalids and children. That yellow milk or a yellow cream line does not designate quality or add to the flavor.

STATEMENT IN CAMPAIGN ARTICLE HIT

Woman Out for Position on School Board Denies She is "Red"

Clara B. Schechter, candidate for the Board of Education, who has received the indorsement of local Communists and other radical organizations and individuals, yesterday issued a statement denying authorship or approval of a campaign document put forth in her behalf in which she is described as a "graduate of the University of Southern California law school, member of the Socialist party, member of the Workmen's Circle, member of the American Civil Liberties Union."

Her statement follows in part:

"I wish to deny that I am now, or ever have been, a member of the Socialist party or identified with any of the organizations or persons you accused me of in your statement. My platform is in no way what you published it to be. I resent being called a 'Red,' as I am a loyal American citizen and, under my oath as an attorney and as an American citizen, I am living up to the ideal that every American ought to look forward to.

"It may seem strange to you that I am seeking election to the Board of Education, but you may be assured there are still some Americans who are seeking office for the purpose of helping humanity rather than to the detriment of humanity. My candidacy has been indorsed by such men as Walter McEntyre, Judge Gavin W. Craig, M. A., Hamburger and many other persons and organizations."

The campaign pamphlet for which Miss Schechter denies responsibility bears a union-label stamp and purports to set forth her platform favoring virtual sovietizing of the city's school system.

Her nomination to oppose Robert A. Fetitshans, incumbent candidate for the Board of Education, was described by the Daily Worker, official Communist organ, as "a real achievement for the Los Angeles comrades and the whole party."

Murder May be Laid to Officer in Negro Killing

A complaint charging Emmett E. Jones, a patrolman of University police division, with the murder on the 17th inst., of Christopher C. Malcolm, negro employee of the city sanitary department, probably will be issued today, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Davis stated last night.

Malcolm was shot and killed by Officer Jones, according to police reports, as he was riding in his automobile. Officer Jones had gone to a house at 3631 Trinity street, it is said, on account of a disturbance when he met Malcolm coming from the house. Noticing that Malcolm was armed, the officer is asserted to have disarmed him and when he tried to escape to have shot him.

Deputy Davis stated investigation has disclosed that Malcolm was at the house on business.

Rheumatism

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri. — "After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. N. R. LAYTON, 1726A University St., St. Louis, Mo.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Brooklyn Chamber Members Here on Annual Tour

Aim of Group is to Bring Tourists to East

Leader Will Address Local Organization Tomorrow

Calling themselves present-day 49ers, a party of eighty members of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce arrived in Los Angeles last night on their first annual transcontinental tour. They will be here until Friday.

"We are the pioneers of industry," Arthur Somers, president of the Brooklyn Chamber, declared when he alighted from the train at the Santa Fe station. "Eastern people are visiting California by the thousands and we hope by these trips to stimulate in the westerners a desire to visit the East."

TO SEE SIGHTS

Headed by President Somers and G. E. Veasey, traffic manager, the party will devote three days to sightseeing in Los Angeles and will then entrain for San Francisco. The group left Brooklyn on the 17th inst., went direct to Chicago and there embarked on the Santa Fe route. They were in San Diego yesterday. They will arrive in Brooklyn on June 15, according to the present schedule.

No formal reception was planned at the station and the delegation will not be welcomed to Los Angeles officially until tomorrow when President Somers will address the local Chamber of Commerce at a meeting at which the Brooklyn business men will be guests of honor. Automobiles carried the party from the train to the Alexandria Hotel, which will be headquarters during the visit.

TRIP TO HOLLYWOOD

A trip through the motion-picture studios and Hollywood, beginning at 10 a.m., is on the program for today and other trips will take the visitors to the harbor and through near-by cities.

In Riverside Sunday, the Riverside Chamber of Commerce acted as host at a banquet and a sightseeing trip to local points of interest. Meyer L. Schoenthal, secretary of the Riverside commercial body, welcomed the visitors to Southern California, presenting President Somers with a brilliant silk sash, typical of California's festival year. Directors and officers of the Chamber of Commerce met the train and a delegation of school girls distributed oranges and advertising literature. The automobile sightseeing trip included Redlands, Smiley Heights, Sherman Indian School, Mt. Rubidoux and Mission Inn.

NITA IN NEW ACT

Dances Shiveringly at Chicago After Rescue of Mimi

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Three hundred California tourists and other innocent bystanders stepped back to a safe distance today while Nita Naldi with all her make-up on and both her stockings off, so far as the naked eye could discern, put on an emotional scene not required by her latest contract.

The Naldi ankles, possibly not inured to the rigors of our climate, danced up and down on the station platform after Nita made a dramatic descent from the baggage car of the California Limited. The dramatic entrance had been preceded by a rescue, encompassing three Pullman coaches, of Mimi, the indescribable canine.

"Omigawd! Omigawd!" Nita breathed tensely squeezing Mimi for emphasis. "I have to make the Century."

"Madame," the Pullman conductor ventured bravely, "it is quite frequently done. Others before you—"

"But Omigawd, my luggage," said Nita, working up to a hoarse crescendo that brought six redcaps to her side.

"You'll have about four hours to get from one station to another, dear," Peggy Cleary, an actress who said she had come all the way from New York for the pleasure of traveling back with Nita, put in soothingly.

"Omigawd, omigawd, four hours!"

SHRINE FETE FILM PREVIEW

Thousands Due for Thrill as Real Picture is Made on Arabian Desert—in Middle of Coliseum—at Close of $1,000,000 Electrical Parade

Scene: An oasis on the edge of the Arabian desert—in the middle of the Coliseum.

Time: Thursday night of Shrine week, immediately after the $1,000,000 motion-picture electrical parade. What follows here is a description—a preview, so to say—of the entertainment to be given that night for the thousands who will throng the Coliseum. The crowd is to see a real picture in the making. How it's done is half the spectacle. The other half is the action itself.

A caravan has just treked across the desert and made camp for the night. The assistant director, accompanied by the technical director, has spotted the location. The set has been measured and laid off. So far, however, the caravan exists only in the managerial mind.

Momentarily it begins to grow. Trucks arrive carrying rocks suitable for a desert scene and other appropriate properties, including a full complement of technical equipment and the crew to make ready.

The director arrives, followed by his script boy, and, to prove that he is real, immediately begins to find fault. Why isn't the set ready? It was ordered for 10 o'clock and here it is, almost 11. Where are the lights? Call the manager.

Meanwhile, the set has been made nearly ready. More trucks come in with the lights, the generator sets following. Sun arcs are hooked up, wind machines are placed in position, the hose for rain-making is coupled up, and still the director paces up and down, reading his script.

ORDERS GIVEN

Try out the lights, he orders; turn on the wind and rain. Where's that cameraman? The cameraman is on the job already, with a request to alter the lighting.

Enter the stars. The director goes through, with them, the scenes in which each takes part, explains what is to follow and gives general directions for the action.

All is quiet at last. Several groups of players are lounging around two campfires. In the background camels are being unharnessed and goats milked. Near a pool of water men are strumming on oriental instruments. A dancer tries a step or two.

And then we become aware of the villain, seen in the person of the caravan guide, annoying a girl. The hero relieves her from embarrassment by leading her to a rock for a tete-a-tete. Business of the villain conspiring with his henchmen. They disappear.

To save camera time, a close-up is taken of the lovers and then the machine is moved for a distance-shot of the dying villain and his bandit henchmen. The spectators are not in on this secret. They didn't know—except as precedent made it probable—that the villain was to die, much less that he had been killed; but, never mind, this is a real picture and this is the way pictures are made.

MORE ACTION

The action resumes. The dying villain and his cutthroats enact the raid in which they ultimately receive the harsh treatment that is to reduce them to a dying condition. All is commotion in the camp. The villain steals the girl. The hero and eight of his trusty followers dash into the night—supposedly for their homes.

Here the scene is changed to the bandits' camp on the other side of the oasis. The accommodating campfires are still burning. Tents are set up. A rock cave is built. Bandits take their seats around the fires. The girl, with a guard at either side, is in front of the entrance to the cave.

Lightning and wind machines and the rain hose are brought up. It is going to be rough weather for somebody. Unmindful of the hint, the villain guide stalks up to her and attempts a heavy caress. She slaps him. He threatens. (You'll pay for this, my proud beauty.)

Business of noticing that a storm is about to break. Exhibition work by the lightning machine. Bandits start to scurry about the tent. Wind and rain machines get into action.

Ha! Here comes the hero and his eight faithful followers. After all, they had not gone home. Once more all is commotion. Tents blow down. Bandits struggle with plunging horses and tangled ropes. In the melee the hero and his band rescue the heroine. Shots are fired and the confusion grows worse. All the tents go down. The rain puts out the fires. The lights go out. Cut.

"Before you go home," sounds the call, "come over and see the folks." Introductions of all the stars follow.

ORATOR ADDS TO VICTORIES

Coast Intercollegiate Champion Has Long List of Successses in National Event Here June 5

Winning oratorical honors is no new thing to Jack P. McGuire, Southern California boy who won the Pacific Region championship in the semifinals of the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, conducted at Stanford University last Friday.

While McGuire appeared in the semifinals as the representative of the University of Oregon, where he is a freshman preparatory to the study of law, his home is at Long Beach, and he graduated from Polytechnic High School last year, where he won the championship of his district in the national high school oratorical contest of 1924. Prior to that time he had won first place in the Daniel Ferrand Rogers oratorical contest, conducted as an annual event by Long Beach Polytechnic.

SPECIAL INTEREST

"I took a special interest in debating and oratory during my entire high school course," said McGuire yesterday. "I was a member of the school's debating team for three years, my work in that line during this period being under the direction of the principal, L. G. Nattkemper. At the university I have been coached for the intercollegiate contest by Profs. Brown and Rosson."

Mr. McGuire won first place in the intercollegiate semifinals over six other contestants, representing the best oratorical talent of practically all the institutions of college rank in California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Utah. His next oratorical battle will come in the national finals of the intercollegiate contest, to be conducted in Philharmonic Auditorium, Los Angeles, June 5.

TO MEET SIX

Here he will meet six other champions, who are the pick of thousands of orators representing colleges and universities all over the nation.

The intercollegiate oratorical contest, now nearing its climax, has been carried on for the last three months in colleges and universities under the auspices of the Better America Federation of California, which is offering prizes aggregating $5000 to the winners in the finals.

MRS. MYRTLE HESS filed suit for divorce some time ago charging cruelty. She appeared yesterday before Judge Summerfield of the Superior Court for alimony hearing. The court, after hearing the husband's tale of penury, ordered that he pay his wife $10 a week alimony.

But Mrs. Hess interjected with the statement that she had two children and that she could not possibly support herself and the tots on such an allowance. Her attorney, S. S. Hahn, then stepped into the breach and announced he was willing to forego his counsel fees if the court would increase the alimony to his client. Judge Summerfield thereupon complimented the attorney and increased Mrs. Hess's alimony to $15 a week pending the divorce trial.

Dance to Mark Anniversary of Cantigny Battle

The battle of Cantigny, first major battle of the World War conducted by American troops, will be commemorated on its anniversary Thursday evening by the Southern California sector, Society of the First Division, with a dance and entertainment at Jinnistan Grotto, 1500 South Figueroa street. Dorothy Hope, English actress, who is godmother of the First Division, will be a guest of honor. There will be vaudeville by the Actors' Equality Club of Hollywood.

Patrons and patronesses include Lew Cody, Walter Long, William Mong, Richard Talmage, Hoot Gibson, Huntley Gordon, Ruth Roland, Wallace McDonald, Doris May, Hazel Keener, Alice Calhoun, Edith Roberts, Louise Dresser, Virginia Brown Faire, Wanda Hawley, Madge Bellamy, Billie Dove and Shannon Day. Proceeds will be used for the relief of disabled veterans of the First Division.

CITY EMPLOYEES TO DINE

MRS. CLINCH ASKS $25,000 HEART BALM

Wife Sues 'Other Woman' After Five Attempts at Suicide by Husband

Coming as an aftermath to the five asserted attempts of her husband, Colin M. Clinch, Hollywood real estate dealer, to end his life last week as a result of his asserted affair with another woman, Mrs. Nan K. Clinch yesterday filed suit for $25,000 damages against Mrs. Kathleen Watson, reputed to be "the other woman," for asserted alienation of affections.

In her complaint Mrs. Clinch stated she and her husband had lived happily together with their three children until the 1st inst., on or about which date the defendant was charged with having "wickedly gained the affections" of Clinch. The 19th inst., Mrs. Clinch stated, Mrs. Watson came to her and sought to persuade and coerce her to file suit for divorce against Clinch.

It was because of the asserted failure of Mrs. Clinch and Mrs. Watson to agree to this point, according to the police, that Clinch attempted suicide.

Mrs. Clinch's complaint in Superior Court was prepared by Attorneys George D. Meikeljohn and Charles A. Sunderlin.

San Pedro Man to Ask Permit for Hog Ranch

A permit for the establishment of a large hog ranch in Nigger's Slough, near San Pedro, where it is contemplated to dispose of garbage collected by the city in San Pedro and Wilmington, will be requested of the Board of Supervisors today by J. Agajanian, general manager of the San Pedro Commercial Company. Authority to start the hog ranch is necessary, according to Agajanian, in order to take advantage of a contract he has signed with the city to dispose of city garbage for a period of ten years.

A spirited session is expected when the matter comes before the board as County Health Officer Pomeroy is said to be opposed to granting the request.

The San Pedro Commercial Company has retained James B. Childs, formerly City Sanitary Engineer, as consulting engineer to plan the hog ranch, according to scientific principles and in accordance with public-health measures. The company plans to spend approximately $20,000 on the ranch, it is said.

Seven Lawyers Admitted to Bar by Appeal Court

Seven attorneys from other States were admitted to practice in California yesterday by the Second District Court of Appeal, Division One. They are:

Gunther R. Lessing, Texas; Phillip J. Stillwell, Montana; Urbane L. Barrett, Iowa; Raymond F. Boyd, Ohio; Lester J. Fitch, Minnesota; Charles M. MacKinnon, Washington, and Luther M. Keys, Oklahoma.

During its open session the court took under advisement a petition for a writ of mandate to compel Superior Court Judge Crawford to consider a demurrer filed by H. Wigman in answer to a complaint brought against him in Judge Crawford's court. Wigman, a contractor at Hermosa Beach, was charged with securing a contract for street improvement at an excessive figure. His demurrer to the complaint was dismissed by Judge Crawford on a technicality, it was explained yesterday.

The court also took under advisement a petition of T. S. Williams for a writ of habeas corpus to release him from the County Jail, where he is being held pending the commencement of a one to five years' sentence at San Quentin for violating the Corporate Securities Act. He was charged with selling interests in a gas enterprise at the Torrance-Lomita oil field without holding a permit from the State.

PLAYDOM

CAST IS GREAT

EXPECTATIONS REALIZED IN "RIVALS" PRODUCTION

By Edwin Schallert

Effectually to discuss the current theatrical season without being able to mention that one has seen "The Rivals" will, I feel sure, be considered a virtual impossibility a few weeks or even a few months hence. For this is a production that may be truly dignified with the adjective memorable—and something to talk about in truth.

"The Rivals"—by Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Half-forgotten stage classic—reintroduced after a term of years by a cast such as has probably not been assembled for any stage presentation during the past ten or fifteen years.

The names?

Something to inscribe in a year book of the theater indeed. Something, in fact, to write down and underline in a record of the play. Worth a mental note and a pause for recollection, at any rate.

I need mention perhaps only the presence of Mrs. Fiske to intrigue a more general interest, and to add to that those of Chauncey Olcott, Thomas A. Wise, James T. Powers to make the same interest unusually secure.

Because those who know the theater realize only too well what those names have held out of beckoning starlight through a space of years, and that it is the rarest thing in any blue or even cerulian moon to have them all together.

I would not limit any laurels of praise that I might have to offer to this select group alone. In the cast which is appearing in "The Rivals" bouquets may be safely tossed to each and every one of the company.

"I have been looking for a weak spot all evening," remarked a seasoned first-nighter, following the second act, and sixth scene, "and I have failed to find one yet."

It is difficult to conjure in detail the exact impression that "The Rivals" had on the large audience that assembled last night to view the opening. The applause following the high comedy of the duel challenge was as insistent as any that I have heard in a year or more.

There were no shouts or cheers, as are sometimes heard when enthusiasm runs rampant, but there was evidence undoubted of the fact that the audience approved in every respect the exceptional and qualified portrayals. They called for practically every player to take a bow. The total of curtain calls must have passed the dozen mark and that is indeed rare. And proof that the reception made an impression even on the players was indicated in that Mrs. Fiske and one or two others—can it really be possible?—were visibly moved by the demonstration.

It is not beyond belief, though, that the applause did stir a sentiment on the stage. For Los Angeles is one of the few cities, not only in the country, but in the world, that can nowadays pay fitting and intelligent tribute to what in its worthwhileness deserves that tribute.

To be sure, Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy is not as sparkling, as widely witty, viewed with all due consideration and leniency, as it once was. A few lines sufficed to tell that—but the curtain also reminds us that this piece dates back to 1775. That it endures at all, looked at from an angle of modern sophistication, is remarkable.

The best part of the show is that it acquires momentum in its humor as it progresses. The culmination, when it has really been crowded toward some speed, is much better than the beginning, which seems quite obviously antique, and also slow. A line or two has been interpolated, I believe, here and there, but this will never meet with so much approval as where a flavor of thoroughgoing genuineness has been given to the old.

This, after all, is a fine old pictorial masterpiece of humorous character—or, if you prefer, wine out of a royal cellar, and neither the color nor the vintage is improved by any use of substitutes.

I presume that the greatest enjoyment, all in all, was to watch the parrying for scenes, the sense of rivalry that was evident in every phase of "The Rivals." Maybe the title that describes the play has a meaning all its own on this special occasion.

If they actually did fence for their scenes the players never made the effort obtrusive. The balance was the best thing, and I don't know that I can mention a single bit of work that was startlingly outstanding unless it was the buffoonery of George Tawde in a grotesque minor character that almost stopped the show.

For those who desire the traditional facts it may be mentioned that Mrs. Fiske was a flashing Mrs. Malaprop with her mangling of words and their meaning, her "allegory on the Nile," instead of "alligator on the Nile," James T. Powers was a clown de luxe as that eccentric daffydill Bob Acres.

Very resourceful, Olcott sings a tilt as Sir Lucius O'Trigger and looks elegant enough to be a baron rather than a baronet. Thomas A. Wise blusters effectively and tellingly as Sir Anthony Absolute.

And how fine both in demeanor and presence, the younger men and women of the organization including Kenneth Thomson (splendid) Fred Eric (earnest,) Lola Fisher (charming,) and Julia Melville (stately,) in their various roles. Thomson made an especially big impression as Capt. Jack Absolute. The others were well played by attractive Marie Carroll (very good indeed.) Gerald Rogers and Herbert Belmore.

Old-fashioned perhaps, but something to be commended very highly for its novelty and excellence as entertainment is "The Rivals."

Tandler Closes First Series Auspiciously

That the series of three performances by the Little Symphony just closed at the Biltmore Saturday morning, justifies the faith of musical Los Angeles in Adolph Tandler, is a certainty. The only consideration which he has permitted to rule in presenting these morning musicales, has been quality of performance. He has consistently given rarely heard works of the utmost charm and highest musical value in a truly remarkable manner for so little time at his disposal, and the discriminating music lovers have capitulated.

The value of such an artist group as the Los Angeles Little Symphony is best expressed, perhaps, by a glance at a program like the one of last Saturday morning: Manuel De Falla's "L'Amour Sorcier," symphonic fragments; the Mozart "Konzertante Symphony;" Hugo Wolf's "Italian Serenade." This is not music for the Coliseum or for a 100-piece orchestra. It is the essence of the cultivated enjoyment of sound when given under conditions perfectly suited to it. The beautiful Biltmore ballroom with its eddying blue brocaded draperies and its accompaniment of gracious women and cultured men is the proper setting. Such music requires highly specialized players and listeners musically informed as well as enthusiastically interested. Outside of New York, where Carre Barrere conducts his Little Symphony, no other city in the country can boast of anything like this. Publishers' libraries are swamped with material for small groups of virtuoso players, but there is little call for its use.

The Mozart "Konzertante" sparkled with vitality. Its shining clarity when played by such artists as Caimon Lubovisky, violinist, and Phillip Kahgan, viola player, was a happy revelation of the Mozart spirit, so graceful, so delicate yet so full of emotion and beauty. Lubovisky has a Kreisler-like tone with the verve of the younger musician. Kahgan is an excellent performer and managed the difficult repartee and delicate exchange of compliments between the first violin and viola with admirable facility.

Hugo Wolf's "Italian Serenade" has never been done before. Its loveliness will necessitate its early repetition. The Little Symphony was augmented by several wind players for the event. They lent a certain quality of singing voices to the ensemble and pointed to similarities in the Wolf songs which are better known. Wolf shows a love for clear, singable melody that is suprisingly Latin. In this number, Maurice Amsterdam, 'cellist, and Kahgan had some melodious themes with several measures of unusual beauty from the oboe and bassoon.

De Falla's "Symphonic Fragments" have little of the Spanish in them beyond the opening bars, which might have been descriptive of the long calls of the watchmen who wander at midnight in Madrid. The rest of it is lightly operatic in style, with shimmering vibrations of a misty blue lake far in the distance.

Pasadena has invited the Little Symphony to give a series of three concerts Sunday afternoons at the new Community Playhouse. Later Mr. Tandler will announce the dates for several evening concerts at the Biltmore. It is probable, with so auspicious a beginning, that the Little Symphony will become a permanent artistic asset to the Southland.

MUSIC FIRST AT HILLSTREET

Old southern melodies and up-to-the-minute jazz take first honors on the Hillstreet bill this week, with the latter a few notes ahead. For Maude Powers and Vernon Wallace, principals in "Georgie," and Walter Davison, with his Louisville Loons, head the show.

"Georgie" is, pictorially, very easy to witness, both as to stage settings and diminutive leading lady, in her shining bride's costume. The inevitable old negro mammy provides additional comedy. As for Davidson and his players, they serve jazz in a palatable manner, to the joy of the audience.

Ben Pierce and Lee Ryan, funsters, with dancing, singing and tumbling by the way, are quite original and the older member of the act is a convincing venerable. Those European novelty artists, the Braminos, live up to their billing. Musicians of a unique order, their act is further individualized by the Pierrot costumes, especially when the two play against a dark curtain.

Joe Darcy, blackface songster, supplies many of the current favorites, as "I'll Meet You In My Dreams," and "Rock-a-bye Baby Days." He was enthusiastically received.

"A Sober Recital," featuring Percy Bronson and Edith Evans, is a delusion and a snare, so far as the title is concerned. But enjoyable nonsense and really clever songs make up for the blow. Miss Evans is charming.

Florence Vidor, starred in "The Girl of Gold," feature photoplay, makes the utmost of rather an impossible story, giving, as usual, restrained and highly intelligent interpretation of a difficult role. Malcolm McGregor and Bessie are seen in support of Miss Vidor.

Other numbers on the bill include chapter four of that college series "The Pace Makers," dealing with an alleged freshman party, news reels and an Aesop fable.

GOLDEN WEST BAND IN FINE PROGRAM

Commandery No. 43 Knights Templar Play Semiannual

BY FRANCIS KENDIG

Ever since I was a little kid I have had a certain fondness for band music and the Wednesday evening band concert and the occasional circus organizations — if one could call them anything like that—which were played in the little Middle Western town in which I was reared, never failed to attract me as surely as does the magnet a needle. So it was with considerable anticipation that I hied me to the program played last night by the Golden West Commandery, No. 43, Knights Templar, Philharmonic, first roared to the measured brasses and stirring rhythms, and then to appreciative applause, for a large audience was present.

Stephen H. Perine conducted a well-rehearsed program. Band music, with its mellow harmonies, its martial quality, its strong rhythms, represents a type of music all too much neglected. The very nature of it suggests stalwart manliness, the virile soldiers' measured tread, accuracy, system, positivelsm, assurance and inspiration. Too much culture and beauty are in a sense devitalizing, and this sort of music, simple as it is to understand, nevertheless possesses a trong emotional value and appeal which should never be ignored. I think, for instance, that such music might have a wholesome effect on a misquided criminal or even a downright crook, while any amount of culture might never touch the sleeping germ of manhood.

The program contained numbers by Thomas, Tschaikowsky, Hosmer, De Koven, Friedman, Strauss and other composers. There were also a number of stirring encores. The Slavonic Rhapsody came the nearest to anything like tone-color or symphonic variation. Most bands give too blatant a quality so far as brasses are concerned; a thing to be carefully guarded against. The melodies were always well outlined, the harmonies clear, and the rhythms precise.

Cora Thorne Bird, soprano, sang two coloratura numbers; an Arditi waltz song, and the florid "Thou Brilliant Bird" from "Pearl of Brazil," by David. Harry Baxter performed the flute obbligato. Her voice is remarkable, and she does the long runs and sparkling cadenzi with ease and beauty. She tightens her low tones, or at least does something which quite frequently spoils the quality of an otherwise beautiful tone. It is something which she should surely overcome, for the fault is serious. If every tone were perfect, one might safely predict truly great things for Mrs. Bird.

BRILLIANT PLAY

"LILIOM" SUPER DRAMA NOBLY ACTED

By Grace Kingsley

"Liliom," most brilliant play that has come to us in months—perhaps ever, so far as this city is concerned—is housed in a high school auditorium out at Hollywood! The Franz Molnar tragi-comedy must be paged in that setting!

"Liliom" is fantasy, human document, satire, tragedy, comedy, all rolled into one, but done by genius, and therefore not only endlessly, delightfully plausible and entertaining, but lifted into the realms of the super drama.

The play is all about a swaggering young man, the Apache, the Bowery Boy of Vienna, just a barker for a merry-go-round in a pleasure park, but possessed of that virile, fascinating something that makes him worshiped, especially by women, despite his faults, and his bullying of them. He is about nine-tenths bad, but he is terribly afraid that somebody will find out the tenth that is good. He takes a girl and lives with her, beats her "because he cannot bear to see her cry!" Then he steals for her when he finds she is to have a baby—but the theft is a failure and he kills himself.

But this isn't a play in which we have to lose the hero by death. We find him at the gates of Heaven before St. Peter—where, by the way, the applicants are told, "Religion does not interest us here!" He is impudent to St. Peter, and asks a cigarette from St. Peter's right-hand man, as he swaggers into the gates of hell! But only for sixteen years does he remain there.

Then—one wonders if Molnar doesn't intend to convey the idea that one may burn in hell for sixteen years, but the faults in him will persist. At any rate, told to do a good deed, he steals a star from heaven to take to his child on earth, and when the child seems frightened of him, he slaps her! That is the story in a nutshell, but told in such penetrating fashion with such brilliant lines.

"Liliom" is brilliantly played. I don't suppose we shall ever be able to keep Arthur Lubin from New York's Broadway after this. I understand he is up for a role in "The Viennese Medley," and he should have it. His playing of the Viennese tough is luminous in its revelation of the jaunty, loyal, swaggering, lazy, fascinating and altogether lovable rascal, Liliom.

Adda Gleason comes next with honors as the simple, tender, sincere and downright Julie—one-stringed nature, faithful to the end. Rhea Mitchell as the lightsome Marie is most fascinating, is easy, charming and brings every bit of comedy possible to the role. Belle Mitchell is excellent as Mrs. Muskat, and the others are all very good, indeed.

TOP NOTCHERS HIT IT UP AT ORPHEUM

That good old word "enchanting" is awfully strong, I know, but it is what Grace La Rue is nothing else than, as our friend Hugh Wiley would say. Her charm, sweet, clear voice, her power of dramatizing her songs, her loveliness and distinction, the stage picture she makes in her beautiful clothes—all these things added to that something elusive known as personality, make her utterly delightful. She sings a Cadman number wonderfully, with other songs that are equally pleasing, but we loved her best in her old songs, especially when she trotted out the red hat and sang, "I Love You Best When You Waltz With Me." Her reception was a real ovation.

Remember Del Chain of the grin and dimples? He has a new partner, Lou Archer, who in clown make-up is a real knockout with his nut mannerisms. The burlesque mind-reading act of the pair garners the grins.

They spill over into Jack Redmond's golf act, to furnish a comedy obbligato to Jack's painless golf lessons. Jack jogs into the favor of the audience in just no time, with his smart golf stunts and his nice personality.

If you liked "For Pity's Sake," the old melodramatic burlesque, you are going to be entirely sold before ever "Withers Op'ry" begins. This new one, instead of a melodrama, is a vaudeville show, with pictures and illustrated songs, and some take-offs on dramatic sketches and magic acts. It's a scream from start to finish. Charles Withers, as the op'ry house keeper, who is also the janitor and the property man, pages the roars.

A novel opening for a band act is supplied by a drama in two words, "Yes" and "No," after which the musicians go into their tottling, hitting and blowing. A feature is the antics of a monkey doll manipulated on the fingers of one of the musicians.

Bert Hanlon is getting a little stale in his routine, I think, it being an old one. He seems forced in his work, though his nut material is good enough. The olive bit is the best thing he does, and a comedy gem.

Opening up is a most remarkable act performed by the Six Famous Chinese Warriors, showing "a series of thrilling combats with swords, spears and battle-axes," as the program has it. Well worth missing your after-dinner cigar and bon-bon to see.

Remaining another week are Adler, Weil and Herman.

GETS HIS FIRST MEGAPHONE

One of the biggest pictures on the First National program for the coming season will be directed by a man who has never before directed a motion picture.

"The Viennese Medley" is the picture, Kurt Rehfeld is the man.

Rehfeld has had the fundamental training and general schooling of the finest directors in the industry. He has assisted and has proven invaluable in the making of pictures such as "The Four Horsemen." Why he has not held a megaphone ere this is not known, save for the reason perchance, he has been wanted in other directorial capacities and could never get 'round to the directing of pictures personally.

Kurt Rehfeld

June Mathis, head of the scenario staff of First National, has worked with Rehfeld on many stories and for many months. Her faith in him as a director is limitless and to him is entrusted the piloting of this special feature which Miss Mathis has just completed adapting for screening.

Rehfeld will have his players and script in readiness the first week in June. The picture will be made at United Studios.

Build your body back to Health

From the four corners of the earth we gather the roots, barks and herbs that go into Tanlac.

We compound them after the famous Tanlac formula that has brought health to millions.

Our files are crammed with testimonials from men and women in every walk of life, who state gratefully that Tanlac has brought them back to vigorous strength.

If you suffer from indigestion, loss of appetite, can't sleep or rest; if rheumatism is making life a torture; if your liver is out of sorts and your body has run down to skin and bones, get a bottle of Tanlac at your druggist's and start taking it right away.

You'll be amazed to note the improvement that comes at once.

First thing you know you'll have some color in your cheeks and the sparkle of health back in your eyes. Don't put off taking Tanlac. Begin now if you want to build your body back to health and vigor.

Baptist Minister Praises TANLAC

"I had suffered from stomach trouble and nerve troubles for over 30 years until I could hardly summon the strength necessary to prepare my sermons. Six weeks after taking Tanlac I had a brand new outlook on life. I had a fine appetite, steady nerves and a brand new digestive system. Tanlac has never failed me."

INTERCEPTS PHONE CALL FOR LIQUOR

Asserted Society Peddler Jailed; Woman Has Large Store for "Medicine"

A telephoned order for two cases of gin was intercepted by George Contreras, chief of the District-Attorney's dry squad, yesterday, he reported, and as a result he arrested W. H. Hale, said to be known as a society bootlegger in West Hollywood. Hale was taken in his car with the two cases, Contreras reported, and was charged with transportation and sale.

Hale was arraigned before Justice Wilson at El Monte and was released in $1500 bail for trial Friday.

A woman with unusual requirements in the way of medicinal liquor was among the others nabbed yesterday by Contreras and his men. The woman, who gave the name of Margaret Balen, was arrested in her home on South Main street near Watts when the officers reported they discovered twenty-six gallons of moonshine. She disclaimed any intention of selling the liquor, the officers said, and stated she merely kept a little on hand "in case of sickness."

However, the officers stated that just before they arrested Mrs. Balen they took into custody Mrs. Ella Baly and her daughter, Margaret, shortly after they came out of Mrs. Balen's home in possession of one gallon of moonshine. Mrs. Baly was charged with transportation of liquor in her car and the daughter was charged with possession. The trio gave bail in Justice Wilson's court and will be tried Friday.

Rich Owner of Beach Stock is Sued by Wife

George J. Cleveland, a heavy stockholder in Venice amusement enterprises and beach city theaters, and Mrs. Genevieve Flagg Chain were made defendant and co-respondent yesterday in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Ada Cleveland. Besides misconducting himself with Mrs. Chain, notably on April 23, last, Cleveland has been involved with other women, his wife says. In the summer of 1923, an affair with a girl named June cost him heavily in money, she declares.

Mrs. Cleveland lists community property of $250,000, which produces $60,000 a year income. She asks $1500 a month alimony. The Clevelands were married in 1913 and separated yesterday; they lived at 709 Victoria street. Mrs. Cleveland's counsel is Rush M. Blodget.

PASSENGER LIST RECORD BROKEN

Gypsy Band Bound for Mexico from Stockton

Several Tons of Southland Products Aboard

The largest passenger list ever on an off-shore liner visiting this port, came and went yesterday aboard the Japanese T.K.K. steamer Anyo Maru, in from the Orient via San Francisco. The passengers numbered 642, all bound for South America. It was a polyglot family—337 Chinese and 204 Japanese, off for Callao, Peru; with a sprinkling of Americans, Europeans and Latins destined for a dozen ports along the Spanish Main.

Then there were a number of Hindus of the black turban caste, Japanese picture brides, a Spanish priest from deepest China and a colorful family of gypsies.

The latter, fourteen in number and ranging from grizzled patriarchs to mewling infants comprise King Lee Uwanowich's famous band, known as the richest gypsies in the world. They are bound for Manzanillo, Mex., from Stockton, Cal., where they own large ranches with thousands of head of cattle and hogs.

"To drink beer," was King Lee's explanation for their trip. "If the beer is good we'll remain indefinitely."

They recently returned from Australia, where the beer was good, but it's too distant for them to administer their vast properties in America. Incidentally they own property where they're going and the king's going down to investigate "a hunch my men down there are jipping me." The women sustained old gypsy customs by demanding coins for a picture of the band.

Several hundred tons of Southland products also were taken aboard the ship here, according to Sam L. Krieder, agent for the line.

FRUIT COMPANY HEAD VISITS LOCAL HARBOR

The Standard Fruit and Steamship Company alone shortly will be bringing into Los Angeles Harbor 100,000 to 150,000 bunches of bananas monthly, according to Joseph Vaccaro, president of the company, who arrived from New York yesterday for conferences with L. L. Berretta, district agent of the concern. Other companies are making similar plans, he said.

Mr. Vaccaro arrived in time to see 12,200 bunches, the largest shipment of bananas ever brought to this port from the company's properties at Panama, discharged here yesterday. The shipments were brought in by the new British motorship Pacific Shipper of the Furness Line.

Increased shipments soon, he explained, would be occasioned by completion of the company's sixty-mile railroad connecting its plantations with Panama ports. The company also is building its own docks. Mr. Vaccaro said his company is at present shipping 125,000 bunches weekly to New Orleans and 100,000 to New York, and will double that amount when his railroad is finished.

Yesterday's shipment was received in splendid shape, Mr. Berretta said, less than 1 per cent being in process of ripening.

BRITISH MOTORSHIP IS LARGEST OF ITS KIND

In the arrival yesterday of the British motorship Pacific Shipper from England and Central America, the local port beheld what is said to be the largest single screw Diesel-powered vessel in the world. She is on her first trip here in the new regular service of the Furness Line between the Pacific Coast and Northern Europe, being preceded by the London Merchant a month ago.

She is powered with a Doxford, piston-opposed four-cylinder engine, each cylinder developing 1100 horsepower in her trial trip a year ago. She averages twelve to thirteen knots on a consumption of eighty-four barrels of oil each twenty-four hours, according to W. H. Savage, her chief engineer, and is the first Diesel to use the centrifugal system of burning oil.

The vessel also is equipped with a combination brine and cold-air refrigeration system, from which 47,000 cases of Northwest apples recently were taken after eighty days on the ship. Savage said they were as fresh as when taken aboard.

VESSEL DELAYED BY LACK OF PORT FACILITIES

Another evidence of cost to shipping, due to lack of refrigeration facilities at Los Angeles Harbor, was the holding over of the Pacific Shipper from yesterday until tonight, to take on eleven carloads of Southland oranges for Vancouver. Had refrigeration been available at the harbor, shipping men point out, the vessel could have taken on the oranges at the same time she was discharging bananas, thereby saving a day in sailing time. A delay on such a ship is estimated to cost $1500 to $2000 a day. A municipal refrigeration system in the municipal warehouse in the outer harbor has been sought for several months by Capt. S. S. Sandberg, port traffic manager for the city.

Recent addition of an apron to Pier No. 1, outer harbor, has converted what was regarded as an expensive "white elephant" into a productive terminal. Yesterday three of the largest offshore vessels entering this port were lined up alongside the berths Nos. 57 to 60. They were the British motorship Pacific Shipper, the Japanese passenger and freight steamer Anyo Maru and the Japanese freighter Shinko Maru, all paying large revenues into the city's coffers. C. J. Cutler, president of the Harbor Commission, and Capt. S. S. Sandberg, port traffic manager, who visited the ships, pronounced the terminal one of the best in the harbor.

That the Transmarine Line, which operates eighteen intercoastal freighters through this port and fourteen between Newark and the Gulf of Mexico, is soon to put on two services between the Atlantic Coast and Europe, was the word brought here yesterday by Capt. Samuel Pidgeon, when steamer Susquehanna arrived with 3000 tons of Boston cargo for discharge here. Capt. Pidgeon confirmed reports that his company's officials are negotiating with the Shipping Board for a dozen or more vessels for the trans-Atlantic run, and to begin to get one of them. Vessels of the Cosmopolitan Line most likely will be taken over, he said, and six or seven put on the run from Newark to the Mediterranean, the other six to Northern Europe. The Transmarine Line has been in existence slightly more than two years.

Prohibition forces are said to be seeking information on the voyage of the little Norwegian motorship Lillebero, 499 tons net, which sailed May 2 from Antwerp, ostensibly bound for British Columbia ports. She put into St. Michaels on the 16th inst., due to steam trouble, and since that time nothing has been heard of the vessel. Officials express mystification at such a small craft undertaking such a journey for commercial reasons.

COMEDIAN'S WIFE FAILS TO SEE JOKE

Files Third Divorce Suit Against Lee Moran on Grounds of Cruelty

However funny may be the acting of Lee Moran, motion-picture comedian, before the camera, his acting at home was not funny to his wife.

After about three years of living apart, she applied yesterday for divorce, custody of their 6-year-old daughter, $200 a month for support of the child and a reasonable amount for herself. She charges desertion. Moran, the complaint says, earns $400 a week.

In 1922, Mrs. Moran filed a divorce complaint against him. She asserted he beat her, kicked her out of bed and otherwise acted at home in anything but a mirth-provoking manner.

The case never came to trial. A property settlement was made, it was announced, whereby she was to receive $100 a week for two years and thereafter he was to support the child and the proceeding was dismissed.

Since then, Henry G. Bodkin, her attorney, said, Mrs. Moran has been living with her parents at Long Beach and Moran has been living at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

In 1920, Mrs. Moran also began a divorce proceeding but later dropped it.

OWNER OF HOUSE IS UP ON ARSON CHARGE

Charged with second-degree arson in connection with the burning of a building located at San Luis and Michigan avenues, Home Gardens, D. J. Keefe, said to be the owner of the building, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Miller of Huntington Park, according to word received by assistant County Fire Warden Kennedy. According to Kennedy, the building, which was said to have been unoccupied at the time of the fire, was destroyed. Keefe was arrested after an investigation of the circumstances of the fire was conducted by Kennedy.

SULKINESS OF HUSBAND DESCRIBED

Wife Gets Alimony Order After Telling How Mate Slept on Floor

It didn't take much to make her husband sulky, Mrs. Margaret E. Mook testified yesterday at her alimony hearing in Judge Gates's department of the Superior Court. She gave an instance.

One night, as they were about to retire, he suddenly took a dislike to the color of her nightgown. He began to argue about it. She refused to listen. So he sulked all night and slept on the floor near the bed.

The court, after hearing the evidence, awarded her $12 a week temporary alimony. She was represented in court by Attorney John L. McGonigle.

Traffic Relief Move Proposed by Glendalians

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 25.—Petitions are in circulation here, to be presented to the Glendale City Council, asking that Glendale avenue be continued southwest from San Fernando Road to Oxford street, opening a new thoroughfare into Los Angeles and helping in the relief of the present traffic congestion.

The tentative boundaries of the assessment district that would be formed to meet the cost of the proposed extension run as far north as Lexington Drive, and the plan, as outlined, calls for the construction of a 100-foot street and has the approval of the Glendale Planning Commission.

As a link in the proposed improvement it is stated that the widening of Tyburn street at the Los Angeles city boundary to Casitas avenue on to Silver Lake Boulevard and the improvement of Silver Lake Boulevard, has the indorsement of Gordon Whitnall of the Los Angeles City Planning Commission.

FRUIT EXPORTS SHOW GAINS

California Oranges Are Favorite With People of Scandinavian Countries, Attache Asserts

California fruits, fresh, canned and dried, are being imported in steadily increasing quantities each year by the Scandinavian countries, according to Harry K. Sorensen, commercial attache of the American Legation in Copenhagen, where he represents the United States Department of Commerce over a territory embracing Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

"California oranges are the favorite citrus fruit of the Scandinavians, despite the fact that the Italian supply is nearer and large quantities are consumed there, especially in the cities," said Sorensen, who is at the Biltmore. "There is also a large demand for dried fruits, which are used largely by the working classes."

The three Scandinavian countries, with a combined population of 12,000,000, offer an unusually promising field for the sale of American goods, according to the attache. "Their living standards are high and their tastes similar to those of the average American," he said. "With a purchasing power that permits the gratification of these tastes, there is no reason why an extensive trade should not be built up between the United States and Scandinavia."

He suggested that one fact to be taken into consideration in planning the development of this business is that the Scandinavians do not favor indirect trading, but prefer to deal direct with the country with which they carry on an interchange of commodities.

"The Scandinavian countries embrace an area as large as that of Germany, Great Britain and Ireland combined, and to attempt to cover this territory from London, Hamburg or any other center outside Scandinavia is impossible and should never be attempted," he said. "Failure to realize this fact has in the past often needlessly cut down the sales volume of American exporters to the Scandinavian countries."

Mr. Sorensen expressed himself as much interested in the Amundsen Polar flight, stating that he had recently visited the region near which the flyers took off for their dash to the Pole.

"It's a rugged country, rocky and barren in spots and in other places forest clad, the trees becoming more and more stunted as you travel north," he said. "Spitsbergen, though an uninviting land and inaccessible during the winter months when all the harbors are frozen, is nevertheless exceedingly rich in minerals, iron and especially coal. Mining is carried on there extensively by companies subsidized by the Norwegian government, which is in control of the region. Work in the mines goes on the year around, but exports are possible only in summer."

TORE UP A GERMAN ILLUSTRATED PAPER

English Traveler Resented News Stand Display in Italy

On arriving at the Italian frontier you will perhaps be shocked to see on the Ventimiglia station bookstall more German literature than is shown of any other country.

It is a fine bookstall, with abundant space for the display of newspapers and large glass-fronted cases filled with books—French, Italian, English, American; there is room for them all, and all are more or less well represented. But Germany is an easy first.

As I stood by the stall a man, evidently English, took down from where it hung, conspicuous in its gaudy cover, a copy of a certain German illustrated paper which during the war was distinguished—even among German papers of the day—for its grossness and brutality.

He asked the lady of the bookstall the price, paid for it—6 lire, I think—and then inquired if that was her only copy. On being assured that it was he carefully tore it across and across and dropped the pieces on the floor. Then,

SAYS JAPAN BAN FEARED BY EUROPE

Peace Worker Tells Club American Moves Turning Nippon to Russia

The Japanese Exclusion Act, the visit of the United States fleet to Australia and the proposed fortification of Hawaii are worrying Europe more than any recent happening, according to Frederick J. Libbey, secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, who spoke at the City Club last night.

"Every nation that has acted upon the plan of military strength to prevent war has gone down, while peace by co-operation and understanding has always been successful," said Mr. Libbey in his address on "The Defense of the Nation." "The question of war prevention is not one of pacifism. In my own council, 90 per cent of the member organizations are not pacifist groups.

"Sources of conflict in Europe lie in that division of Germany called the Polish Corridor, Upper Silesia, separation of Germany and Austria, Fiume Settlement, Besserabia in Russia and the Balkan States."

Turning to the United States, he continued: "We have become more of an anxiety to Europe by the Japanese Exclusion Act than by anything that has happened in Europe recently. From the time of that act Japan has turned from us to Russia. The visit of our fleet to Australia and the proposed fortification of Hawaii also are causing a great deal of uneasiness in Europe."

Describing the latter two as a passive military alliance against Japan, he added: "That is the kind of alliance the fathers of our country warned us against."

QUESTION OF HIGH SCHOOL DETERMINED

Tangible Evidence of New Watts Institution Placed Before Education Board

Has Watts a high school? This question shattered the placidity of the regular weekly meeting of the Board of Education last night.

Superintendent Susan M. Dorsey said: "There is a twenty-room high school building in course of construction."

But a letter from County Superintendent Mark Keppel's office said: "No."

Ever since the Board of Supervisors notified the Board of Education that Watts had been annexed to the Los Angeles district for school purposes only, on the 4th inst., the recrudesence of the high school question has resulted in earnest debates.

But Superintendent Dorsey laid the ghost last night by declaring that Assistant Superintendent Findley had not only visited the school but also had brought back the blue prints.

Contracts were awarded to Salih Brothers for an auditorium for Virgil Junior High School to cost $57,097, and contract for a new elementary building at the Forty-second-street site was awarded to Eastman & Sweeney at $90,880. The plumbing contract went to James G. Gray for $6386 and heating and ventilating to Emerson & Keeler for $10,640.

Superintendent Dorsey recommended the purchase of 5.89 acres in the Eagle Rock Villa tract to be used as a site for the new Eagle Rock High School.

Bitter Battle Looms in Truck Hearing Today

Hearings which are expected to take up a week's time were started here yesterday by Examiner Handford of the State Railroad Commission to consider the applications of seven motor-truck operators for certificates to extend their service into virtually every point in Southern California. A battery of counsel representing eighty-seven protestants were present at the hearing. The transportation companies seeking certificates to operate are:

Shields Truck Company, Inc., to operate between San Luis Obispo, Fresno and Inyo; Ashbury Truck Company, to operate between all points in the State; J. A. Clark Draying Company, to operate between Los Angeles, Wilmington and San Pedro; Stacey's Transportation and Stage Company, to operate between Cabazon and the harbor district; Wilmington Transportation and Stage Company, to operate to the harbor district; Lee B. Hawkins, to operate between San Luis Obispo, Fresno and El Centro, and C. L. Armstrong, to operate between the harbor district, Huntington Park, Hueneme and Moor Park.

Permission to sell the Ocean Park-Pasadena Stage Line to T. C. Gillespie for $130,000 was granted by the State Railroad Commission yesterday to N. A. Webb, F. S. Hendricks and D. E. Hamilton. The bus line serves Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Glendale, Hollywood and Ocean Park.

Its the change of climate, playground, scenes and experiences you need—not merely a vacation. Seventy-five thousand Californians enjoyed the Evergreen Playground in 1924.

It will be cool here with soft soothing summer days in an almost rainless season. A maximum noonday temperature of 80° is unusual—the average for June, July and August is 62°. You will sleep under blankets at night. You'll enjoy an abundance of water so cold and pure that you can drink it direct from the tap.

The Evergreen Playground is a paradise for children. The healthful vitality of this serene climate is reflected in ruddy cheeks, lusty lungs, rugged growth. Bring the family.

You will never be all "fagged out" after a day's golf on the fifty or more cool green-carpeted fairways. Everywhere there is greenery, salt sea breeze and filtered sunshine.

There is exhilaration in tramping over mountain meadows, pleasurable fatigue in whipping the streams for gamey trout or trolling on lake and sound for bigger fish.

There are restful days of motoring over paved highways to mountain heights through primeval forests and lush green valleys. Alongside placid inland seas, sapphire lakes, sparkling rivers brimming bank full.

There are fascinating trips by boat and train. You can have breakfast in your metropolitan city hotel, lunch in the mountains and be back in time for golf—all in one day.

You have your choice of all of the following famous resorts: Rainier National Park with snow sports in July, Mount Baker National Forest, the Cascade Range with its numerous Government and State Parks, the Olympic National Forest, Strathcona Park, Vancouver Island, Stanley Park and Capilano Canyon, the San Juan Island Archipelago, the Olympic Highway, the Sunset Highway, the Vancouver Island Highway with Malahat Drive.

The Circle Tour of all five cities following the shores of Puget Sound from Tacoma along Hoods Canal to Port Angeles. Across the blue Straits of Juan de Fuca by ferry to Victoria. Explore Vancouver Island. Cross the Gulf of Georgia to Vancouver where you again meet the Pacific Highway which runs along the beautiful shores of Puget Sound south through Bellingham, Seattle and Tacoma.

Come this summer—refresh, rebuild, go back with renewed energy for work ahead of you. Hospitality Bureaus of five cities invite you and will help plan your days here.

If you go "Back East" this summer have your ticket agent route you one way via the Evergreen Playground and the northern transcontinental rail lines. See all the Pacific Coast this way and enjoy a transportation bargain.

REFUSES TO YIELD TOT FOR $50,000

Wife of R. F. Belcher Asks His Arrest on Insanity Warrant

That Mrs. Ruth Belcher had refused a property settlement of $50,000 offered by her husband, Robert F. Belcher, on condition that she would relinquish her right to their child, was disclosed yesterday when Attorneys Edward J. Queen and R. W. Clapp, representing Mrs. Belcher, asked the Sheriff's office to arrest Belcher on an insanity warrant.

Both Belcher and the child, Ruth Jane Belcher, have been missing since April 13, last, Attorney Queen stated, when Belcher left his home at 1506 Elevado street, with the child.

Mrs. Belcher, in a suit for separate maintenance filed recently, asserted their domestic unhappiness was caused by Belcher's peculiar actions. It was charged, among other things, that he wanted the child placed in a boarding school in order that she might acquire a greater devotion for her. Mrs. Belcher charged mental cruelty and asked a division of community property and $350 a month and custody of the child. Belcher is said to be a financial expert.

Method in Madness

Cook: Well, that's just why I'm slow, mum. The chicken is so tough that fe he isn't hungry and angry he won't eat it. — [Boston Transcript.

Glendale Gets Final Contest of Eisteddfod

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, May 25.—The final contests between the winners in the seven districts of the California Eisteddfod Association will be held at Glendale in the week from June 6 to June 13, and the plans for staging these contests were launched at today's meeting of the Glendale district Eisteddfod.

Programs in the various dramatic, artistic and musical departments will be given daily during the week with the exception of Sunday, June 7, and the complete schedule of the contests is now being worked out by the officials of the Glendale district.

The executives of the California Eisteddfod will be the luncheon guests of the Glendale district officers and committee members on June 6.

Socialistic Idea

It was too rainy to go out, so Peggy and Tommy were entertaining themselves by picturing the wonderful things they would have when they grew up.

"I shall have a lovely motor car," said Peggy.

"So shall I," said Tommy.

"And a radio," said Peggy.

"So shall I," said Tommy.

"Oh, Tommy," Peggy said in an exasperated tone, "I believe you are what they call a 'So-shall-ist'."—[Boston Transcript.

NEW WORD FOR WOMAN

It is a curious phenomenon that words for certain things show a constant tendency toward degeneration, and have to be renewed unceasingly from the top. Every century or so, for instance, language needs a new word for the female of the species because the old word is no longer all it should be.

"Hussy" once meant "housewife"; "quean" was related to "queen" and meant woman; "wench," child; "minx," human being. The German Dirne meant maidservant, and the French garce, lass. All of these are now more or less derogatory epithets. Garce had to be replaced by fille, which in turn, became so offensive it was revised upward to jeune fille. Even "woman" is gradually slipping down the hill. In "The Romance of Words," Weekly remarks that "the indignant

'Who are you calling a woman?' is philogocilly, in all likelihood, a case of intelligent anticipation."

What, then, shall we put in its place? "Lady" will not do. The
